Biographical Sketch

Our President, Charles Lyon, was born in Salt Lake City, Utah on November 21, 1920. His parents were George Harlan Lyon and Elmyra Thressa Holm.

He was raised in Murray, Utah, and attended all twelve years of school there. His interests were Music, Journalism and Sports. His teachers were an inspiration to him; especially the principal of the Murray High School. He was a very enthusiastic man.

He attended Utah State University at Logan, Utah, and the University of Utah before going into the military in 1942.

He traveled the South Pacific to Hawaii, Saipan, and Okinawa with the Signal Corp and Air Force. He was also in Sacramento, California; Kansas City, Missouri; and Tampa, Florida. He recalls the cold of Missouri and the heat of Florida.

He attended more schooling in Music at the University of Utah after World War Two, in 1946.

He worked at KSL Radio where he became acquainted with people all over the world, including Lowel Thomas, Edward Everett Horton, King Sisters, Miss Americas, Richard L. Evans and many others.

His interest in Genealogy started in 1952 and has never ceased since.

He was married February 14, 1949 to La Rue Marie Evans from Salt Lake City. They have one daughter, Janet, also a genealogist, who was married to Blake Smith from Salt Lake City on June 1, 1976. They have a daughter, Angela Marie, born June 23, 1980.

Since becoming President of the Lyon(s) Families Association, his interest has centered on the three volumes of the Lyon Memorial; at present, Volume II.

He is pleased with the support of so many members to complete the three volumes.

Charles ties into the Thomas Lyon of Rye, Volume III.

Luther #1573 (Theophilus7, Luther^{6}, Caleb5, Caleb^{4}, Thomas3, John^{2}, Thomas^{1}) is the father of Charles' Father, George H. Lyon.

He hopes this work will be of help to many who are searching their ancestry.

He has a great admiration for the original editor of Volumes I, II, and III, Dr. A. B. Lyons, as well as for our present Editor of the Lyon(s) Families Associaion, Martha Jackson.

BIO-SKETCH OF MARTHA (WERST) JACKSON

Our Editor, was born May 16, 1928 in Grandview, Washington, daughter of Jasper Lewis and Lillie Anna (Lyon) Werst. She is a direct descendant of David and Lucy Lyon, whose earliest origin was in Otsego Co., New York. David Lyon was born August 7, 1770, "in Conneticut". Martha graduated from High School in Kelso, Washington. She married Ralston W. Jackson August 9, 1946, also in Kelso. They had one daughter, Bonnie Gail, who was born November 12, 1948, in Scottsville, Kentucky.

Martha has had a long interest in history and things of that nature. Her beginnings with genealogy came only after a short time away from her job because of illness. It has stuck with her, and she is ever the happier, with each new genealogical tidbit. She studies constantly and is always looking for something new and exciting to present to her readers to make the newsletter just a "bit" more interesting.

Martha is currently working on local Cemeteries and Graveyards to establish a record of those whose resting places are not marked. She is also working to put yet another book on the shelf, of the Allen County Cemeteries and Burial Records.

She looks to the future with the confidence that there will be some one later, to take over where she left off, with the same enthusiasm that she showed toward her work.

Her family consists of two granddaughters, who are very dear to her. They, Erin and Katie Brusie, bring complete joy to the Jackson household, and help Granma get through the days of total chaos.

Martha is a professional genealogist, having been a member of the several state societies and several societies throughout the states where her ancestors resided.

Preface

It is with a deep sense of appreciation that we continue at least three new Generations in this Volume II.

The great amount of work that Dr. A. B. Lyons and his associates have accomplished is astronomical.

Now I must express a great deal of gratitude to those of our day, especially Martha Jackson, our Senior Editor of the Lyon(s) Families Association, who has spent many hours encouraging the families to submit their information to the volumes. Also her editing and corrections.

To Marg Aho, who is our efficient Treasurer.

To Louise L. Pope of Conn. who gave us the Richard Lyon information.

There are names too numerous to mention of all who have helped in this publication.

To all those who have contributed to the publishing fund which was started by Olen Lyon, our former President.

All who have purchased Volume II long before it was published.

George R. Lyon's generosity from Illinois.

All of these contributions have made the effort possible.

A special acknowledgement to all the former Presidents ans officers who laid the ground work for this huge project.

To Hiller Book Binding on setting up and binding the book; Betty Baird for her excellent editing and typing.

To Gary Purrington at Sir Speedy Prep who has been extremely helpful and generous. He has helped from the first pages on.

Acknowledgement to my sister Juanita L. Howe for all her efforts. The compiling of the Jacobus corrections. All those who have contributed additions and corrections. This has not been a single person effort but a lot of help from so many.

Back to the original editor, Dr. A. B. Lyons, what a tremendous task of organizing materials to have completed the three memorials.

Our heartfelt thanks to such wonderful people.

Acknowledgement to Wayne G. Lyon, son of my brother George. Wayne, too, did some of the lettering in the book.

My good friend Franz Zwang also did art work touching up the old photographs.

Above all my gratitude to my wife La Rue Evans Lyon who has supported this gigantic project.

My daughter Janet L. Smith who worked on the page alignments.

My deepest appreciation to everyone for their help.

BIO-SKETCH OF HOWARD C. LYON

Founder of the LYON(S) FAMILIES ASSOCIATION between family members. In 1949, interest started among other Lyon family members. Urged to print a newsletter, he started one consisting of only a few pages and relating to family items only.

By 1951, he had an organization running, with six officers: Charles H. Lyons, Erie, Pa., Vice-President; Aileen Lyon, Secretary; Mrs. Loren Bissell, Meadville, Pa., Treasurer; Mary Lyon Faba, historian; and his sister, Florence, cajoled into being the Editor. This was the beginning of the newsletter, THE LYON'S TALE. It grew from six pages in 1951, yearly, to 12 pages in 1964 when the new President, Olen Lyon, took over the reigns.

Howard C. Lyon, his staff and family are to be commended for their love of family and others, in trying to pursue a subject not too well known by many people. But, succeed they did, and our LYON(S) FAMILIES ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA as it stands today is a true tribute to these early workers.

THE FAMILY OF ANNA (LYON) AND OLIVER MAYNARD

Anna Lyon was born 20 Feb 1799, Unadilla, New York, and married Oliver Maynard who was born in Connecticut, 22 Apr 1804, on 10 Dec 1827. Anna was the second child of David and Lucy (Whipple) Lyon. They removed also to Auburn Township, Susquehanna Co., Pennsylvania, prior to the 1850 census. Anna is listed then with her son, Cyrus, and a daughter, Mary. Oliver Maynad had gone west, and was listed in the 1850 census of Iowa Territory. Anna joined him and they are listed in 1856, Buena Vista Twp., Clinton Co., Iowa, with their son, Cyruns. Anna and Oliver had five children, only one of whom lived to reach maturity. They were:

1. Cyrus C., born 25 Aug 1828, Pennsylvania., married Adeline Juber, of Canada. They had three children. He died 9 Sept 1899 and is buried in the Mowder Cemetery, Olive Twp., Clinton Co., Iowa. 2. Hiram W., named after an uncle, born 16 Feb ____, died 25 Feb 1835.
3. David L., born 27 Jan 1832 died 27 Jan 1839.
4. Mary, born 19 May 1836, date of death unknown.
5. Sally, born 25 Oct 1841, died 23 Apr 1842.

Anna (Lyon) Maynard died 4 Aug 1856, Clinton Co., Iowa. Oliver married as his second wife, Margaret Priestly, in 1856. He married third, Dorcas (____).

#1. Cyrus C. Maynard born 25 Aug 1828, married Adeline Juber on 15 Jan 1860. He was a farmer, and addressed his "Grandmother, aunts, uncles and cousins" to write him at Buena Vista Post Office. He was very proud of his ability to pay off any mortgage he had acquired with living so far from civilization. The letter is extant.

1848. VIII. 1717. ALBERT BROWN^{8} LYONS (Lorenzo^{7} Jerre^{6} David^{5} (Lyon), Benjamin^{4} Joseph^{3} John^{2} William^{1}) was born at Waimea, Hawaii, Hawaiian Islands, April 1, 1841. He prepared for college at the Punahou School, studied two years at Oahu college, commpleting his college course at Williams, where he was valedictorian of his class in 1865. He took the degree of M.D. in the University of Michigan in 1868, and the following year became professor of chemistry in the Detroit Medical College, holding that position twelve years. In 1881 he became consulting chemist for Parke, Davis & Co. in Detroit, in 1887 became editor of the Pharmaceutical Era, in 1888 accepted the position of government chemist for the Hawaiian Islands, where he remained until 1895, During this period he was also Professor of Chemistry in Oahu Colege, at Honolulu, incidentally teaching physics, botany, zoology, physical geography, astronomy, geology and logic. He made a study of the volcanic soils of the Hawaiian islands, embodying some of the results in a paper contributed to the American Journal of Science. He made important contributions to our knowledge of the geological history of the islands.

As a citizen of the little Republic of Hawaii he was called upon in 1895 for military service, being a member of the Citizens' Guard - comparable with the "minute men" of revolutionary times.

In 1897 he returned to the United States and became connected with the firm of Nelson, Baker & Co., manufacturing pharmacists, of Detroit, Mich., being placed in charge of its chemical department. In 1900 he was chosen one of the committee of Twenty-five charged with the work of revising the United States Pharmacopoeia, and has been an active and efficient member of tha committee, whose work (June 1905) is nearing completion.

Dr. Lyons has been a frequent contributor to pharmaceutical, medical and scientific periodicals. He published in 1887 a manual of pharmaceutical assaying, which was revised twelve years later and appeared as "Practical Assaying of Drugs and Galenicals." In 1900 he published "Plant Names, Scientific and Popular."

Dr. Lyons has been deacon in the Central Union Church in Honolulu and in the First Congregational Church in Detroit. His latest venture into untried fields is embodied in this book on the Lyon families of New England, which has proved a labor of some weariness, but a fascinating work, which he only regrets could not have been made more complete. It was rendered possible only by the willing and earnest cooperation of other members of the Lyon tribe, who rightly quarrel with that Hibernian final "s".

Dr. Lyons was married in Detroit, Mich., April 24, 1878, by Rev. Zachary Eddy, to his daughter Edith Malvina Eddy, who was born at Mineral Point, Wis.,, Feb. 4, 1849. Among her ancestors are John Alden and Myles Standish and other Mayflower immigrants. Dr. and Mrs. Lyons will be glad at any time to welcome any of the kinsmen or kinswomen, whether Lyons or Lyon, at the Den, 72 Brainard Street.

Children of Albert Brown and Edith Mavina (Eddy) Lyons:

2002. I. Lucia Edith, b. Detroit, June 29, 1879; graduate of the University of Michigan (classical course), 1902; in the same year she joined the student volunteers; recently (June, 1905) she has received an appointment as missionary of the American Board, and is to be sent to Tien Tsin, North China.

2093. II. Albert Eddy, b. Detroit, April 18, 1885; entered the University of Michigan in the fall of 1904; he signs his name Bert E. Lyon.

THE LYON MEMORIAL

Publisher's Note

Three years ago (1904) the first prospectus appeared of a "Lyon Memorial." The object sought by its editors was a modest one. They proposed only to place on record the available historical data relating to the several Lyon families that settled in New England in the early colonial days. It was expected that the material thus "readily accessible" would fill a volume of about 500 pages. It was soon found, however, that a single volume would not contain the records already in hand. The complete Memorial fills three such volumes. One, relating to the Massachusetts families, has already been given to the public. This includes the descendants of William Lyon of Roxbury, about 3,000 names, Peter Lyon of Dorchester, about 400 names and George Lyon of Dorchester, 135 names.

The present volume deals with three closely related families, whose progenitors, Thomas, Henry and Richard, appeared almost simultaneously in Fairfield County, Connecticut. The editor of this volume accepts as historical facts certain family traditions for which documentary evidence has not yet been found. For this she assumes individual responsibility. Whether or not these three brothers came to America directly from Scotland, is not a vital question. There can be no doubt that they, as well as the Lyons who settled in Massachusetts had a common ancestry with the Scotch noble Lyon family - now Bowes-Lyon. The volume will perhaps prove the most interesting reading of the series, and is of especial importance in that it deals in a thorough and painstaking way with an historical subject presenting unusual difficulties, owing to the destruction during the Revolutionary War of many important records. It comprises the full family histories only of Henry Lyon of Milford, Fairfield and Newark, and Richard Lyon of Fairfield.

The third volume of the series is devoted wholly to the family history of Thomas Lyon of Stamford, Fairfield and Rye. This history is unusually full, and is largely the work of Robert B. Miller, a descendant of Thomas Lyon, and an accomplished and accurate genealogist.

The writer of this note, who, in the midst of a life of strenuous and multifarious activites, has brought to a conclusion his self-imposed task commends the completed Memorial to his numerous American kinsfolk in the trust that his gratuitous labor may find its adequate reward in the kindly welcome it shall receive.

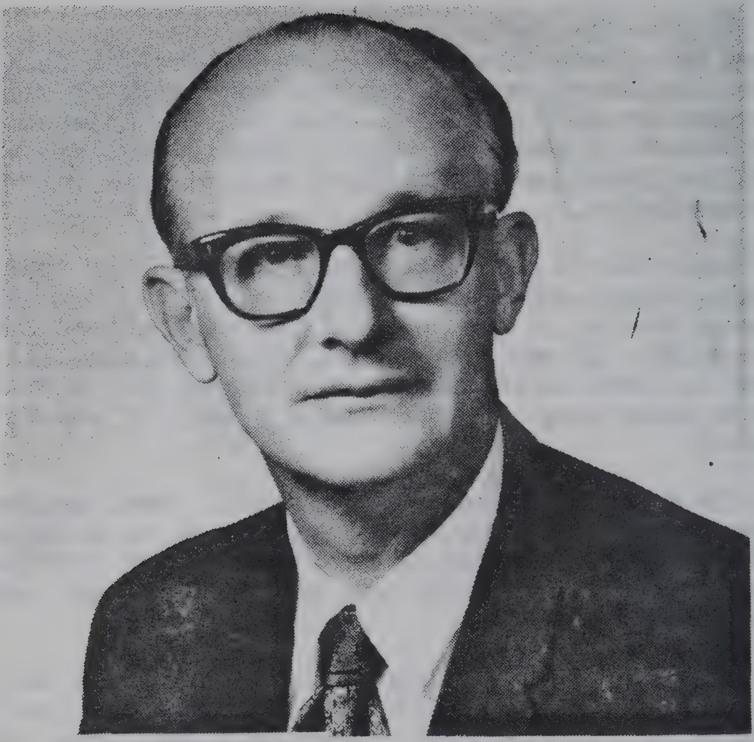
BIO-SKETCH OF OLEN LYON

Born in Chesterfield, Idaho, son of John Lyon of Rowan Co., North Carolina, he graduated from Salisbury high School in 1923, and the University of North Carolina in 1927. He had worked for the Greensboro and Durham, NC newspapers and in Miami, Fla. He was with the Asheville Citizen-Times when he took hold of our newsletter.

Under Olen's guidance, the Lyon logo was instituted, along with the membership cards and the lineage sheets at the back of the newsletter. Dues were $1.50. It was then, also, that the newsletter went to three editions a year; Winter and Summer, twelve pages long. (I don't have a copy of the Fall issue.)

The Lyon associaion was growing. More members were coming into the fold. More dues to keep us going were going into the coffers. And further knowledge of our family was being published. Dues went to $2 a year.

Olen stayed at the helm of the organization until the Summer Edition of 1972 when illness told him to give it to someone else. When this was done, the first Treasurer's Report consisted of a Publishing Fund of over $2,000 and an Operating account of $500. We did some growing!



BIO-SKETCH OF CLIFFORD RAY LYON

His tenure in office as our President was short, but the time was not spent lightly. During this period, he instituted census reading on a large scale, and continued the good work of his predecessors. He was not able to go further because of illness, but will be well remembered for his interest and capacity for the work that he did do. His stint as our President ended November 10, 1973, when he passed away.

The Association was in limbo for about 1 1/2 years.

BIO-SKETCH OF BOB GOLDSBOROUGH

The Fall issue of the Lyon's Tale, with Bob Goldsborough at the helm, instituted a "new look". With this issue, came a further look into the subject of genealogy, or the searching for your ancestors. It also brought to light our ancestors who had gone before. It made these people real people. It gave families a sense of reality in the public records and stories which had been published in the histories of this nation.

Bob Goldsborough instituted the Ancestor Table, The Census form, a query section, for those who are still searching for that ever elusive ancestor. The newsletter was expanded to 27 pages.

Under Bob's tutelage, we published our long awaited Volume IV of the Lyon Memorials. It became a huge success.

Membership soared to 400 and the coffers stayed full to keep us from worrying about costs. At this time, it was costing 40 cents to mail each newsletter to such individuals who wanted a complimentary copy. Postal rates went up and our membership went down by several members lost through death to us.

We were without a Guide for two years.

SOME OLD WORLD LYONS

If faith is the evidence of things not seen, history is the evidence of things half known. The contemporary chronicler depended on hearsay particulars and individual impressions for the consecutive incidents in the romance of quaint narration. He recounted the pomp and triumph of his liege as a bard sang of the prowess of his own Lord, as a provincal poet sang of the beauty of his own lady, but he was on his own ground and familiar with current matters. The historian takes the say-so of his predecessors in compiling remote events, gleaning from every accessible source, however, making deductions here and trusting to psychological instinct there, seeking for the spirit as well as the letter of the times. The public records, with their contradictory dates can be partially trusted, though one remembers how Dugdale of the Baronage declared in 1675, referring to the Roll of Battle Abbey - "There are great errors or rather falsities in most of these copies - such hath been the subtile of some monks of old."

The history of a family, especially of the Lyon family, as it goes from the chapter of one century to the chapter of the next, in its mysterious reality, has the fascination of fiction. Heredity gives every human a certain sense of remoteness, which is soul retrospection. We, ourselves, have been a part of all this tragedy and death.

Godfrey Louvein or Lowen, Duke of Brabant was doubtless the head of the Leonne family of Leon, or Lyons in Normandy. His daughter, Adelecia, the Fair Maid of Brabant, after the young Prince William was lost in the wreck of the "Blance Nef" 1120, was married to the widowed Henry I. in the hope of another direct heir to the English Crown. This alliance gave rise to the use of the lion in the royal arms. The Castle of Lyons near Rouen was a residence which the Anglo-Norman monarch took much delight in. It was his death-place, too. After a hard day's hunting in the Forest of Lyons, the King ate heartily of his favorite dish, stewed lampreys, and died of "surfeit" seven days later. At the time of the expedition against Harold, the Saxon King of England, 1066, one of the Leonne, an adventurous personage, with his followers, joined the banners of Duke William of Normandy. This de Leonne, the progenitor of the Lyon family of England and Scotland, held a counsiderable command in the invading army. Perhaps he espoused the cause through Galtic sentiment, or through Fitz Osborn's coercive example or through a liking for fighting as a diurnal occupation, or for what he expected to get out of it. An eye to the main chance through an aboriginal understanding of meum et tuum, was eleventh century common sense, and to take your chances was eleventh century philosphy.

The foreign project was not a popular measure with Duke William's people, as it would cost blood and money. But the chivalry of France, picturesque gentlemen, armed cap-a-pie in close-fitting ring armor and nasal conical helmets, with a gonfalon streaming from their lances, who made war a diversion, accomodatingly accepted the story that Harold had been sent by Edward the Confessor to give the Crown to his verbally appointed heir. By the same right that Robert le Diable's son was heir to the throne of the Saxon Usurper, they, his knights, were heirs to splendid preferment and splendid spoils, if they risked their lives to get them. Morally justified, they were going to their rightful heritage, these mail-clad warriors of William, surnamed the Bastordes, the best soldier and the best politician of the Middle Ages. Edward, the Saint, had loved the home of his childhood, the learned and pious prelates and monks of its churches and monasteries, and its shrewd and daring Knighthood. It was theirs by royal gift. All the crown lands, the vast estates of Harold and his brothers, the folkland, every rod of England, except the sacred property of the Ecclesiastical corporations, would pass to the new King to be granted away to those who served him best.

The Leonne of the armament, who followed the blood-red flag of the Mora from St. Valleri to Pevensly; who sang the war song of Rollo at Hastings and did much battle, realized his opulent anticipations, for he remained in England, and brought over to patrimonial expectation his son, Sir Roger de Leonne, born in France 1040.

Sir Roger de Leonne furthered the fortunes of the family in an adopted country. War was a profitable pastime, and to go to the rescue of King Edgar, the son of Malcolm Canmore, a righteous piece of errantry. So he donned his harness and rode with Atheling into Scotland to depose Donald Bain. For this good and faithful service, in 1091 he obtained from King Edgar certain lands in Perthshire, to which he gave the name of Glen Lyon - the Glen Lyon of today, extending from Fortingal about twenty-four miles, a vast cul-de-sac, flanked by steep lofty mountains traversed from end to end by the river Lyon, rushing down in torrents and cataracts from Loch Lyon. It is a strong defensible pass like Killikrankie, Glenlochy and Glenogle.

The Romans built a camp at its entrance, such a station as commanded the passes of the Grampians throughout Perthshire. It was a stronghold of the aboriginal tribe of Venricones, who possessed territory between the Tay on the South and the Carron on the North, comprising Gowrie, Strathmore, Stromont and Strathardle in Perthshire, the whole of Angus and the larger part of Kincardineshire, with their chief town at Orrea on the Tay.

Sir Roger de Leonne stood by his scottish possessions, and retained the friendship of the Scottish Monarch, for he was witness in a charter of King Edgar to the monastery of Dumfermline, dated 1105. His son, Sir Paganus de Leonne or Leonibus, was born in England about 1080. For his soul's health, and the highest christian duty, this Norman Englishman accompained Geoffrey Plantagenet, Duke of Anjou to the Holy Land. On his return from the Crusade, he settled in England, where he did some fighting for Henry I. in the family difficulty with Duke Robert of Normandy, and in the campaign against the Welsh. He claimed lineage from the ancient Kings of Leone as 23rd in descent from King Ataulphus, the Visgoth, successor of Alaric, who took and sacked Rome in 409 - Ataulphus, who married Placida, sister of Honorius, Emperor of the East, the son of the great Theodorius.

His son, Hugo de Leonibus, born about 1120, was seized of lands in the county of Norfolk, England, in the time of Henry II., and he was defendant in a plea of lands in the time of Richard Coeur de Lion, 1149.

Ernald de Leonibus, born in Norfolk, about 1150, son of Hugo de Leonibus, claimed against Robert Briston, William de Grancut and Walter de Grancut, one third part in certain lands in Kettleston in the county of Norfolk in the time of King John I. 1199. When the conqueror stumbled headlong upon Sussex soil, grasping the sand he gathered as he fell, he exclaimed, with prophetic joy, "See Seigneurs! by the splendor of God I have seized England in my two hands." The same land greed was a passion with his knights, and it besets their descendents even to this day.

The heir of Ernald de Leonibus, was John de Leonibus, alias Lyon, born about 1175, the first instance of our name being orthographically simplified as it has come down to us. He had two sons, Pagan de Leonibus, alias Leon, born in Norfolk about 1200, and Walter de Leonibus, born about 1205. Walter de Leonibus had two sons, - Sir Henry Lyon and William de Lyon; both died without issue. Pagan de Leonibus, of Norfolk, England, married Ivette de Ferres, daughter and heiress of William de Ferres of Cambridge. His two sons were Sir John de Lyouns, Knight, born in Norfolk about 1225, and Thomas Lyouns, who was of woodward in Essex in the time of Edward I.

Sir John de Lyouns, first son of Pagan de Leonibus, was summoned to perform military service against the Scotts 1294, when Edward subdued Scotland and imprisoned King John Baliol. He married Marjory, daughter and co-heir of Simon de Ackle of Ackle in the county of Northampton, and died 1316 in the reign of Edward II. Some of his descendants received the estate of Simon de Ackle, for in 1638 from Northamptonshire came John Lyne and Henry Lyne, his son, to America, and they were among the founders of New Haven.

The sons of Sir John de Lyouns were John de Lyon, Feudal Baron of Forteviot, born in Norfolk, England about 1250, and Sir Adam Lyon, Knight, born about 1255, and died without issue.

Perthshire was included in the kingdom of the Southern Picts. Their capital was removed to Forteviot from Abernathy. Later, when Forteviot was burnt by the Northmen, the chief royal residence was at Scone. Perth was the third seat of Government, but was abondoned in the reign of James II. in favor of Edinburgh.

John de Lyon, Feudal Baron of Forteviot, first son of Sir John de Lyons of Norfolk, England, had three sons*: 1. Sir Adam Lyon, Knight, born in Norfolk about 1285, who had two sons, Sir John Lyon, Knight, born about 1320, and Adam de Lyon, born about 1325. 2. Richard Lyon, born in norfolk about 1287, who had three daughters, co-heirs, Isabella, born 1336, Cecilia born 1338 and Christina born 1345. 3. Sir John de Lyon, Knight, born in Norfolk, England, about 1290, who had a son, Sir John Lyon, who became the head of the Lyon family of Scotland.

*See Welles "American Family Antiquity"

The district of Glen Lyon in Perthshire had been in the possession of the Lyon family since 1091.

Malcolm Canmore, in being educated at the Court of Edward, the Confessor, was strongly pro-Norman, and his son King Edgar I. owed his throne to such valiant men as Sir Roger de Leonne. In the days of David I. other Anglo-Normans and Flemings settled in Scotland. David had been trained in the Court of his brother-in-law, Henry I. "that he might be polished from the rust of Scottish barbarity." He married Maude, daughter of Walthe, Earl of Northumberland, by Judith, niece of William the Conqueror. When he came to his throne 1124, he was followed by a thousand Anglo-Normans and Flemings, upon whom he bestowed favors and lands, and most of the illustrious families of Scotland have their origin from the French Englishmen favorites of Edgar I. and David I. descendants of the Norman Knights who came to England at the time of the Conquest. The life appealed to a mediaeval imagination, where every district was an independent state, with its own system of government, a sort of hereditary dukedome, allowed by the consent of each community, or clan, in the person of their chief. it was a stirring dramatic existence. Year in and year out predatory warfare and clan warfare were matters of gain and matters of strife. The strange garb of the Highland people, their weapons, their wild music, the power of the headship, and the fealty of the clansmen was a fascinating ensemble. Every clan had its place of rendezvous, and every clansman answered in person the summons of his chief. The "tarie," the fiery cross, two pieces of wood, one end of the horizontal burnt, and a bit of white cloth stained with blood, tied to the other, was given to two runners who sped in opposite directions, to deliver the "tarie" in turn to fresh runners. In 1215, the bearers of the fiery cross went round Loch Tay, a distance of thirty-five miles, and that same evening, five hundred men assembled under command of the Laird of Glen Lyon, to join the Earl of Mar.

The Lyons of Glen Lyon remained in high favor with the Scotch Court, for in 1372, a hundred and eighty years after the advent of Sir Roger de Leonne in Scotland, one of his descendants, John Lyon, a grandson of John de Lyon, Feudal Baron of Forteviot, was son-in-law and Secretary of King Robert II, the first Stewart, and the founder of that dynasty. "He was a young man of very good parts and qualities, a very graceful and comely person, and a great favorite with the king." Lyon King-at-Arms, who was a conspicuous figure at the coronation, 1371, must have this John Lyon, pattern of superior excellences. When this dignity was constituted is lost from Court Annals. That the heraldic office was instituted as a preferment for a favorite courtier is more probable than that it took its name Lyon rex armorum, from the lion on the royal shield. The Princess Jean, youngest daughter of Robert II fell in love with the handsome, successful John Lyon, and in 1379, he received her hand in marriage.

After the death of her first husband, she consoled herself with a second husband, Sir James Sunderlands of Calder. She was a daughter by the first wife of Robert High Stewart of Scotland, Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Adam More of Powallen. A question as to the legitimacy of this lady made a public declaration necessary at the accession of Robert II. and the crown was settled on John, Earl of Garrick. Two years later, a more explicit settlement was made on the King's sons by Elizabeth More,-John, Earl of Garrick, Robert, Earl of Fife, and Alexander, Lord Badenoch; failing them on the sons of the second wife, Euphemie Ross,-David, Earl of Strathearn, and Walter, his brother.

John Lyon, by his marriage with the lady Jean Stewart, was brought into the reigning family. Wise in world-craft, he had nicely dominated the King whom Froissart represents as "not valiant, with red, bleared eyes, who would rather lie still than ride." for by a charter dated March 13th, 1372, he received the lands and Thanedom of Glamis, a charter which says: "pro laudabili et fideli servitio continuis laborius."

The title of Thane of Glamis is an old one. Malcolm II (1005-1034) had two daughters. One of them married Crymin, Lord of the Isles and of Western Scotland, and was the mother of King Duncan, the successor of her royal father. The second daughter married Sinel, Thane of Glamis, and was the mother of Macbeth, also the mother-in-law of that psychological mystery, Lady Macbeth. Glamis Castle, until it passed to John Lyon (on his marriage to the Princess Jean) had been a royal residence for a line of Kings that date back to Kenneth I. 850, A.D.

This hoary pile, historically famous, stands in the fertile vale of Strathmore, in Forfarshire, not far from Dundee, with the Sedlaw hills to the South, and the lofty Grampians to the North. The glamour of feudal times is all round about it, from its base to the summit of its towers that rise a hundred and fifteen feet above the ground, and the great dead dwell there in invisible life through the remembrance of their deeds. It is claimed that the huge blocks of red sandstone of the earliest portion of the structure have been standing since 1016, the eleventh year of the reign of Malcolm II., father-in-law of Sinel, Thane of Glamis. Patrick Lyon, first earl of Strathmore* and third of Kinghorn, made extensive restoration and improvement about 1605.

Sir Walter Scott lamented over the disapearance of the walled court yards, and the moat, the defensive boundaries of the huge old Tower of Glamis, when he revisted the Castle after the devastation of a ruthless, capricious architect. Within the storied walls King Duncan was done to death by his ambitious cousin-german, Macbeth. It was the death-place of Malcolm II. from the wounds treacherously given by Kenneth V. an event of blood made authentic by the early chroniclers. The Commonwealth soldiers prayed long prayers and sang loud psalms in that house of murder, and the Pretender pined and plotted there for a brief season.

Gossip has spread a tale of a mysterious grisly something, a secret not a substance, that is master of the Earl. When his eldest son becomes of age, this ghost of a wrong that must be righted is disclosed to still another Lyon, and the thing dogs him till the hour of his death, making him of the past and guilty of a crime that calls for reparation. This gives a White-Lady-Banshee sort of mystery to the awesome old castle.

Besides the lands and Thanedom of Glamis, the King bestowed upon his son-in-law, John Lyon, the Lock of Forfar, and the land of Kinghorn, and through his marriage came the right to carry the double tressure fleuried and counter-fleuried in the bearing of the family. He rose to be High Lord Chamberlain of Scotland, and Ambassador to England. This increasing power excited the envy of Sir James Lindsay, and he fell in a duel provoked by this Judas friend at the Moor of Balhall in 1383. He and his royal consort were interred at Scone, the coronation place of the Kings of Scotland, destroyed during the Reformation. There still exists an indenture, dated 1433, between his son, John Lyon, Knight of Glamys, and the Abbot of Scone, confirming a grant of forty shillings annually made by his late father for masses for the repose of the souls of Sir John Lyon and Lady Jean, his spouse.

Sir John Lyon, Knight of Glamys, who fifty years after the death of his father still continued the pious custom of paying for masses for the souls of his illustrious parents, married the Lady Elizabeth Graham, daughter of Patrick, Earl of Strathern, by Euphemia, Countess Palatine of Strathern, a granddaughter of Robert II. His young manhood was spent in tumultuous times. Disorders were rife in the Highlands, and the feuds of the clans were augmented by Alexander Badenoch, the fourth son of Robert II., whom his indolent father had constituted Lieutenant Governor, from the limits of Moray to Pentland Frith. The Wolf of Badenoch was the uncle of Sir John Lyon, Knight Lord of Glamys. He seized the lands of Alexander Bard, Bishop of Moray and was excommunicated for this outrage.

In a frenzy of vengeance, he descended from the heights and burnt Forres, May, 1390, with the church and the Manse of the Archdeacons, and in June of the same year he burnt Elgin, the church of St. Giles, the hospital of Maison Dieu, the Cathedral, a splendid ecclesiastical pile, and the houses of the canons and chaplains in the College of Elgin, plundered the churches and carried off the sacred utensils and vestments. For this sacrilege against a See of Rome, the Lord of Badenoch was compelled to make full reparation, and was then absolved by Walter Trail, Bishop of St. Andrews, in the church the Black Friars in Perth, in the presence of his brother, King Robert III. and the nobility of Scotland.

Sir John Lyon, Knight of Glamys, was succeeded by his son, Sir Patrick Lyon.* He, too, saw turmoil and tragedy. On March 28th, 1424, he was delivered up to the English as one of the hostages for the ransom of James I. and not released til June, 1427. Doubtless he loved the monarch of advanced ideas and elegent accomplishments, and the horror of the midnight regicide in the Monastery of the Dominicans at Perth came to him as the blackest deed in his country's sombre chronicles. But Patrick Lyon had sustaining ambitions, for this feudal chief was made a peer of Parliament as Lord Glamis in 1445, the eighth year of the reign of James II. and was appointed Master of the King's household in 1452. He married Isabel, daughter of Alexander Ogilvy, and had three sons and a daughter, - Alexander, 2nd Lord Glamis, John, 3rd Lord, William Lyon, Master of the Lyons of Easter Ogil of County Forfar, and Elizabeth, who married Alexander Robertson. Patrick Lyon first Lord Glamis, grandson of Sir John Lyon and the Princess Jean, died 1459.

*Burke's Peerage.

His eldest son, Alexander Lyon, had died without issue, and the Barony devolved upon the second son, John Lyon, 3rd Lord Glamis, who was Privy Councillor to James IV, and Justice General of Scotland. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Sir John Scrimguor of Dunlope, Constable of Dundee, and died 1494, and was succeeded by his son John Lyon, fourth Lord Glamis, who was succeeded twelve years later by his eldest son by Emily, daughter of Lord Gray, George Lyon, fifth Lord Glamis. He died unmarried, and the title passed to his brother John Lyon, sixth Lord Glamis.

John Lyon, third Lord Glamis, John Lyon, fourth Lord Glamis, George Lyon, fifth Lord Glamis; and John Lyon, sixth Lord Glamis, lived in the reign of James IV., a reign of twenty-five years. Battle, murder and execution are absent from the annals of the Monarch who loved chivalrous display, tournaments and martial exercise. A season of peace blessed the land that had been harrowed for ages by private wars and civil wars.

The court was merry, but far from moral. Leniency was for one and all. Gifts and favors made loyal subjects, and the chiefs of the Highlands shared the largess with the barons. The two raids across the border in behalf of the imposter, Perkin Warbeck, were mere incidents of Arms, and there was not a real cloud of threatening on the political horizon of scotland till after the marriage of James IV. and Margaret Tudor in 1502. The death of Henry VII. changed the friendly relations between England and Scotland.

Henry VIII. did not like the marriage of his young sister, and refused to deliver a legacy of jewels left to the Queen by her royal father. Mutual privateering and border fray increased the bad feeling, and the continental policy of Henry in regard to the struggle in Italy between Louis XII. and Pope Julian I. easily provoked a war. James renewed his alliance with the King of France 1513. The herald who brought the declaration was the Scotch Lord Lyon, another Lyon King-at-Arms or Lion-King-at-Arms one of the Perthshire courtiers, or an Earl Marschall, keeper of the heraldic beasts of the royal shield. The largest army ever raised in Scotland met the English at Flodden Field. Among the 12,000 dead in that "no quarter" massacre was the King; the nobility was almost decimated, and many families lost all their sons. The mortality was terrible in an age when the Temple of Janus was always open. Dugdale of the "Baronage" says: "For of no less than 270 families touching which this first volume doth take notice, there will hardly be found above eight which do to this continue, and of those not any whose estates - compared with what their ancestors enjoyed - are not a little diminished, - nor of that number - I mean 270 - above twenty-four who are by any younger male branch descended from them, for aught I can discover."

Of the gentry of Berkshire he continued, "it is remarkable that there is not one family descended in the male line from any of the gentry ennumerated in the above list, now left in the country." The males of either kingdom were born to be battle-slaughtered. The mothers spared the grief of losing all their sons were few.

John Lyon, sixth Lord Glamis, was not among the slain at Flodden, but lived to fight another day. He married Janet Douglas, a woman of rare beauty, daughter of George, Master of Angus, and granddaughter of the great Earl of Angus (Bell-the-Cat), and had a son, John Lyon, seventh Lord Glamis. In the struggle between Angus and Arran in the rising of the Highlands to uphold the claim of Macdonald to the Lordship of the Isles, Glamis supported Angus in the hostilities that went on for several years, till it ended in a fight in the streets of Edinburgh, where the victorious Angus drove Arran out of the town and seized the castle. In 1525 Angus, with Beaton, obtained possession of the person of the boy King James V. to govern in his name in a regency that lasted till 1528, the year of the death of Lohn Lyon, sixth Lord Glamis.

His widow, the beautiful Janet Douglas, took as her second husband, Archibald Campbell of Kepneith. Another Campbell fell in love with his kinsman's fair wife, and to revenge a repulse, gave information to the authorities that she and her husband, her young son John Lyon, seventh Lord Glamis, John Lyon a relative, and an old priest were conspiring against the life of the King by poison and witchcraft. They were tried for high treason and condemned on the evidence of a perjurer, and sentenced to be burned at the stake. Campbell attempted to escape, but was dashed to pieces on the rocks below the window of his prison. But Lady Glamis dieds publicly by fire on the Castle Hill of Edinburgh, July 12th, 1537. Owing to his tender years, John Lyon, seventh Lord Glamis, was spared the horrible fate of his unfortunate mother, notwithstanding he had been convicted of treason, July 10th, 1537, of being "art and part of concealing and not revealing of the conspiring and imagination in the destruction of King James V. by poison, imagined and conspired by Janet, Lady Glamis, his mother, to which he consented and was art and part with her." He was returned to prison, and the sentence suspended till he should come of age.

The accuser of Glamis and his mother, on his death-bed, a prey to remorse (some authorities say "one Lyon") avowed his crime of swearing away the life of Lady Glamis and her son. The young Lord Glamis was given his freedon, and being a minor was placed under the care of his uncle Alexander Lyon. His estates were forfeited to the Crown by an act of Parliament, December 3rd, 1540. In January, 1542-3, he instituted a summons of redemption of forfeiture and was rescinded. The following March he was restored to his estates and honors by parliament. He came into favor after the heart of James V. was broken by the treacherous desertion of the nobles.

During the regency of Arran and Mary of Guise, when the "orphan lass," Mary Stuart, was Queen of Scotland, he had charters for various lands in Aberdeenshire in 1543-4, and of the Barony of Kinghorne forfeited by James Kirkaldy of Grange 1548. His death occurred in 1558, twenty-one years after the terrible death of his innocent mother.

John Lyon, seventh Lord Glamis, married Janet Keith, sister of William, fourth Earl of Marishal, and had two sons, John Lyon, eighth Lord Glamis, and Hon. Sir Thomas Lyon, known to fame as the Master of Glamis.

Before the death of the seventh Lord Glamis, the Reformation had been gradually spreading in Scotland, but he may have held aloof from the religious movement that was paramount during the life of his sons. In 1548 Mary Stuart as the betrothed of the Dauphin, had been sent to the Court of France to be brought up with the children of Henry II. and Catherine de Medici. The Queen Dowager, Mary of Guise, a master of tact and craft, had gained the nobles by her gracious promises, and the people by tolerating the Reformation so far that only one disagreeable incident had occurred, the execution of "a simple but over zealous man for the new doctrine." After the death of Edward VI. 1553, the Scottish adherents of the Reformation who had taken refuge in England had to go abroad or return home to escape the persecution of Mary Tudor. The powerful preachers, Harlow and Whitlock and Knox organized the church in Scotland and the ministers of the Congregation were planted. Knox received Edinburgh for his charge, and Perth and Sterling were committed to the Congregation. A bond drawn up in 1557 by Argyle, Morton, Lorne and Erskine "to defend the whole Congregation of Christ and every member thereof....against Satan and all wicked powers," was the first Covenant. When the Regent, Mary of Guise, deserted by the Scottish nobility, came to die, to conform had become general. The Parliament of that year (1560), the great Reformation Parliament, was attended by the nobles, bishops, lesser barons, landed gentry, and representatives. On August 10th the Confession of Faith was sanctioned by the estates, and on August 24th an act was passed prohibiting the rites by the church of Rome. Athole, Summerville, Caithness and Bothwell alone of all the nobles voted against the Confession, and the power of the State was in the hands of the party of the Reformation. If but four of the nobles voted against the Confession, then the sons of John Lyon, seventh Lord Glamis, John Lyon, eighth Lord Glamis, and the Thomas Lyon, Master of Glamis, must have stood in line with the times through an evolution of opinion, and accepted the new order of things in active approbation.

The wheel of history was making some dizzy revolutions in Scotland, carrying the Lyon family onward in a rush of peculiar events. The widow, Queen Mary, had come home from France to a career of capers and intrigues, of conspiracies and crimes, and the thunder-bolts of John Knox could not frighten her back from destruction. Her ill-advised marriage with her cousin, Lord Darnley, the birth of her son, the heir to the throne, the murder of David Rizzio, the retaliatory murder of Darnley, and the suspicion of the Queen's consent to the death of her husband, Bothwell's indecent wooing when the royal dead was just buried, Queen Mary's mad marriage with the Black Earl, the rebellion of her outraged subjects, the surrender at Carbary Hill, and the escape from Lochleven Castle were the extraordinary happenings of seven years of Scottish history.

The Lyons drew near together while their giddy sovereign achieved her own ruin, distrustful of the spinster daughter of Henry VIII. and remembering the few that came home from Flodden Field, put their own house in order with a prayer that one might be spared. In a charter dated April 23rd, 1567, John Lyon, eighth Lord Glamis, made an entail of his estates of Glamis, Towndyce and Baky in Forfarshire, Cullan, Buttergask, Langforyard and Irchture in Perthshire, Bethelvic, Ardendracht, Collistown, Coustertown and Drumgowan in Aberdeenshire, on himself and the male heirs of his body, Thomas Lyon, his brother, John Lyon of Haltown of Esse, James Lyon of Easter Ogill, John Lyon of Culwalogy, and the heirs of their bodies, respectively, which failing, to his own nearest heirs male whatsoever bearing the name and Arms of Lyon. This charter gives the headship of five prominent branches of the Lyon family of Scotland in 1567, John Lyon, eighth Lord Glamis; Thomas Lyon, Master of Glamis; John Lyon of Haltown of Esse; James Lyon of Easter Ogill, and John Lyon of Culwalogy, all lineal descendants of the Feudal Baron John de Lyon of Fortevoit.

The eighth Lord Glamis had a charter of the Barony of Balky to himself and his wife, Elizabeth Abernathy, daughter of Lord Salton, dated 2nd July, 1569, the sixth month of Moray's Regency. During the Regencies of Lenox, Mar, and Morton, he rose to prominence. He was sworn a Privy Councillor and constituted an Extraordinary Lord of the session, 30th September, 1570, held it till 24th October 1573, and in 1575 was promoted to the office of High Chancellor of Scotland. In the meantime, Moray and Lenox had died by violence, and Mar by foul play. The death of John Knox, and the Massacre of St. Bartholomew had been simultaneous events.

In March, 1578, John Lyon, Lord of Glamis, was deputed to signify to the Earl of Morton, Regent of Scotland, that the King had now resolved to take the administration of the national affairs in his own hands. The 27th day of the same month the eighth Lord Glamis was killed at Sterling in an accidental encounter between his own followers and those of the Earl of Crawford. He was counted one of the ablest men of his own party, and Douglas took pride in mentioning that John Lyon had a correspondence with Beza, the French reformer and Calvanistic theologian, on the subject of church polity and the doctrines of the Prophet of Geneva.

He had one son, Patrick Lyon, ninth Lord Glamis and two daughters, the Hon. Jean Lyon, who married; 1st Robert Douglas, the younger of Lochleven; 2nd 1586 Archibald, eighth Lord of Angus, and 3rd Alexander, Lord Spynie, and the Hon. Elizabeth Lyon who married Patrick, seventh Earl Gray.

The Hon. Thomas Lyon, designated Master of Glamis as presumptive heir to the title, increased his estates in the short tenure of the death-shadowed Regents, Lenox, Mar, and Morton. He had charters to "Thomas Lyon, brother of John, Lord Glamis" of Seragesfield, 18th September, 1571; of the Dominical lands of Balumbu, also the lands of Gogar, and Grugar in the counties of Edinburgh and Air, to "Thomas Lyon of Balkouky, Master of Glamis and Agnes Gray, Lady Horne, his wife, 20th June, 1579, of the Barony of Melgownd," etc., in Forfarshire, to them 6th May, 1586.

Morton, in 1581, was accused in the Council of Holyrood for complicity in the murder of Darnley. He was tried and on his own confession that Bothwell had revealed to him the plot to kill the Queen's husband, was convicted as an accomplice in the crime.

The management of the affairs of the realm passed to Lenox and Stewart. One had been created a Duke, and the other received the Earldom of Arran. These two ambitious personages in 1582 were in a plot to associate Mary Stuart with her son in the Government, to renew the league with France, and through a breach with England to restore the church of Rome. Bribes won even many of the nobility to this hazardous scheme. The Presbyterian ministers were not approachable, and an illegal banishment of the clergy was expedient. A proclamation for an Extraordinary Chamberlain Air - and itinerant Court of Justice - to be held at Lenox, precipitated the raid of Ruthvan, where the Master of Glamis was one of the principal agents in the seizure of the person of the King. James was on a visit to the Earl of Gowrie at the Castle of Hunting Tower near Perth. During the absence of Lenox and Arran, the Master of Glamis, with some others, surrounded the Castle with armed men, and with Gowrie made James VI. a prisoner. The King, trusting none and fearing all, started toward the door in an impluse of flight, but the Master of Glamis stayed his going. The apprehensive James in his alarmed agitation burst into tears, exclaiming "No matter, better children weep than armed men," and surrendered to these new enforced guardians. Arran, on his return to Perth, was cast into prison by this other band of conspirators, and Lenox took refuge in Dumbarton Castle, and soon fled to France.

The tutelage of the Protestant nobles was disagreeable and irritating to the royal youth, and at length he escaped from Falkland to St. Andrews. The Raid of Ruthvan was declared high treason. The Earl of Gowrie was taken and executed for his political crime. But the Master of Glamis fled to England to review the situation and readjust his plans. In May of the same year, Thomas Lyon returned to Scotland, and with the Earls of Angus and Mar, seized Sterling Castle and assumed the Government. But they were presently obliged to fly across the border. The following year the Master of Glamis and the other banished nobles came north, bringing a great force with them. They invaded the Palace and compelled Stewart, Earl of Arran, to quit the royal presence. This high-handed disloyalty was graciously forgiven, and they were restored to favor. Thomas Lyon received the prodigal's ring and embrace in being appointed Captain of the King's Guards in the place of Arran, and was made high treasurer of Scotland. He was also constituted an Extraordinary Lord of the Session, held the position for six years, then was re-appointed and sat till May 28th, 1593.

The nobility and landed gentry were spoilsmen and quick to take advantage of the King's privilege to grant feus of church lands annexed to the Crown. The Master of Glamis, the prime mover in the Raid of Ruthvan, must have rated his second treason of the seizure of Sterling Castle and the person of James VI. as a service rendered to his sovereign. By force of argument of a Calvanistic turn, he may have appeased the sombre yet fickle conscience of an unfilial son in the days of fretful remorse or religious excitement after Mary Stuart expiated her follies on the block at Fortheringay. James had needs to lean upon a character of tremendous strength, and nothing daunted Thomas Lyon. Tomorrow was seen through a veil of sickening uneasiness. It might be his turn next. Out from the dank crypt of history came a grisly procession of Scottish Kings to point to their wounds and remind him that the divinity that hedged him 'round would not save him from the swords of the lawless Barons. The headless ghost of his crown-robbed mother lurked behind the hangings of his chamber. He did not remember her fair face, and he had been told that she was a baggage who had sinned many sins. But he had sided against the woman who bore him, for a woman who delivered her royal person to the headsman.

An Axe-blow could sever the stem of his own neck, if his terrible cousin in the ruff and farthingald had him within her border. And while tne miserable young Monarch, haunted by horrors that had come to pass, and horrors that were yet to be, fretted over the Government of a turbulent and fearful people, the few near his person, by indulging his humors, reaped much benefit. Thomas Lyon received a charter of Tullock and Crawquhy in Forfarshire, August 19th, 1587, "to Thomas Lyon of Baldoukie, His Majesty's treasurer, Master of Glamis, of Corstown, and of the Barony of Dod in Forfarshire, to him and Eufamia Douglas, his wife, November 7th, 1589," adding substantially to his estate.

The King in 1585, "was become a brave prince in bodie and stature, so well exercised in reading that he could perfitlie record all things he had either heard or read. Therefore that noble King Frederic II. of Denmark, who had then twa daughters, was willing (gif it suld please our King) either to give him the choice of thaim, or that he would accept the one of thaim as it suld please the father to bestow guhilk suld be maist comely, and the best for his princelie contentment." To Danish Anna fell the honor of being the royal bride. After a long proxy courtship, a romantic marriage, and a honeymoon spent at Upslo, the Danish princess was brought home to Scotland, and her coronation took place within the Abbey of Hollyrood on the 17th of May, 1590. "Twa high places were appointed there, one for the King and the other for the Queen. The King's procession, having entered the Abbey, that of the Queen, preceded by several Danish nobles, magnificently dressed, with diamond chains about their necks, then came the Scottish nobles and heralds; Lord Lion, King-at-Arms, ushered Lord Thirlstone bearing between his two hands the Queen's Crown, then followed the Queen herself in royal robes." The company and the ceremony were splendidly imposing as described in a contemporary chronicle. Here, as at the coronation of Robert II., Lion-King-at-Arms was a striking feature of an historical pageant. Princely revelry on that May Sunday, frightened the Holyrood ghosts back to the shades. On Tuesday the Queen, in a gilded coach, the King and the Court, had a street parade in Edinburgh, and the festivities were prolonged even into the month of June. Thomas Lyon, Master of Glamis, was Knighted while the coronation rejoicing was in progress. On May 27, 1590, the Scottish statesman and soldier knelt before the royal pair and was dubbed Sir Knight. He was still among the king's advisers and held the important office of high treasurer of Scotland till 1595.

After 1571 he had married Agnes Gray, Lady Howe, third daughter of the fifth Lord Howe, widow of Sir Robert Logan, and of Alexander, fifth Lord Howe; and for a second wife he married Lady Eufamia Douglas. There was another charter granted to him April 6th, 1594. "to Thomas Lyon of Auldbar, Knight, and Euphemia Douglas his wife." From the return of the banished Lords in 1585, he had remained in favor with the King, faithful to the best interests of his sovereign, and when death ended his eventful life James VI. of Scotland and I. of England said: "The boldest and hardest man of my dominion is dead." But two of his children are on record, a daughter, Mary Lyon, who married Robert Semphell of Bellars, and a son, John Lyon, who August 6th, 1608, served as heir to his father, Sir Thomas Lyon, Knight, in the Barony of Melgund lands of Auldbar, etc., etc. But he may have had other sons forgotten by an absentee King and omitted in the family annals. John Lyon of Audlbar married a daughter of George Gladstone, Archbishop of St. Andrews. He must have died before 1617 without issue, or lost favor through some political blunder and forfeited his estates, involving all other descendants of Sir Thomas Lyon, Knight. At any rate, Anne Murray, Countess of Kinghorne, and her son, John Lyon, second Earl of Kinghorne, August 8th, 1617, had a charter to the Barony of Auldbar in Forfarshire. The lands of Auldbar had been given by Earl Patrick to his second son, Hon. James Lyon, who died without issue, and this estate reverted to the family. The next Lyon of Auldbar, after a lapse of three generations, was John Lyon, Esq., of Brachin in North Britain, a great grandson of the famous Master of Glamis, Sir Thomas Lyon.

Patrick, ninth Lord Glamis, being a minor at the time of the death of his father, John Lyon, eighth Lord, in 1578, was placed under the tuition of his uncle, Sir Thomas Lyon, who was afterward (1585) high treasurer of Scotland. He served as heir in general of his grandfather, John Lyon, seventh Lord Glamis, January 29th, 1600. Through his rank he received a remission under the great seal, dated 15th of September, 1601, of penalty for a transgression of violence to him and his five servants, for the slaughter of Patrick Johnstown in Haltown of Belhelote, slain on the 6th of September, accidental homicide, justifiable homicide and incidental homicide, misfortunate matters too common with the nobility and the gentry not to be easily pardoned. In 1604, Lord Patrick Lyon was sworn a privy councillor of James VI, and chosen by Parliament as one of the Commissioners to treat of the Union with England.

Favors continued to be heaped upon him. He had charters of Ardwork in Forfarshire 8th of August, 1605, of Kingseat in Aberdeenshire 17th June, 1606, and by patent dated 10th July, 1606, was raised to the dignity of Earl of Kinghorne, Lord Lyon and Glamis. He and his wife, Anne Murray, and their second son, James Lyon, had charter of Wester Drynic in Forfarshire, 20th May, 1608, of the Isle of Inch Keith and right to the patronage of Kinghorne, 10th June, 1609, of the Barony of Farnadic the following year and of the dominical lands of Hurley in 1613. His death occurred December 19th, 1615, and he was succeeded by his eldest son, John Lyon, second Earl of Kinghorne. He had also a daughter, Anne, who married the Earl of Errol, and a third son, Hon. Fredrick Lyon, who got from his father the lands of Brighton and was the ancestor of the Lyons of Brighton. John Lyon, tenth Lord Glamis and second Earl of Kinghorne, was a minor when he came into his lands and titles. In 1603, at the succession of King James VI., Scotland had become a part of England, the home of the elder branch of the Lyon family.

Sir Adam Lyon, first son of John de Lyon, Feudal Baron of Forteviot, the descendant of the Norman de Leonne who fought at Hastings with the Coqueror, was of Norfolk, England, at the time his brother John de Lyon, married the Princess Jean, daughter of Robert High Stewart of Scotland.* Sir Adam Lyon, Knight, had two sons, - Sir John Lyon born about 1320, who was Knighted by Edward III. and Adam de Lyon born about 1325. Sir John Lyon, Knight of Norfok, had three sons, - Sir Richard Lyon born about 1350, and Sir John Lyon born about 1353, both Knighted by Edward IV. and Henry Lyon born about 1355. Henry Lyon of Rystippe, Middlesex, born in Norfolk about 1355, great grandson of John de Lyon, Feudal Baron of Forteviot, had a son, John Lyon, born at Rystippe about 1380. He was with the army of Henry V. that invaded Normandy, and was at Agincourt, amid the splendid pageantry of war that made England heir to the Crown of France, and was present at the famous battle. He had a son, Henry Lyon, born at Rystippe about 1410, the second of a name which became a heritage among the lyons. John was a favorite prenomen with the English as well as the Scotch Lyons. Thomas and William were also baptismal names repeated from generation to generation. The name of Adam came in use in 1225, that of Richard 1350 and that of Henry in 1355. Henry Lyon of Rystippe, born about 1410, John born about 1450, Thomas born about 1455 and William born about 1508, who died with issue. Henry Lyon of Rystippe, Middlesex, England (1410), the third of the name, had two sons, - 1st John, born about 1470, and 2nd William, born about 1475.

John Lyon (1450), second son of Henry of Rystippe, had a son, John Lyon of Preston, Middlesex County, born 1500, who was the founder of the famous English school of Harrow-on-the-Hill, ten miles from London. This philanthropic yeoman of Preston yearly set aside the sum of twenty marks for the education of the poor children of Harrow. The school of harrow was founded 1571. Queen Elizabeth granted the charter. But the statutes were drawn up by the founder in 1590. However, the first building was not completed till 1611. At his death, October 3rd, 1692, he settled two-thirds of his property on the school, and left the other third for the maintenance of a highroad between harrow and London. John Lyon and his widow, Jean Lyon, who died August 3th, 1608, are buried at Harrow. They had - Mary, born at Preston 1540, buried at Harrow December 13th, 1568, Jean, born at Preston 1545, buried at Harrow, May 13th, 1559, and Zachery, born at Preston 1560, died without issue, and was buried at Harrow, May 11th, 1583. It is a pleasing coincidence that Mary Lyon, the American Educator, Founder of Mount Holyoke Seminary (now College), for the higher education of women, should have borne the name of the eldest daughter of John Lyon, founder of the great school of Harrow-on-the Hill.

Thomas Lyon (1455) of Perefore Middlesex County, third son of Henry Lyon of Rystippe, had two sons. The first of these was Sir John Lyon, born about 1490, who was Knighted by Queen Elizabeth. In 1550 he was made an Alderman of London and High Sheriff and in 1554 was Lord Mayor. By his wife Alicia he had a son, John Lyon, born about 1550 and died without issue 1620. The second son of Thomas Lyon (1455), was Henry Lyon of Roxley in Lincolnshire. By his wife Dorothy, he had two sons, Richard Lyon of West Twyford, Middlesex County, born about 1532, and Henry Lyon of Harrow-on-the-Hill, born about 1550, who died October 16th, 1590. Richard Lyon, of West Twyford 1532, by his first wife Agnes, had a son Henry Lyon of Roxley in Lincolnshire, born about 1655, who married Catherine Rithe, and had issue, also issue by his second wife, Mabilla, daughter of Adam Dornell of Thornhohn, Lincolnshire. By his second wife, Isabella Millet, Richard Lyon of Twyford had three children, John Lyon born about 1560, died without issue, Dorothy Lyon, born 1565, married Humphrey Hyde of Northeste, Berkshire, had issue, and Catherine Lyon, born 1570, married William Gifford of Northeste, Middlesex County, and had issue.

John Lyon of Rystippe, the third, first son of Henry Lyon (1440), was born there 1470. He married Emma Hedde, and had four sons, Henry Lyon, born 1500, Thomas, born 1503, Richard, born 1505, and John, born 1510. It is a singular fact that of the fifteen Lyons who came to the American Colonies between 1638-1683, twelve of them bore the distinctive family names of these sons of John Lyon of Rystippe, the exception being William of Roxbury, and Peter and George Lyon of Dorchester. However, William was a name that begun with the William Lyon who was born at Rystippe 1640 and continued in favor.

John Lyon of Little Stanmer, Middlesex County, first son of John Lyon of Rystippe, was born at Rystippe 1510. His wife, Jean Lyon, died April 5th, 1535, just a hundred years before her great grandson, William Lyon of Heston, landed at Boston September 11th, 1635, a lad of fourteen, who sailed in the ship "Hopewell," with Capt. Babb. No doubt he was under the care of Isaac Heath a fellow passenger, who brought his own family with him, drifting on the westward tide of Puritan emigration from a King-ridden, clergy-ridden country to the Land of Hope. John Lyon of Little Stanmer, and his wife, Jean, had three children, William born 1540, Elizabeth born 1545, died 1606, and Thomas born 1550. Thomas Lyon (1550), had a son William Lyon, born 1575, died 1624. This William Lyon was called the Marquis of Southwold, and he was owner of the forefather ship "Lyon," which brought many a cargo of precious souls to New England. Among her passengers was Rev. John Eliot the non-conformist minister of Roxbury church, the Apostle of the American Indians, and Roger Williams, the Apostle of Civil Liberty.

William Lyon of Stanmer Parva, Middlesex County, first son of John Lyon of Little Stanmer, who was born at Little Stanmer 1540, was buried at the place of his nativity September 17th, 1624, the year before the death of King James I. He was twice married, first to Isabella, daughter of William Wightman, Esq., second to Audry Deering, by whom he had three sons, William, born at Stanmer Parva, 1580, Thomas, born 1585, (he had issue); and Robert, born 1590. His contemporaries among his kindred of the Scottish branch of the Lyon family were: John Lyon, Eighth Lord Glamis, Patrick Lyon, who was first Earl of Kinghorne, and Thomas Lyon, Master of Glamis.

William Lyon, born at Stanmer Parva, 1580 was William Lyon of Heston, Middlesex County. He resided at Heston, but was buried at Little Stanmer, November 17th, 1634. He married at Harrow-on-the-Hill, July 17th, 1615, Anne Carter, and they lived together for nineteen years. She did not long survive her husband, and was buried at Little Stanmer Feb. 18th, 1638. The children of William of Heston were: Catherine, baptised at Heston August 25th, 1616, John, baptised June, 1619, and William baptised December 20th, 1620.*

*It was this William Lyon who came to America in 1635 and settled in Roxbury, Mass. A full account of his descendants is contained in the "Lyon Memorial, Massachusetts Families."

When William Lyon of Heston died in 1634, John Lyon, tenth Lord Glamis, and second Earl of Kinghorn, was head of the Lyon family of Scotland. The Nation through political evolution, had fallen upon evil times. The taint of a democratic tendency in the North had spread across the border, and the absolutism of the Tudor Kings ended with the expiring breath of the man-minded Elizabeth. The crown made by the cold fingers of the dying Sovereign, had given her dominion to her Scotch cousin. But the mantle of her greatness fell apart and crumbled away when her coffin was borne from Richmond, to be deposited in Westminster. Elizabeth was long-headed, tactful and liberal, and the destruction of the Spanish Armada was one of the glories of her reign. James was purblind, bad-tempered and narrow, and the Gunpowder Plot completely addled his confused judgment. When the monarch who styled himself King of Great Britain, uttered his rash threat at the Conference of Hampton Court with the leading Puritan clergy, and the leading bishops, "I will make them conform, or I will harry them out of the land," he threw down the gage of battle to a militant people, whose army had been gathering from among tradesmen, artisans, yoemen, and nobles since the note of personal freedom was sounded by the divine trumpet of the reformation two centuries before.

In the fatality that attended the fortunes of the Stuarts, he contaminated his son by the bad teaching of his despotic example, and when he came to die, after years of misgovernment, the heritage of his evasions, blunders, and disasters brought the ruin of a madly rash course and a death on the block to his unhappy successor.

The Covenanters were tenacious, the Puritans were heroic. These fanatical religionists were but biding their time, while Charles I. as if fate-driven was destroying the very fabric of the State. Long ago, as far back as 1618, the dragon's teeth of a religious war had been sown by the adoption of the five articles of Perth, and the fertile North had grown a lusty crop of determined rebellers. The Scots, armed with spear and sword, of religious and political instinct were ripe for a revolution. The Nobles and landed gentry were alienated from the King. The removal of the Court had robbed them of prestige and profit. Those near the royal presence were promoted and flattered, those afar were neglected and despised. Furthermore, his peculiar policy meant ruin for those of his native land. A petition of protest was put into private circulation against thirty-one acts "hurtful to the liberty of the subject," passed by a Parliament where Charles had presided. A copy of this document was found in the possession of Lord Balmoral. He was tried for sedition, received a capital sentence which was afterward modified to imprisonment. The Scots were astir with a secret resentment which became open revolt when the use of the liturgy at St. Giles Church in Edinburgh and at Greyfriers in Perth occasioned riots.

Montrose received a commission from the Tables, a board of representatives chosen by the nobility, country gentry, clergy, and inhabitants of the burghs, to raise troops for the service of the Covenanters, which he proceeded to embody with extraordinary power. Within a month he collected some three thousand foot and horse from Perth, Forfar and Fife, and put them under military discipline. Joined by forces under General Leslie, the rebel army marched upon Aberdeen which the Marquis of Huntley abondoned at their approach. It was "upon morn, being Saturday, they came in order of battell, weil armed both on horse and foot, all horsemen having five shots at least with one carabine in his hand, two pistols by his sydes and two others at his saddle toir. The pike men in their ranks, with pike and sword, the musketiers in their rank with musket stuffe, bandelier, sword, power match ilk company, both foot and horse had their Captain, Lieutenants, Ensigns, Sergeants and other officers and commanders all for the most part in buff coats and in goodly order. They had five colors of ensigns, whereof the Earl of Montrose had one having this motto: 'For religion, the Covenant and the Countrie.' the Earl Marischell had one, the Earl of Kinghorn had one, and the town of Dundee had two."

This Earl of Kinghorn was John Lyon, tenth Lord of Glamis, a descendant in the third generation from John Lyon, who was tried and convicted for "being art and part of concealing and not revealing of the conspiring and imagination in the destruction of King James V. by poison imagined and conspired by Janet, Lady Glamis, his mother." The unlaid ghost of the woman who died by fire on the Castle Hill of Edinburgh made every Lyon the hereditary enemy of every Stuart King. However, the second Earl of Kinghorn voted in the parliament against the delivery of King Charles I. up to the English, an act of tardy loyalty to a faithless Monarch avenged by Cromwell when he made a barrack of Glamis Castle for his Roundhead soldiery. The King declined to do battle with Leslie and Montrose, and the Scottish army disbanded.

By the pacification of Berwick it was agreed that all ecclesiastical matters should be regulated by an assembly to be held at Edinburgh and all civil matters by parliament and other legal Courts. And the Earls went home with their foot and horse, to await the next move of destiny in the crowned Beelzebub, who was liege of the United Kingdom. They remembered the signing of the national Covenant in Greyfriers Church that bleak March day, when the Nobles and the gentry, three hundred ministers and a great multitude of people, pledged themselves before Almighty God to maintain the Presbyterian doctrine and polity as the sole religion of their country, to the exclusion of Prelacy and Popery. Copies of this heaven-inspired document had been dispatched - a veritable "tarie" - the length and breadth of Scotland. And this great clan of an outraged Nation would answer the summons of their Chief in the heavens, The Lord God of Sabbaoth. And the day of doom grew nearer and nearer. The Covenant of 1638 was as dear to the Scots as the Magna Charta was to the English. In 1641 the Parliament met at Edinburgh. The King was in attendance, unscrupulous, insincere, complying with the bold demands of his rebellious subjects and he hoped to corrupt the leading Covenanters by favors and promises. But the pleasing compromises of a protestant tainted with Rome by no means propitiated a people familiar with his trickery in politics. They did not love a Stuart and it behooved a distrustful King to realize his limitation. Macauley shows the quality of the fealty of these feudal chieftains. "They butchered James I. in his bedchamber, repeatedly they were in arms against James II., they slew James III. on the field of battle, broke the heart of James V., deposed Mary and led her son into captivity, and virtually sold her grandson for a price." North of the border there was an unmentioned equality between Monarch and Noble. They had little respect for the authority of James VI. of Scotland, when he assayed to rule them from the English throne. Charles Stuart might be their Sovereign by the Grace of God, but the laird, the patriarchal headship of a clan was a King by rights as old as tradition. They, and all that subscribed the Covenant, saw him as a bishop-ruled, queen-ruled despot, who would pull down

Jehovah's temple of the Kirk with his episcopacy and deliver the Scots to a Babylon captivity, where the liturgy and the canons would bind them in perpetual thraldom.

They stood by him when the tidal wave of fire of the Civil War left him helpless. Still they had no pity for him. His regnal years had been a never-ended battle betwixt an idee fixe of an hereditary opinion and an idee fixe of religious liberty. Wyclifs' tracts and texts in the South and John Knox's sermons in the North had given Great Britain a fitter King, and all the slain at Naseby and Marston Moor "died for the cause of freedom and the truth in Christ."

But in the end, the North and the South were equally blood-guilty in his death. The Scots had their pieces of silver, furthermore, they washed their hands of the deed. The South was waging a holy war like unto the wars of David against the idolators, believing a free and pious Commonwealth could be built on the ruins of a Monarchy. These austere warriors were not mercenaries from across the Channel, nor the yokels of the country, nor the riff-raff of the towns. The parliamentarian army was composed of men of decent station and men of rank. The very best of England met the very best of Scotland at Marston Moor, and the descendants of John de Lyon, Feudal Baron of Fortevoit, fought on either side in that battle of kindred, those of the North for a King they despised, and those of the South for public liberty. He provoked his destiny. Defeat and flight, imprisonment and death were written in crimson letters across his policy with his subjects, Puritan and Covenanter. He held them in equal hatred with no choice between them. "I am not without hope that I shall be able to draw either the presbyterians or independents to me for the extirpating of the one or the other that I shall be easily King again," expresses his attitude to his people. He would not realize his danger. Moral and physical cowardice were not among his weaknesses. They dared not, this Round-head Court, that arraigned their Sovereign in Westminster Hall. He embodied feudalism; and through the nightmare hours of the seven days' trial he sat in majestic composure, eyeing Bradshaw, in his scarlet robe and high hat; eyeing the bewildered spectators; eyeing Cromwell half expecting at some shout of God Save the King! the armed force and the nervous populace that packed the hall would turn upon his self-appointed judges.

Then the headsman's arm would be weary of swinging the axe, and those that died for this treason would be a multitude

His sentence was passed in the midst of confusion. "Justice! Execution!" was the cry that followed him from the court of the regicides to Whitehall; from Whitehall to St. James, to the Banqueting House at Whitehhall, that bitter mid-winter day.

But when he passed through the window at the further end of the Banqueting Hall to the scaffold raised in the street, no voice was lifted in mockery or malice. Dense masses of soldiery were far and near, the mournful cries of the populace in the distance were borne weirdly to him by the low wind. And the great pack of Puritan warriors waited in breathless expectancy while thhe King adressed his last speech to Bishop Tuxon and Colonel Tomlinson, inside the window. He spoke with the executioner. He put his flowing hair under a cap. He threw off his coat and gave his "George" to the Bishop saying, "Remember," a word of mystery, of significance. He stood in profound meditation, whispered a brief prayer, and knelt at the block, the alter of expiation, and with one blow his royal head was severed from his body. As if from the hill of Golgotha when the Son of Man gave up the ghost, a simultaneous groan broke from that vast assembly, from the armed Puritans and from the crowded people who neither heard nor saw.

It was consummated. And they wrapped him in the ermine of his rank and called him a martyr. Troops of horse dispersed the crowd and night rung down the curtain on the greatest drama of English history.

Note: - Agnes Strickland says in her "Lives of the Queens of England," to establish the date of execution; "It was found, withal, that no inscription had been placed on the royal coffin. One of the gentlemen present supplied this want by simple but effectual expedient. A band of sheet lead was procured, and they cut out of it with pen knives spaces in the form of large letters so that the words could be read, the leaden band was then lapped round the coffin."

CHARLES REX

"Many absurd tales regarding the disposal of the corpse of Charles I. were circulated among the enemies of Monarchy in the the course of the last century. These were all set at rest by the accidental discovery of the vault containing his remains and those of Henry VIII. and Jane Seymour, which were equally forgotten. King George IV. on the evening of the funeral of his aunt, the Duchess of Brunswick, 1813, went, attended by Sir Henry Halford and several Noblemen, and assisted personally at the opening of Charles I.'s coffin, when the corpse was satisfactorily recognized." Narrative by Sir Henry Halford.

SOME NEW WORLD LYONS

Henry, Thomas and Richard Lyon, Lyons of Glen Lyon in Perthshire, soldiers in Cromwell's army, were on guard before the Banqueting House at Whitehall on January 30th, 1648, and they witnessed the execution of Charles I. A tremendous reaction followed the regicide, and many a Puritan and Covenanter patriot of the insurgent army disappeared from London in the confusion of the horror of the days the headless corpse of the Monarch remained at St. James Palace, till it was deposited in the vaults of the Chapel at Windsor. The King was dead - long live the King! After an interregnum of a few tomorrows another Stuart would come to the throne, and the years of his regent-ruled minority would be a sorry reckoning for those who bore arms against his discrowned and dishonored sire.

The Scots never acted as an integral body. Every clan was an independent force that withdrew at the discretion of its chieftain. The Three Lyon brothers from Glen Lyon, took advantage of a national privilege. They had kinsmen in Middlesex and Norfolk counties who may have kept them in concealment pending a departure of a ship for the Colonies across the sea. over there they had kindred in the new Fatherland of Freemen.

It is a rational supposition that Henry, Thomas, and Richard Lyon landed at New Haven. There lived John Lyne of Badby, Northamptonshire, England, one of that opulent company of two hundred fifty persons who came from London on the ship "Hector" January 12th, 1638, with Theophilus Eaton and Edward Hopkins as their directors and the Puritan divine, John Davenport, as their spiritual guide, to plant an independent colony on the Connecticut Coast. And when the Plantation Covenant was signed, June 4th, 1638, John Lyne affixed his signature among names that became historic when the story of New England was told. They were an anti-Monarchal people strongly in sympanthy with the Parliamentarian party. To their hospitable protection came the Regicides, Goffe and Whalley, in later troublous times. The young Scots from Perthshire were sure of a welcome. Their news was waited for in every town and settlement. But is would be detailed in whispers behind barred doors. Other Lyon emigrants had preceded the three who stood beneath the scaffold at Whitehall, when the second executioner, the grey-beard mask, lifted the bleeding head and announced, "This is the head of a traitor!"

Colonel John Lyon of the Scottish Guards of Henry IV. of France, had a son William Lyon, who was denounced as a heretic at the time of the massacre of St. Batholemew, 1572. He escaped to Holland, and finally came to America with his three children.* The next to come to a remote world were the orphan sons of William and Anne Lyon of Heston, in Middlesex County, England. John Lyon, the eldest, aged 18 years, came in the Ship "Hopewell," Captain Babb, February 12th, 1634. The following year his brother, William Lyon, aged 14 years, came in the "Hopewell," September 1635. John Lyne of New Haven from Badby, Northamptonshire, England, is the fourth on record. With him was his son, Henry Lyne or Lyon. Henry Lyon married Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Harrison of West Kirby, Cheshire, England, the same Richard Harrison who removed from New Haven to Branford, and came with the Branford Colony to Newark, New Jersey, 1666, as one of its founders. Elizabeth Harrison, widow of Henry Lyon, became the third wife of Mr. John Morris,* who was one of the signers of the New Haven Plantation Covenant, and he was one of the Milford Colony that planted Newark. On June 18th, 1668, he and his wife were appointed guardians of Hopestill Lyne, a minor. In the New Jersey archives is a certificate, "that Hopestill Lyne, 6 to 7 years old, the daughter of Henry Lyne of New Haven, the son of John Lyne of Badby, Northamptonshire, which Henry died January 14th, 1662, and had child Hopestill by his wife Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Harrison of West Kirby, Cheshire, England, is still alive, as sworn to by Richard Harrison, Thomas Johnston, William Meeker and Ellen Johnston."

Henry Lyne doubtless spelled his name Lyon.

The sixth on the list of emigrants, is John Lyon, who was at Salem from 1638 to 1648. The seventh is Peter Lyon, probably from Middlesex, England, who was at Dorchester, as a proprietor, 1638, was a freeman 1649 and died before 1694. Then came another English Lyon, Thomas Lyon from Yorkshire, who appeared on Byram River 1640, antedating the advent in that locality of the Scotch Thomas Lyon by thirty-three years. (?) The ninth is Richard Lyon of Cambridge, who was sent from England by Sir Henry Mildmay as a tutor for his son William, at Harvard, 1644. He was coadjutor of President Demster in improving the New England version of the Psalms. Another John Lyon was at Marblehead, 1648. In 1648 came Henry, Thomas and Richard Lyon , Lyons of Glen Lyon. The last of the list is George Lyon of Dorchester, 1666 a freeman, 1669. In 1678 he joined the church at Milton, Mass. He may have been a brother of Peter Lyon of Dorchester.

*His descendants not placed.

*Miswritten Thomas Morris in the copy of the agreement, signed by the Milford Colonists of Newark.

There may be duplications in the roll of first-comers, and the identity of others lost in the mystery of meagre information. I have found no trace of the descendants of William Lyon, the heretic son of Colonel John Lyon of the Scottish Guards of Henry IV. of France. But there may be those in the female line who will make themselves known. John Lyon of Salem, 1638-48, may be the John Lyon of Heston who came in the "Hopewell", 1635, and Thomas Lyon of Yorkshire, who, it is said, was at Byram point in 1640, may have been confused with the Thomas Lyon of Fairfield, whose immediate descendants were so much in evidence from the "Liberty of North Castle," around Byrom Point, and along the River and in the White Plains, "named for the balsam which grew there." This asserted early arrival of the Lyon family at either side of the Connecticut and New York line may be an error of tradition.

Baird states this date is years too early. The late Mr. R. M. Lush,* a descendant of Thomas Lyon of Fairfield, who was familiar with every foot of the district occupied by these pioneers, said the claim that Thomas Lyon and John Banks voyaged to their new possessions in a row boat, 1649, was now rejected by the Lyon families identified with that locality. A small water vehicle was an inadequate means of transportation for a large party. Thomas Lyon had a wife and children, and some of his children were adults. The year before the transplanting of the household, his daughter, Abigail, had married John Banks at Stamford, a wedding that occurreed on April 3rd, 1672, for Mr. Lush places the date of the emigration as 1673. Perhaps, too, there were other families from Fairfield and from Stamford, a goodly company that traveled through a pleasant land, with their chattels and flocks and herds. He left considerable estate behind him, as he shared in all the land divisions of Farfield Township after 1654. However, on Nov. 1st, 1675, he sold his home lot to Daniel Frost, but he retained the rest of his realty. At the time of his death he was a large land holder at Fairfield and Greenwich, and he owned the Mill at Rye, and several acres of land at White plains. Both Thomas Lyon and his son Thomas, were among the inhabitants of Rye in 1683. Lyon's Point, a promontory on the east side of Byram River, extending out into Long Island Sound, now a part of Port chester, was named for the elder Thomas Lyon. Baird, Mead, and Bolton all agree that the Lyon families from Fairfield were Scots, a belief that has never been questioned by the descendants of Thomas, Richard, and Henry Lyon, the emigrants.

*Mr. Lush made extensive Lyon research. He left his notes and papers to the Westchester Co., New York, His. Soc., but they have never been classified. (The data contained in them relating to the Lyon family have, however, been transcribed, through the courtesy of the custodians of the collection, and will be found in subsequent pages of the Lyon Memorial. - A. B. L.).

The will of Thomas Lyon is dated Dec. 6th, 1689. He appointed his wife, Mary Lyon, executrix and his sons, John and Samuel executors of his estate. John, the eldest Son, as if by the right of primogeniture, was given a double portion of the estate, the Mill at Rye, and several acres of land at White Plains. Thomas(2) was given the home lot on the Byram River, other lands and the weaver's loom. Samuel received several pieces of land at Greenwich, Joseph received his father's dwelling house, barn and home lot on the nothward part of the orchard, and a pasture on the eastward side of a big highway that goes into the Neck, all his rights and privileges in all divided and undivided lands at Greenwich, Rye, and Fairfield. His five daughters, Mary, Abigail, Elizabeth, Deborah and Sarah, were given portions in money. He also remembered his grandson, Thomas, son of John Lyon.*

John Lyon, son of Thomas(1), increased his estate at Rye. On Feb. 27th, 1698-9, at a meeting of the proprietors of the town, it was agreed "that we doe impower the aforesaid men (Hecaliah Brown,

*For descendants of Thomas Lyon, etc., see Baird's "Hist. of Rye" and Bolton's "Hist. of Westchester," (A full account of this family, edited by Robert B. Miller of Brooklyn, genealogist, will form the subject of the third volume of the Lyon Memorial. - A. B. L.)

Deliverance Brown, John Merritt, Robert Bloomer and John Stockham) to bargain with and sell unto John Lyon a certain tract of land lying up Byram River, if they shall see good and convenient soe to doe," and to John Lyon was confirmed "a parcel of land lying against the Mill Creek between the cartway down into the Neck and the Mill Creek bounded up the said Creek by John Hoit's meddow and to run down the said Creek till it comes to John Boyd's meddow provided the said John Lyon doe not praidice the catway into the Neck, nor the way to the Mill, neither shall hee hinder any parson from settin up thare field fence if they have occasion." Another record that concerns John Lyon is dated Rye, Sept. 20th, 1697. "At a towne meeting Capt. Theall, John Horton, Joseph Purdy, Hecaliah Brown, John Lyon, Thomas Merrit, and Isaac Denman, are chosen as a Commity for the Management and carrying on of the worke of building a meeting house for the town of Ry, and also for the appointing of a place where it shall set, and the above meeting house shall not acsed above thirty square feet."

The seating space of this place of worship speaks for the size of the congregation, which doubtless comprised every family in the settlement.

The undivided White Plains Purchase was under the watchful protection of the men of Rye. In April, 1699, "John Lyon and Isaac Denman were chosen to laye out a road to White Plains, beginning at the head of Capt. Theall's land and so to run to the caseaway (causeway) brook." On the 17th of that month it is on record that, "The town hath past an act that the Rode shall continue..... Up to the White Playnes, where John Lyon and Isaac Denman have marked it out, and the said road shall be 3 rods in breadth."

John Lyon was living at Greenwich in 1710. He had a son Thomas, who was mentioned in the will of his grandfather, Thomas Lyon, Sen., and a son John Jr., who married the widow, had a mill on Blind Brook Creek, 1719. This was the grist mill mentioned in the Royal Patent for Budd's Neck (Rye). The patent was subsequently divided among the following proprietors: James Gadney, 102 acres; Daniel Purdy, drummer of Rye, 40 acres; John Carpenter, a portion joining Mamaroneck River; Mr. William Browness of Rye, 2 acres; that portion called the gusset to Jos. Ogden; a second of 30 acres to Joseph Lyon; Daniel Purdy, 3 acres; Monmouth Hart 15 acres; James Wood, 5 acres; Archibald Tilford, 18 acres; the residue to John Budd.

John Lyon was the ancestor of the Lyons of North Castle. Among the North Castle Lyons was Capt. Roger Lyon of the Westchester Militia, and Capt. Gilbert Lyon, of the Continental Army.

Richard Lyon, emigrant and soldier in Cromwell's army, from Glen Lyon in Perthsire, Scotland, appeared at Faidfield, Conn., as early as 1648, the year of the regicide. His house and home lot of 2 acres, was recorded Jan., 1653. He was made freeman 1664, the year that his brother Henry returned to Milford. In 1673, the year that his brother Thomas went to Byram River, he received 5 acres of land at Barlow Plains and sixteen and a half acres on the Rocks was granted to him for a building lot, bounded N. W. and N. E. by the highway. Five years later he died, the first of the three brothers to go to another afar New World, a world Celestiial, none of the three destined ever to return to their "ain countrie." From the tenor of his will, dated April 12th, 1678, it is surmised that Margaret Lyon was his second wife, and that he had two sets of children, Moses, Richard(2) (a minor), William, and Hester forming one group; and Joseph and Samuel (both minors), forming another. It would appear that he had little faith in the staying qualities of Margaret's grief, when he discriminated against her by giving her only a widowhood tenure in his estate. She must have been young and comely, and to leave her a fee simple portion was making wedding gift to her second husband. However, there is no record at Fairfield to disclose that she relinquished her dower to assume another name. To son Moses he gave one third of the length of the homeward side of his land at Pequonock, one-fifth the length of the long lot on the S. W. side of the lands, his gun, his rapier, his biggest pewter platter, and confirmed lands already given to this son.

Richard(2), when of age, was to have one-third of the Pequonock land, 150 acres acres of the length of the long lot East of Moses' part, and other lands; William received one-third of the land at Pequonock, one-fifth of the length of the long lot East of Richard(2)'s share, other lands, his long gun, back sword and belt. (This is another evidence that in Colonial wills children are not mentioned in sequence of birth). To his wife, Margaret Lyon, Richard(1) gave 60 pounds, his house and home lot, while she remained unmarried, and the use of Joseph's and Samuel's land during their minority.

Samuel and Joseph were to have the homestead when they came of age and one-fifth of the long lot was to be divided between them. Hester, the eldest daughter, wife of Nathaniel Perry, received 4 pounds, and her husband and her son Joseph Perry, were to have 3 pounds in carting and plowing. Three minor daughters, Betty, Hannah, and Abigail, were to have 4 pounds each when they came of age. A cousin, Mary Fitch, was remembered with a gift of 7 pounds. And each portion of his estate was entailed on the survivors, if any child died.

Richard had been at Fairfield twenty-seven years, and was probably born 1623.

Moses(2), son of Richard(1) Lyon, died before 1696. He had a wife Mary ----. The baptism of no child of his appears on the Fairfield Parish records.

Richard(2), son of Richard(1) Lyon, had Samuel, Ebenezer and Sarah baptized April 5th, 1696; Daniel, Oct. 3rd, 1699; Nathan, Feb. 13th, 1703, and Jonathan, June 1st, 1708.

William(2), son of Richard(1) Lyon, had Nathaniel baptized Sept. 9th 1694; William(3), Feb. 16th, 1698; Benjamin, Sept. 8th, 1700. Eunice, baptized Sept. 1st, 1716, and Tabitha, Jan. 22d, 1720, were probably children of William(3).

Samuel(2), son of Richard(1) Lyon, of Fairfield and Greenfield Hill, had a wife, Susanna. He had Samuel, James, John and Margaret baptized Mar. 12th, 1704; Abigail, May 12th, 1706; Ephraim, Sept. 27th, 1708; Anne, Aug. 6th, 1710; Jeremiah, April, 1713.

Joseph,(2) son of Richard(1) Lyon, had wife Mary, nee Jackson. He had Joseph, baptized July 28th, 1695; David, June 27th, 1697. This family set- at Pequonock, Greenfield Hill, and Green Farms.

Ephraim(3) Lyon, baptized Sept. 27th, 1708, son of Samuel Lyon and grandson of Richard(1) Lyon, had a son Ephraim, born 1737, who was a soldier in the War of independence. Later, this second Ephraim* was a lawyer in the town of Ashford, Conn. He married Esther Bennett, and died 1798. Among the nine children of Ephraim and Esther Lyon was Amasa Lyon, born Nov. 19th, 1771, died April 11th, 1842. He married Keziah Knowlton and among their nine children was Nathaniel Lyon (General Nathaniel Lyon), born July 14th, 1818, who died at the battle of Wilson's Creek, Missouri, Aug. 10th, 1861.*

*Dr. Woodward, in his Life of General Lyon, states that Ephraim Lyon of Ashford was the third Ephraim in lineal descent, but does not trace his lineage more definitely, although he states that he was of Scotch descent. He served May 5 to Nov. 1, 1758, under Capt. Jedediah Fay, of Ashford in the French and Indian war. He married in Ashford in 1762; wife Esther Bennett; the births of his nine children are recorded in Ashford, indicating continuous residence

Nathaniel Lyon etc.

During the American Civil War, Sidney S. Lyon, Major of Engineers, the father of the writer, made the acquaintance of Gen. Nathaniel Lyon. Their name called for genealogical exchanges, and kinship was established. Each had the identical tradition, viz: Three brothers Lyons of Glen Lyon in Perthshire, Scotland, at the time of the Civil War in England were soldiers in Cromwell's army. The day of the execution of Charles I. these three were on guard at the scaffold before the Banqueting House at Whitehall on Jan. 30th, 1648, and witnessed the regicide. Immediately after the execution they fled to the colonies. One brother settled in Connecticut, one went to New York and the third removed to New Jersey. Dr. Woodward, who some years ago wrote the "Life of Gen. Nathaniel Lyon," must have obtained from a brother or a sister of the dead soldier that the Ashford Lyon family was descended from Scottish ancestry. A belief is entertained that Thomas, Richard and Henry Lyon descended in a direct line from the Master of Glamis. Douglas's Peerage gives but one son of Sir Thomas Lyon, John Lyon of Auldbar, who served as heir Aug. 6th, 1608, and died without issue. He may have had sons and grandsons of whom no record is preserved, soldiers who were slain in the Civil War or fled into life-time exile beyond the sea. But there were other branches of the Lyon family of Scotland.

there from 1763 to 1784, and he died there 1798. There were living in Ashford descendants of William Lyon, of Roxbury; it is natural to suppose that Ephraim was also of that family, and this the Woodstock Lyons firmly believe. It is hardly possible that the Ephraim Lyon of Fairfield, wife Ann Adams, appointed Lieutenant in a company of militia in North Fairfield in May 1774 (Conn. Colonial Rec.), and who was a militia captain, called out in the New haven alarm July, 1779, was the Ephraim of Ashford. - A. B. L.

*For Gen. Nathaniel Lyon see Lyon Memorial, Massachusetts Families, p. 136.

When John Lyon, eighth Lord Glamis made an entail of his estates of Glamis, Towndyce, and Baky in Forfashire; Cullen, Buttergask, Longforgard and Inchture in Perthshire; Bellelvic, Ardendracht, Collistown, Coustertown and Drumgowen in Aberdeenshire, besides himself and the male heirs of his body, he gave those eligible through lineage, as Thomas Lyon, his brother; John Lyon of Haltown of Esse; James Lyon of Easter Ogill; John Lyon of Culwalogy, and the male heirs of their bodies respectively, which failing, to his own nearest heirs, male, whatsoever bearing the name and arms of Lyon, by Charter dated 23rd of April, 1567. This was but eighty-one years before Thomas, Richard and Henry Lyon appeared in Connecticut in 1648. They belonged to one of these five families descended from John de Lyon, Feudal Baron of Fortevoit, but the name of their Scottish ancestor is lost out of tradition. But such research as has gone into the compilation of the "Lyon Memorial" may disclose the names that will connect the New World Lyons of New England, New York and New Jersey, with the Old World Lyons of England and Scotland.

To return to the third of the Lyon brothers from Glen Lyon, Henry Lyon, to outline his eighteen years in New England.

In 1639 a company of religious disputants, a split-off from Wethersfield Church, joined with a few families from other places, fifty-four souls in all, bought a tract of land down on the coast of Long Island Sound, and planted Milford. Thomas Tibabls, who, tradition says, led the party through the Connecticut wilderness, selected a favorable site, and the new settlement was destined to become a sea-port. Ships, after a long ocean voyage came up the Sound and dropped anchor in the safe harbor below the Mill dam, to land home-seekers and supplies, and after a time a ship indusry added to the prosperity of the hamlet, and sloops were built for the long-shore traffic.

It is not positively known just who were the first comers at Wepowang. Lambert's "History of New Have County" gives a list of Milford Planters, with numbers of home lots attached said to have been made Nov. 29, 1639. There are sixty-six names on this list, but there are no records at Milford to bear out the impression this would give that the company from Wethersfield and neighborhood settlements was several hundred strong. An unmarried man was a suspicious stranger and the annual baby did more for the Connecticut census than the emigrant additions to the population. Of the fifty-four souls that trudged through the wilderness to the new purchase, two-thirds of the foot-tired travelers were women and children.

Lambert's list was certainly made from the town plat drawn at a subsequent period. The men that bought Wepowang and took possession of their purchase in August, were not keeping a Town Book in November. Cabin-building, stockade-building and how to provide for the nearing winter were the only matters that engaged these work-weary folk in an Indian land.

The original records have been sacredly preserved, and the present Town Book is an accurate transcription from the worn, time-browned records begun in 1649, which is the earliest date shown on any Milford document, outside of the Church records, a positive proof that a Town Book was a long-felt want before a book appropriate for this purpose was obtained.

Newark could not procure a book to record lands and town expenses for several years after the Passiac settlement was planted, which was fully thirty years after the first Wepowang cabin was under roof. The cost was great, and money scarce and these London-bound volumes were not to be had by every hamlet within a month's journey of Boston.

Someone may have had an ink-horn, geese were common fowl, and quills were the pens of long ago, but the fly-leaf of a Bible was perhaps the only bit of paper at hand to serve as a register of marriages, births and deaths. Each man stepped off his own town lot, so many paces to the acre, and established his own lines by witness trees till Robert Treat, the young surveyor, got the leisure to inspect imaginary metes and bounds and drove corner stakes, as witness stones, for the several planters, who need be none too particular if his homestead tract contained more than 300 square rods. They were so few, and as far as the eye could reach was theirs. When William Fowler built a grist mill on the banks of the little river he was given thirty acres of land and perpetual use of the stream. And why not, in this miles wide country that God had given to the chosen of Israel, just as he gave Caanan to the hosts of Moses.

The General Court, November 24, 1640, changed the name of the settlement to Milford, a befitting designation when mills were few and far between. Then it was a decent supercedence of an ungodly Indiah appellation.

To this growing community, in 1648, came Henry Lyon, one of the three brothers from Glen Lyon. He was a young man, born, perhaps about 1625. When he came to die in 1703, he had minor children and his will excites no suspicion of approcahing senility. A generous and cordial welcome must have been accorded to the stranger Scot, a Round-head soldier.

He brought the verification of the rumor of terrible happenings at home, and the tales he told to his breathless listeners were tremendous National facts that make the most astounding pages in English history.

Robert Treat, the chief amongst them, the first town clerk, the first Justice of the Peace, was doubtless the foremost interrogator. The vital question was the supremacy of the Parliament over the Colonies. Nature, as a birthright, had given this man the qualifications of a soldier and a statesman, which he proved when he led the Milford militia at the battle of Bloody Brook, and as Governor of Connecticut, when Sir Edmund Andros essayed to wrest from the province the charter, which Wadsworth saved, under the cover of darkness, and concealed in the historic oak.

He had neither name nor fame when Henry Lyon reviewed the recent past and impending possibilities. The spirit of civil independence was the soul of Puritanism. The Power that created the heaven and the earth, and divided the waters that were under the firmament, had placed a raging sea between a monarchal despotism and those who were capable of self-government. The Great I Am was their liege Lord, and the Bible their Magna Charta. Hope looked for a riddance of King-supremacy and King-oppression. Their headship was a governor who should proceed from their midst, provided out of all the people. The throne was toppled and the crown broken asunder. Their hearts beat time to the measures of Miriam's song, and the song of Deborah. They were out of bondage, and Sisera had perished!

Cromwell and Hampden were the heroes of heroes to these democratic, theocratic folk of Milford. But there were minor heroes, there in the tremendous sum of Puritan effort and Puritan achievement. Here was one who had stood below the scaffold when the Stuart tyrant paid the debt of his sins against the people. So they bade the young man to stay with them, to share all their rights and privileges, to build himself a house, and to bring up a family. The Town Book shows "That Henry Lyon hath for his home lott three acres, be it more or less, bounded with a highway west, the comon east, John Stream's south, Thomas Hines' north," and that "Henry Lyon hath two acres of meadow, bee it more or less, lying in the Calves Pen Meadow, bounded with the comon north and west, with John Stream's east and Thomas Hines' South."

The first mention of Henry Lyon at Milford is in the records of the First Church. Among "Persons added to the church, Feb. 24th, 1649," was Henry Lyon. This was during the ministry of the Rev. Peter Prudden, who was ordained pastor April 18th, 1640, and continued in that office till his death in July, 1656. It was a twelvemonth between the flight from London and this admission to Milford Church. Church fellowship was a requisite qualification for a person who desired to be Free Planter. But it was the age of Old Testament religion, when not to be a member in good standing meant social ostracism. And Henry Lyon kept the faith from the day he entered Milford meeting house in 1649 till he entered into everlasting rest at Newark, 1703.

He built a home on the land set out to him by the Proprietors' Committee, for he not only retained his "home lott," beyond the required two years, but other estate was partitioned to him: "Henry Lyon hath for his Second Division of Land three acres and a halfe, and for his halfe Division of Land one acre and three roods, and is Equall it to other Land one Rood and twelve pole, in all five acres and a halfe, and twelve pole, bee it more or less, lying on bare hill bounded with a highway East, with John Streams' North, with the Comon West, with Thomas Hines' South. Also for satisfaction to Equall his meadow, he hath halfe an acre, be it more or less, lying in the Calves Pen Meadow - bounded with a creek north, and west with the Comon, and Thomas Hines' east, with Richard Platt's south." (Note this halfe acre of meadow and twelve pole of upland on bare hill is not to be charged with rates)."

As with the home lot, there is no date to show when Henry Lyon became owner of these additional acres lying on the bare hill, too poor to be charged with rates. His sojourn at Milford was so short he had no prominence in its public affairs, therefore it is difficult to outline his course in the little seaport, the very world's end to a soldier and an exile in a land of exiles. There must have been bright and handsome girls among the daughters of the Milford planters, and the bachelor Scott could have found a wife, as was expected of him, if he had gone a-wooing. Fairfield was not far off, and it had other attractions besides being the place of indwelling of Richard Lyon - attractions that dimmed the eyes of Henry Lyon to the graces of the Milford damsels, and dulled his ears to the sweetness of their singing, at the wheel and at the loom.

To that plantation about 1650, came Mr. William Bateman. He had been in the colonies for some years, probably came in the fleet with Winthrop in 1630. It is said that he was entitled to a coat of arms. At Boston he took the oath, and was made freeman on May 18th, 1631. Seven years later he was at Charlestown, and may have removed to Chelmsford before coming to Fairfield. Mr. Bateman had a daughter Elizabeth, who must have been born after her parents left England. When Henry Lyon went to visit his brother he met the Bateman family, and in May of 1652 he married Elizabeth Bateman. On the 4th of May of that year he was granted a homestead and home lot at Fairfield. It is not probable that he took his young wife to Milford to live in the log cabin on home lot number 26 in the Calves Meadow at the foot of the bare hill.

On May 28th, 1654, he was dismissed from Milford Church to Fairfield Church, thus severing his connection with his first home in America; a Milford planter for so brief a time he left no record of his name there but his admittance to the church, February 24th, 1649, the description of lands he received, and his dismissal to Fairfield Church, May 28th, 1654. His brothers, Thomas and Richard Lyon, are mentioned in connection with the last record. Henry Lyon is the only Lyon who lived at Milford previous to the emigration to New Jersey in 1666.

In addition to the home lot southwest of Sealey's Neck, Henry Lyon acquired other property at Fairfield. February 4th, 1654, he purchased of William Bateman a home lot and dwelling house, lying southeast of the New Town Square. Five or six children were born to in him the house southwest of Sealey's Neck and in the house near the New Town Square. In the latter house his father-in-law must have died, a widowed man who lived with his only daughter. William Bateman, in his will, dated March 24th, 1656, admitted to probate October 20th, 1658, says in part: "That for what estate shall be left after my decease The one-half I bequeath unto my son, Thomas Bateman, now of Concord, And the other half that Doth remayn I give unto my Son-in-law, Henry Lyon, except five pounds which I give Unto my grandchild, Joseph Middlebrooke, to be payd when he cometh to eighteen years of age. And in case the seyd Joseph Middlebrooke shall Dye before he come to the Sayd Age, then my Will is that the sayd five pounds Shall be equally Divided between my sayd sonn Thomas and Henry.

"And further my will is that my Sayd Sonn Henry Lyon shall be my executor of this my last will and testament."

This document gives proof of the esteem and confidence Henry Lyon inspired in the father of his wife.

There is no baptismal record of any child of Henry Lyon and Elizabeth Bateman in their old Connecticut home. When Fairfield was burned by the British in 1779 many pages of Fairfield history were effaced forever. The names of the children of Richard Lyon's sons, and the children of Thomas Lyon's son, John Lyon, appear on the Church Book, the earliest date of a Lyon baptism being that of Nathaniel Lyon, September 9th 1694, a son of William Lyon and a grandson of Richard Lyon.

Elizabeth Bateman, wife of Henry Lyon, was not admitted to Milford Church, and her eldest son, Thomas Lyon, was not christened by the Rev. Peter Prudden. Her first and last sojourn there, if she was ever there at all, was during the preparation for the removal to New Jersey. The little ships that carried the Passaic Pilgrims may have anchored at different points along the Long Island Sound to pick up families with their goods and their cattle.

For eighteen years Henry Lyon had lived in Connecticut, four or five years at Milford and thirteen or fourteen years at Fairfield. may have talked him into making a change with the other prognostic planters of New Haven Colony, incensed by the absorption of the lesser commonwealth by the stronger colony. It was an almost desperate undertaking. A transplanted people did not always prosper. They were leaving known vexations and trials for unknown troubles and perils. Sadness and uncertainty made a raven's nest in the hearts of the home-seekers. First one black thought, then another, croaked a lament or a foreboding. Home was the dear habitation they had forsaken for a shelter of logs that were yet to be hewn. They were leaving beloved ones for a life-long absence. Every new settlement was a place of graves. The heroism of political conviction sustained the men. But the women and children wondered how one King could differ from another, stilly complaining to themselves of the robbery committed against them in this separation from kindred and friends and in the loss of their own familiar dwelling. And the salt waves mocked these helpless creatures of unuttered mourning, of little understanding of Human Progress in the Divine Scheme.

HENRY LYON OF NEWARK

Cromwell's death was calamitous to the peace of mind of the people of the colonies. Charles I. was too harassed with home troubles for a harsh and arbitrary supervision of his trans-Atlantic subjects, and the Lord Protector was too wise in his government to disturb the communal rule in the Puritan Settlements over sea. The accession of Charles II. brought dismay to every town and plantation in New England. Long ago the loyalty of the absentee English, Scotch, and Welshmen had ceased to be a subservient habit of necessity. Their children had never been taught to serve and reverence any king but Jehovah God. A locust-cloud blackened their horizon. Nothing but the direst tribulation was to be expected from a sovereign whose memory of the regicide was attended with a meditated avengement of the murder of his royal father, to be visited upon all connected with the crime, directly or indirectly, and upon their children and grandchildren. They knew their own helplessness. A strenuous conscience makes no compromises. Most reluctantly these aggressive republicans, in 1661, acknowledged the Stuart "to be the lawful king of Great Britain, France and Ireland, and all other territories thereto belonging." But it was traitorous submission. When a price was set upon the heads of Goffe and Whalley, New Haven and Milford received the Roundhead Generals as their very own, when Edward Whalley was Cromwell's cousin and Hampden's cousin, and William Goffe's wife, Whalley's daughter, was Cromwell's kinswoman. A migratory impulse beset the apprehensive planters, and measures were taken to find a new home. But a secret negotiation with the Dutch authorities ended without results. This was resumed in 1663, after Governor John Winthrop, Jr. in 1662, through personal influeence, had obtained a Royal Charter for the consolidation of the two colonies in Connecticut, without the knowledge and consent of New Haven, Milford, Branford, Guilford and Stamford. These towns were in a ferment. Milford, in the end, advised by Robert Treat, accepted an inevitable where every male was a freeman, in the church or out of it. Branford would have "neither part nor lot" in the unrighteous conditions.

This year, 1665, Philip Carteret arrived from England in the ship "Philip" to take possession of certain lands transferred by the Duke of York to Lords Berkeley and Carteret. Previous to this time, a company from Long Island had received a grant from Governor Nicholls of New York for a tract beyond Achter Col (a stretch of country back of the bay and south of Manhattan Island), and four families had settled at what is now the City of Elizabeth. The Englishman had come to stay, to develop an ambition of building up a petty kingdom of his own. Emigrants were desired to dispossess the savages and to people the fairest acreage on earth, and persuasive agents were sent to the New England Colonies with certain "concessions" bound to entice the New Haven Colony Congregationalists. Milford saw an answer-to-prayer opportunity for relief, and a committee, headed by Treat, went down to New Jersey on a tour of inspection. Several sites were considered. But after an interview with Carteret, the site on the Passaic was selected, and the committee went home to report of the fine grass lands along the river, and of the pine forest between the Passaic and the Hackensack*.

In the spring of 1666 several small vessels, bearing the first little band of Passaic Pilgrims, set sail from Milford harbor below Fowler's Mill for a new world to establish a lasting theocracy. They weathered the Hell Gate in safety, passed through New York Bay and Kill Van Kull, and entered the Passaic River, hope-elated by the sight of the "rich meadow land and the timber on the hills," eager to land their chattels and their kine and begin life anew under free and happy conditions. But it was not that day that Lieut. Samuel Swaine's daughter, Elizabeth, set foot on Jersey soil, the first woman colonist to leave the ship.

Under the "concessions" the lands were to be taken up by warrants from the Governor. This was a clear title, if Treat had chosen to think so, as red men's immemorial rights to planting grounds and hunting grounds were seldom respected. He must have talked of a quit-claim from the aboriginal owners, for Carteret gave the Puritan of exact conscience a letter to the Sachem which was supposed would give peaceable and immediate possession to the tract. The paleface intruders were warned off by hostile demonstrations, and made a hurried retreat to their ships without attempting to parley with the Indians. A messenger was sent to the Governor, and Carteret sent Sam Edsal up from Bergen Neck to interpret at a pow-pow and arrange a second purchase of the lands, if Treat and his company chose to pay twice for their plantation. The Captain and several of the Milford men went up the Hackensack for a conference with the dusky proprietors.

Treat left an account of the transaction: "One Perro laid claim to the said Passaic lands which is now called Newark, and the result of our treaty was that we obtained of a body of said Indians to give us a meeting at Passaic, and soon after they came, all the proprietors, viz., Perro and his kindred with the Sagamores that were able to travel - Orston being very old, but approved of Perro's acting, and then we acted by the advice, order and approbation of the said Governor (who was troubled for our sakes), and also our interpreters, the said Governor approving of them (one John Capteen, a Dutchman, and Samuel Edsal) and was willing and approved that we should purchase a Tract of Land for a Township."

The following is the Bill of Sale:

"July 11, 1667. Wee the Indians Wapamuk, Wamesane, Peter, Caplamin, etc., doe sell, alienate, make over and confirm all our Rights, Titles and interest of us, our heirs and successors forever, unto the said lands to Mr. Obediah Bruen, Mr. Samuel Kichell, Michael Tompkins, John Brown and Robert Denison, Townsmen and agents for the English inhabitants of Passayak, to have, hold and dispose of without claim, Let or Molestation from ourselves."

For this land, which extended to the Orange Mountains, the settlers from Connecticut agreed to give "50 double hands of powder, 100 bars of lead, 20 axes, 20 coats, 10 guns, 20 pistols, 10 kettles, 10 teapots, 4 blankets, 4 barrels of beere, 10 paire of breetches, 50 knives, 20 bowes, 850 Fathoms of Wampum, 2 ankors of Licquers or something equivalent, and 3 trooper's coats."

Gold and silver they had none. In a traffic of exchange of articles the "red devils" got so many weapons and so much ammunition for so many acres of meadow, woods and uplands. While the negotiation was in progress with the deliberate tribes, the first town meeting of Newark was held on board one of the small ships anchored in the harbor. When the Milford men met together with the agents sent from Gellford and Branford, to ask on behalf of their undertakers and selves with reference to a township or allotments, "It was agreed that the Connecticut emigrants would form one town, if consent was received between this and the last of October next issueing, according to fundamentals mutually agreed upon; do desire to be one heart and consent, through God's blessing with one hand they may endeavor to carry on spiritual concernment, also civil and town affairs." At a meeting in Branford the two fundamental agreements were framed and signed. Its authors may have been the Rev. Abraham Pierson and Mr. Jasper Crane, one the minister and the other the captain of the Branford Colonists, "able men, men of truth" - a document where one may read between lines of the strong and godly stuff our theocratic forebears were made of:

It is doubtful if Henry Lyon brought his family with him the first year. He was in Connecticut in the spring of 1667, either wintered at Fairfield or Milford, or returned to bring his wife and children to their new home in New Jersey, for "At a gathering at Derby to divide the land, John Brownell sold his right to Thomas Hone, who sold his right to Henry Lyon, who finally sold to Henry Botsford, whose name and right appears on the first map of ownership of home lot of 1 1/2 acres and upland of 4 acres."

Lads of fourteen were included with adult males in land distributions. Young Thomas Lyon's name appears among the Branford men as receiving home lot 23, and young Samuel Lyon's name appears among the Milford men as receiving home lot 39.

Property was in abundance, and childhood was sadly abbreviated in a place where there was no school. In winter the children were mother-taught or father-taught to read the Bible. It was the only book possessed by most families, and to be familiar with the Laws and the Prophets, the Gospels and the Epistles was a liberal education. Play-time was a sinful waste of daylight to these religion-awed, task-weary boys and girls.

Some of the planters were college-bred men (their minister, Rev. Abraham Pierson, was a graduate of Trinity College, Cambridge), and but few of them were untaught. They realized the importance of having their children, their sons especially, instructed in the rudiments. But after the stipend of eighty pounds was collected for the pastor there was no money to pay a schoolmaster, if these work-tired lads could be spared from farm labor.

A sense of insecurity stayed with the planters, with their wives and children. The meeting-house was fortified against a sudden attack, and the men in the fields and the clearing went armed, and the "look-out" was a child that kept watch through the sowing and tilling and reaping, and while the fuel was cut for winter. They meant to keep faith with the tribes, and by fair dealing earned themselves the after title of "The Doers of Justice." But constant nerve-trying, heart-trying vigilance went with their kindness to the savages. Intrusion could not be repulsed nor trespass punished.

*Thomas Morris presumed to be John Morris, an error made when the old town book was transcribed.

Carteret looked with disapproving suspicion on this friendly attitude with the Indians and remembered the ridiculous Bill of Sale. In buying the land outright from its natural owners, these Puritan planters might decline to pay the half penny per acre on their patents, which fell due on March 25th. When the time neared, a letter was sent to the Newarkers reminding them of their quit-rents to the proprietors. After an exciting town meeting, a dignified reply was returned to the Governor, "That they do hold and possess their Lands and Rights in the said Town, both Civil and Divine Rights as by their Legall purchase and Articles do show. As for the payment of the half penny per acre for all our allotted Lands, according to our Articles and Interpretation of them, you assuring them to us, We are ready when the time comes to perform our Duty to the Lords and their assigns."

It was decided at the town meeting "that Henry Lyon and others should take and receive every Man's Just Share and proportion of Wheat for his Land - the summer wheat at 4s. per Bus'l and the Winter wheat at 5s., according to the order and Time Perfixed to them to Bring it to Johnson's House before the day be over, or if they fail they are to double the quantity, which Corn the said Lyon and Johnson is tomorrow to Carry to Elizabeth Town, and made a tender Thereof to the Governor upon the account of the Lords Proprietors rent for the land we make use of."

Henry Lyon, Newark's first Treasurer, held the office for five consecutive years, from 1668 to 1673. He was custodian of the public funds. It fell to him and Thomas Johnson, the first town constable, to receive the tax wheat of the planters, to measure each man's proportion as the sacks were emptied and to convey the wains to Elizabeth Town and deliver the grain to the Governor. There was exhilaration in the triumph of the first payment. But the public-spirit promptitude of the planters diminished considerably by the March of 1670, when at the Town Meeting preceding the 20th of that month. "It was agreed that Henry Lyon and Thos. Johnson shall goe to our Governor in Behalf of the Town, make a Tender to Him in Good Wheat of their Half Penny pr. Acre to Him for the Lords Proprietors, in like manner as they did the Last years. Appointed in Case that he will Accept the same - that then they are fully empowered to give Notice by the Warners of the Town, for every one to Bring in his proportion of Corn to the Constable's House the Morning of the Day appointed by 7 or 8 O'clk. that they may send it to their Governor, and take a discharge of Him for the same; and they are at least to Bring as Much as they did Last year, and More if they see Cause."

Under existing conditions Henry Lyon was a public slave rather than a public servant. Money was not expected in the settlement of debts and taxes. Produce stood for pence and pounds. To keep the records of the receipts and expenditures of a town of weights and measures was drudgery of mind and drudgery of body for the Town Treasurer.

There were two rates in use, the minister's rate and the town rate. Mr. Pierson was to receive eighty pounds a year for his stipend, and a hundred and sixty pounds were required for the town expenses. One of the duties of the Constable was "to Collect and Gather up the Town Rate." Every planter was assessed according to the value of his estate. The expense of bringing their pastor from Connecticut had to be met, and Mr. Pierson's "living" assured. Then there was the rate "for the Payment of Every Man's Share of the Purchase." Where the coin was to come from must have perplexed every householder in Newark, abridged his sleep and made the discipline of denial the rule in every family there.

Not one penny of the levy was for a salary for the treasurer or for any other town officer. Then, besides a lack of adequate emolument, there was the tyrannic supervision and comment of the town fathers, trying to the Scotch temper and Scotch pride of Henry Lyon.

However, he was vested with a peculiar authority which made him one of the foremost at Newark. On September 10th, 1668, "It was agreed that Henry Lyon and others shall have the sole Power to hear every Man's reason for his or their Absence, Late Coming or disorderly departing or withdrawing from any of our Town Meetings, having Legall Warning thereto; and thereupon to Aquit them, or Return the names of them that they release not, but are by the order signed unto the Constable or such officer as the Town shall appoint to receive them, for the use of the said Town." To preserve propriety of speech and manner in the plantation assembly, and to visit personal wrath and personal penalty on the obstreperous Newark taxpayers gave the Treasurer a degree of despotic control over his fellow planters.

In the third year of the New Jersey theocracy Mr. Camfield and Thomas Johnson were appointed as a "Committee to be adjoined to the Treasurer to heare and determine what and how much shall pass upon account of Men's demands for this year past. And it is to be agreed that all accounts before that hath not been allowed already shall not be admitted to account Hence Forth." Later another committee was formed "to make inquiry into the old Treasurer's Accounts, and what they find to rectify if they can."

"If any one stood indebted to the Town in the Treasureer's Book" beyond a certain number of days, that official was expected to inspect the smokehouse and barn of the delinquent planter to see of "he hath neither Meat nor Corn to pay." If there was neither bacon nor grain in store, then "the Treasurer should engage him in a Way to pay their debt with Timber - but if they will not pay the reckon, then the Constable shall come with a Warrant to distract it."

For five years Henry Lyon bore the heat and burden of the day as a public duty to the plantation he had helped to plant. He carried out the Agreements of the Town Meeting with intelligent thoroughness, and the honesty was exact to the last kernel of the tax wheat. It was irksome and arduous where there were planters who got behind-hand with their grain, and planters who had to be constable-compelled to bring in their proper proportion of the taxes. Such Newarkers as Mr. Jasper Crane, Thomas Huntington, Lieut. Samuel Swaine, Nathaniel Wheeler, Jonathan Sargeant, were prompt in their several tax obligations. But there were family-burdened widows, farmers who made but a half crop, and shiftless farmers who were many bushels short year after year. Furthermore, there were planters who must have disputed with the Treasurer over a shrinkage in quantity of their asserted full proportion of the rate, for in 1671 every man in the Passaic Plantation was compelled by a town meeting edict to bring his half bushel measure to Henry Lyon and Joseph Waters "to have them Tryed and Sealed when made fit with Mr. Crane's, which for the present is the Standard - they (Henry Lyon and Joseph Waters) shall have two pence per piece for sealing with the Small Town Brand, or N."

This two pence was a poor compensation for wearisome days devoted to the common good of the community. Hard feeling had to be borne from those who would not pay and from those who could not pay. It took character to sustain a man under such difficult circumstances, the utmost tact or a dominant sternness. At any rate, Henry Lyon was chosen for his fitness from among the colonists of New Haven, Milford and Branford, for the same reason that he was made Keeper of the Ordinary. In the latter position, none but the most approved in any settlement was appointed to this authoritative responsibility.

A mill and a church were built as indispensable edifices, one almost as necessary for the well-being of these Puritan folk as the other. As they increased in numbers and their limits extended, Robert Treat, who was their first Town Clerk, was directed to make an official record of all incorporated lands. The Treasurer was ordered "to do his best endeavor to procure a Book for the Records of the Lands." When and where Henry Lyon got it and what Newark paid for it is lost from local history, but if it took the best endeavor to secure it, books of this kind were not to be had in the Province of New Jersey. Doubtless it was imported from "home." At a Town Meeting July 5th, 1673, the following item became a matter of record: "Henry Lyon and others are chosen to agree with Mr. Delevall about Money to send a Messenger to England, and as they did agree with him, it should be paid by the Town." This very messenger may have brought over the "Book for the Records of the Lands;" If not, some other trusty agent was dispatched on this errand by the Newark government.

The Town Meeting planters depended on their Treasurer, expecting the miracle of whatsoever they required of him. His judgment must have been of great value. On March 30th, 1668-9, it was agreed that "the matter of Captain Bollen's Demands in his Letters shall be wholly referred and left with Mr. Camfield, Swain, Henry Lyon, and Thomas Johnson, to act and do as they shall see Cause."

Henry Lyon was Newark's first inn-keeper, too. The strangers within their gates were not all God-fearing men of peace. A stalwart presence was an outward visible importance for his second position. When it was recorded in the January of 1668 that "The Town hath chosen Henry Lyon to Keep an Ordinary for the entertainment of Travellers and Strangers," and desired him to prepare for it as soon as he can, they might have added to the minutes of the meeting a brief summary of his especial qualifications for dealing with law-defying new-comers and keeping them in order.

Hospitality had been imposed on, or it had its limits at Newark. It was to be hostel "where they might be entertained so that it would not be necessary for the people to put themsleves to the inconvenience of providing for the Comfort of those who were prospecting for a place for Settlement."

Mistress Elizabeth Bateman Lyon must have sighed over the cares thrust upon her. The sanctity of her home was invaded and her young children were deprived of her watchful attention. But the helpmate of pioneer days was a selfless woman, not pampered with much cherishing, and her gravestone should have been marked, "She hath done what she could."

Two years after Henry Lyon opened a public house, the "Town chose Thomas Johnson to keep an Ordinary in the town for the entertainment of strangers - prohibiting all others from selling any Strong Liquors by Retail under a gallon, unless in case of Necessity and that by License from the Magistrate."

It is certain that a money-making privilege once given to the Town Treasurer would not have been taken away from him in favor of the Town Constable. Wine may have been served as a table beverage, but it is doubtful if brandy-drinking and rum-drinking went on in Henry Lyon's house. However, total abstinence was not a moral obligation with our God-serving ancestors, and there was no town ordinance against indulging in intoxicating drinks. Mr. Jasper Crane, a bondsman, the headship of the Passaic Pilgrims from Branford and New Haven, Treat's equal in importance in the communityy, the magistrate of the town, destined to be president of the Town Court, and delegate time after time to the Provincial Assembly, was the next to profit by the sale of spiritous fluids. On Februaryy 28th, 1672, it became a part of the Newark records "that Mr. Jasper Crane having liquors for six shillings a gallon, and one shilling and six pence a quart, they paying wheat for it, hath Liberty to sell Liquors in the Town till the Country Orders alter it." Nothing was said in regard to selling in small quantities to be drank on the premises.

It is to be presumed that the planters were temperate people, and the dram drinking stranger was brought to decent moderation by the moral discrimination of Henry Lyon, Thomas Johnson and Mr. Jasper Crane.

The contract to build the first church was awarded to Deacon Warde, Sargeant Richard Harrison and Edward Riggs, who bargained for the "sum of seventeen pounds to Build the same meeting-house 50 feet square, with doors and windows, and Fine Boards at the Gable ends." But the money was not forthcoming and the sacred edifice was not begun before 1668. The floor was not laid till 1670, and in 1671 the settlers agreed "that the meeting-house should be seated in convenient time for our Convenience and meeting together for God's worship."

Did that pious congregation, every Lord's Day from 1670 to 1678, remain standing through the hours-long sermon of Preacher Pierson, the gray haired fathers and mothers in Israel, men that had toiled without ceasing the six week days through, mothers of nursing babies, managed little ones and youths and girls that hacked a consumption cough, an irritating interruption from the text to the long-deferred - "and finally?"

Maybe Henry Lyon's eldest daughter, Mary, who married John Ward, Jr., was one of these girls with a hectic flush on her fair cheeks, for her days were not long.

The little community had struggled on for ten years, when it was voted at a town meeting in 1676 that "the Town's Men have Liberty to see if they can find a competent number of scholars, and accommodations for a schoolmaster within our Town." Those to whom this important business was entrusted were Samuel Kitchell, John Ward, Samuel Plum, Thomas Huntington, Joseph Waters, Azariah Crane and William Camp. One of this colonial school board was an ancestor of the writer, and a feeling of pride goes with the knowledge that Thomas Huntington was connected with the first educational movement in "Our Towne on the "Passaick." But it was 1677 when the village fathers voted that "theTown's Men have liberty to compleat the Bargain with the School Master. They knowing the Town's mind."

One of themselves took charge of the school, John Catlin, probably a lawyer by profession, for he was town attorney for two years. He may have taught the three Rs to pupils of various ages, in day classes and night classes, till he and his wife, Mary, in 1684, sold their home lot, Number 11, of the Branford allotment, to Henry Lyon, and removed to Deerfield, where Mrs. Catlin and her sons Joseph and Jonathan, were killed in the assault of the French and Indians, Feb. 29th 1704.

None of Henry Lyon's children went to Catlin's school in that long-disappeared log barn, with a dirt floor, to drone lessons in the common sing-song of shy maidens and bashful lads. Before the first term began the Lyon family had removed to Elizabeth Town, and shortly after the Dutch conquest Henry Lyon took the oath there, and rapidly became one of the leading men in political and commercial affairs.

November 8th, 1675, he was a member of the General Assembly February 4th, 1681, he was made one of the Judges of Small Causes. February 18th, 1681, he became a member of the Governor's Council. August 1st, 1681, he was appointed Justice of the Peace, which during the colonial period was equivalent to that of Judge of the Supreme Court. December, 1682, he was appointed Commissioner to lay out and appoint all necessary highways, bridges, passages, landings and ferries for the County of Essex. November 26th, 1684, he was a Representative in the Council of the Governor. May 1st, 1686, his commission to the Judgeship.

Furthermore he was one of the Town Associates and the foremost in commercial enterprises. Scotch thrift, integrity and foresight had made his fortune. Besides having 130 1/2 acres of land within the limits of Newark, he owned 306 acres at Elizabeth Town. The ancestral habit of accumulating property was strong in him.

His house and home lot, containing 7 acres, was bounded east by Henry Morris, south by Hurr Thompson and north by a byway; they had 16 acres of upland adjoining the north site of his home lot, with Henry Morris on the east and Benjamin Parkhurst on the north; also 24 acres on the "Long Neck," a triangle between Benjamin Price, Sen., and Isaac Whitehead, Sen.; also 90 acres of upland "Lying by the Lyne of Elizabeth Town and Newark, having the boggy meadow on the east and unsurveyed land, the highway to Newark to go through it, since known as Lyon's Farms, a part of the Borough of Elizabethtown; also 4 acres of meadow on the Elizabethtown creek; 4 acres of boggy meadow on the "Cove"; 18 acres on the Bay, and 20 acres on the creek, formerly old John Ogden's. March 14th, 1677-9, he purchased Vanquellin's house and grounds for 60 pounds. November, 1674, he purchased of John Martin, Captain Bollen's property. However, on May 1st, 1675, Henry Lyon and Elizabeth, his wife, of Elizabeth Town, went to the Honorable Philip Carteret, Governor of the Provence of New Jersey, for a consideration of 30 pounds, a dwelling house formerly occupied in tenure of Captain James Bollen.

The year before he had a peculiar transaction with Governor Carteret. "December 8th, 1674, Henry Lyon of Elizabeth Towne, Provence of New Jersey, to Governor Philip Carteret of the same provence: a lease for four years of 2 acres of land within aforesaid towns. Consideration - said Henry Lyon to receive yearly 1,000 good and merchantable bucks."

A few years later we read that "in the 1699-1700 assignment of lots of 100 acres each, Henry Lyon received No. 174, Joseph No. 63, Nathanial No. 95, Benjamin No. 84, and Ebenezer No. 66."

Life must have been easier for Elizabeth Bateman Lyon than when she was mistress of Newark's first Ordinary. Servants were to be had, seventeenth century luxuries, and perhaps the London fashions. She lived to see her ambitious husband among the honored of the provence. Her older sons married early - courtships, weddings and grandchildren were happy family happenings before her chair was put against the wall and the days went by without her. Violent grief was sinful self-indulgence to the Puritan way of thinking. The Scotch are stern-natured, and bear affliction with decorous resignation. The stricken husband was a church-going fatalist. Foreordination timed the last heart beat of every mortal and wrote the day and the hour with every name entered in the Life Book.

*Subdivisions of the townships - "For a period of one hundred and eighty-eight years from the date of the original settlement the township remained undivided, the town laws and regulations and the authority of the magistracy extending over the whole area. At an early date, however, further hamlets and clusters of farm houses gradually sprang up in differeent localities. The facilities for navigation and the attraction of water privileges drew quite a number of early settlers to the banks of the Midway River. Another group of planters, mostly of one family,, gave the name to the neighborhood known as Lyons Farms."

His second marriage must have occurred in 1689 or 1690, for Mary and Dorcas, the second wife's daughters, were minors when their father wrote his will, 1702. No doubt she was a Newark woman and influenced her husband's return to the town he had helped to found. It was going home when he returned to the few remaining friends of the long ago, who had passed the fiftieth anniversary of their coming into the land the Lord God had given to His people of the New Haven colony. At Elizabeth Town his had been the largest subscription for the support of the pastor, Rev. Harriman. Nevertheless, he retained his church privileges at Newark, for July 24th, 1680, some years after his removal, it was voted "that Henry Lyon hath a right to, and shall have a seat in the meeting house, paying proportionably with his neighbors."

He had fought the good fight from youth to age, and his time was shortening as a shadow when the noon nears. His first-born, Thomas, had died in 1694, and John had followed his elder brother, Nathaniel passed on in 1696. His fellow pilgrims, one by one, put out the candle of life to go to sleep, till but few were left of the comrades that climbed the hill of hope together. New friends are but favorite acquaintances. "Loving wife" Mary readily got her will. At Newark there were others of the long-gone who had New Haven, Branford and Milford recollections in common, and who could exchange memories of Scotland and England.

Great Britain had made some tremendous history since the three Lyon brothers took shipping for the New World. Cromwell had held thrall over the united Kingdom for nine years. The General of the Puritan hosts had broken the shackles of feudalism, and the emancipation of all humanity had begun its slow progression toward liberty of conscience and liberty of speech. Charles II had flittered away a regnal term of devil-delighting tyranny and profligacy. James II had ended in the banishment and death of one who would be last of the Stuart dynasty. William of Orange and Mary had gone to their graves. Killekrankie had shaken all Scotland. These remarkable epochs had left their imprint on human progress since the day those masked executioners decapitated the King. The colonies had grown in numbers and riches and promise. There was easier breathing when William and Mary reigned, and since Anne was queen, but the expionage was felt as of old. These colonial yeomen who had been Roundhead soldiers were English subjects, and, as such, discretion became their leagues. But in private their voices were loosened and Naseby and Dumbar experiences, and what they knew of the secreting of Goffe and Whalley was recounted in excited whispers. It did not do to gossip of the great Civil War and of the London culmination of the trial and execution of Charles Stuart. But in the sanctuary of home, Thomas and Richard and Henry Lyon told their children of how they had been soldiers in Cromwell's army; of how they were on guard before the scaffold at Whitehall and witnessed the regicide, and of their flight when the historical tragedy was consummated.

This impressive tradition, and that the three brothers were Lyons of Glen Lyon in Perthshire, Scotland, is common to the broad-scattered decendants of Thomas, Richard and Henry Lyon. The Connecticut, the New York and the New Jersey branches have preserved the knowledge of their Scottish origin.

General Nathaniel Lyon and Major Sidney S. Lyon, men of broad intelligence and flawless integrity, accepted these traditions. Their ancestors were Lyons of Glen Lyon, and the presence of Thomas, Richard and Henry Lyon at the execution of Charles I was made authentic by oral transmission from father to son in the three direct lines, widely divided by time and place. Richard Lyon's great-great-great-grandson spoke for the traditions of the Fairfield Lyons. The descendants of Thomas Lyon of Weschester County, New York, gave their origin as Scottish to the historians, Baird and Bolton. James Lyon of Ohio brought these family traditions across the mountains when he came from Lyons Farms with his wife and children, 1791. Pride of birth was innate in his grandson, my father, a deep-in consciousness of race never mentioned save in some fire-lit talk when his thoughts reached back into the past, and he told his children of the three young lads from Glen Lyon, and the part they played in the terrible drama of 1648.

In his later Newark days, Henry Lyon must have related his Old World reminiscences to his two young children and his grandchildren, for the old grow confidential with the young, getting sympathy and comprehension from minds unoccupied with personal act and personal purpose.

Benjamin(3) Lyon was ten years old when his venerable grandfather Henry Lyon, the emigrant, sickened, put his temporal and spiritual affairs in order, then died. Benjamin(3) Lyon was the grandfather of James(5) Lyon of Ohio. There is no break in the transmission of the tradition that gave the nationality of Thomas, Richard and Henry Lyon and their connection with the regicide.

Henry Lyon had lived two separate and eventful lives, but his years were not much beyond the allotted time of man when Elizabethtown and Newark were called upon to mourn for one who had been a leader among them since the landing of the colony from Connecticut in 1666.

Biblical longevity was not unusual for an iron constitution that had withstood the toil and troubles of pioneer young manhood. If he was twenty-five when he appeared at Milford in 1648, he was not yet eighty when Elizabethtown and Newark assembled to do honor to the dead. One of the mighty had fallen. The long eulogistic sermon above this coffin, and the interment in the old burying ground of the founders of Newark must have been remembered as a local happening of impressive importance. But of the many that followed Robert Treat and Jasper Crane to plant "our Towne upon the Passayak" there is none whose grave can be located but that of my ancestor, Nathaniel Wheeler, of the Milford colonists, in the ancient Presbyterian cemetery in Orange. God's acre at Newark was "vacated," and the time-worn stones that marked the last resting-place of the historic dead removed and destroyed.

The "Lyon Memorial" will be a lasting monument to Henry Lyon of Milford, Thomas and Richard Lyon of Fairfield, and their kindred: William Lyon of Roxbury, Peter Lyon and George Lyon of Dorchester, and of every descendant of these "first-comers" enrolled in this book.

Of Henry Lyon's personality nothing is known. His life describes the man as one of physical and mental vigor, and one of physical and moral bravery. He was of "good understanding and memory" when he wrote his will - here given in full, that his posterity may know him through his own words:

Henry Lyon's Will

"Loving friend, Mr. John Treat," was the son of the Captain of the Milford Company. In 1672, Robert Treat returned to New England, but was not dismissed from the Church of Christ at Newark to Milford Church till 1675. May 11th, 1665, he was commissioned Captain of the Milford Militia, and in King Philip's War, was Commander-in-Chief of the Connecticut Troops.

In 1676 he was Deputy Governor, and in 1683 he was Governor of Connecticut and served in that capacity for fifteen years. His son, John Treat, Esq., was "a Justice to Keep the Peace in the County of Essex."

In 1709 he was Representative of Essex in the Assembly when one qualification was 1,000 acres of land and 500 Pounds in personal estate.

Of the witnesses of the will, Zopher Beach was of the second emigration, but Joseph Johnson (he beat the drum, morning and evening in the town in 1688) was the son of Constable Thomas Johnson who helped to measure the half bushels of tax wheat when Henry Lyon was first town Treasurer of Newark. Abraham Pierson was the grandson of the Rev. Abraham Pierson, the beloved pastor, who, with Jasper Crane, brought the Branford families to the Passaic settlment.

Loving Wife Mary, must have been as a beloved and dutiful daughter to her husband in the time of his infirmity. But while he waited for the Christ, the other, the wife of his youth, was the thought in his heart. He was back in Fairfield days in his Passaic Plantation days with Elizabeth Bateman, soul of his soul, strong of courage, strong of faith, all truth, all goodness. We, her sons and daughters of today may have inherited some of her finest qualities, as our best deeds be prompted by the never-dying characteristics of our fore-mother, this Colonial gentlewoman, just as our family strength of purpose, moral uprightness and religious tendency are heritages from that tried and true Scot of Glen Lyon, our fore-father, Henry Lyon of Newark.

THE OLD MEEKER HOUSE AT LYONS FARMS, NEW JERSEY.

LYONS FARMS

Midway between the cities of Elizabeth and Newark, the two oldest English settlements in New Jersey, lies a small hamlet of nearly equal age, which for more than two hundred years has had "a name of its own

and a certain use in the world no doubt:---

Lyons Farms, so named from Henry Lyon and his sons, whose plantations, acquired by initial associate rights or by early purchase, covered the greater part of this area. In early history, in manners and customs and civic life, Lyons Farms simply formed a part of the larger communities on whose overlapping borders it was situate. Having access to the sea and the world of trade only through the towns, it has remained true to its name, an agricultural community, scarcely doubling its population, while year after year its sons have gone forth, some into the cities, more as pioneers and up-builders of the West. Bonds, Meekers, and Lyons were the first settlers. They and their fellows were of Puritan stock; men of sturdy character, of strict principles, broadly intelligent, and God-fearing. Their communal ideal was a theocracy, administered by the democratic town-meeting. Lyons Farms was a bit of transplanted New England, and long remained true to type.

The tract East of the trap ridge of the Orange Mt. is a drift deposit of shale, gravel, sand and yellow clay. Towards Elizabeth the land slopes gradually to sea-level, forming "the plain." Nearer Newark the drop is more abrupt with steep, rounded hills, with gullies and depressions, some having no outlet, all formed by the swirling waters of a geologic era. In some of these pockets the vegetable matter accumulating through the ages has found the right conditions for conversion into peat. Lyons Farms has several acres of peat bog or "turf meadow," mostly on a Lyon tract. In the first part of last century, apprehensive of the exhaustion of the wood supply, the people of this section dug turf, burning this rather smoky fuel in their "ten plate stoves." Eastward of Lyons Farms lay the great marsh, a mile long, known from earliest times as the Cove, with its sluggish stream, the upper waters of Bound Creek (all now converted into a beautiful lake); a neck of low upland, and then the broad salt marshes to Newark Bay.

On Sunday, Sept. 6th, 1609, a boat's crew from Henry Hudson's Half Moon, anchored at Sandy Hook passed through the Narrows and thence West through the kill into the broad but shallow waters of Newark Bay, manifestly not the sought for passage to the Pacific. From the forest girt and sedgy shores came "very sweet smells" uncontaminate of factory smoke and oil refineries; and westward across the wide stretch of salt meadows their eyes rested on the fair hills of Newark and Lyons Farms.

Fifty years passed before a settlement was made in this Achter Kol, rear bay region. Negotiations between certain English of Long Island and the Dutch were held up by Gov. Stuyvesant's unwillingness to concede the full measure of local self-government demanded. When in 1664 the English supplanted the Dutch, Gov. Nicolls favored the enterprise, giving all desired assurances. At once representatives of the new colony met certain Indian sagamores on Staten Island and purchased from them a large rectangular tract, bounded South by the Raritan River, East by the Sound and the Bay as far North as "the first river which setts westward,*" and to run inland for a distance double the length of its East or shore line. Entry was made that same Autumn, a settlement effected the following year, and on Feb. 19, 1665 (i.e. 1666 N.S.) we have an official list of 65 men taking the formal allegiance oath at Elizabeth, out of the "80 Associates" contemplated.

The original house-lots, of six acres each, formed a cluster on either side of the Elizabeth River at the head of tide and of sloop navigation three miles from its mouth. In the common land each Associate held rights amounting to a single, a double, or a triple share, and he received an allotment accordingly when the successive partitions were made. The house lots stopped at Brackett's Brook (now vanished), where Salem Ave. forks from the Newark road, the "North End." Beyond this, between the road and the river on the West the stretch of level land was long held as a "Common." Further North, in the Lyons Farms region there were several early allotments.

The success and prospects of the Elizabeth Colony at once led to the planting of a second and a third town, North and South. The original settlers were not grasping of the land; they had more than they needed, and they were eager for neighbors in the wilderness, but neighbors who should live in separate communities, self-contained and self-governing like themselves. Hence in 1666, with full welcome by the Elizabeth people there came into the Passaic, a body of settlers, some of them old neighbors and friends, expecting to take possessioon of the land on the basis of the Elizabethtown purchase. The local Indians denied any sale. Indian titles were largely factitious, and the original Chiefs had doubtless sold more than they had any power to convey. The Newark people were constrained to make a new formal purchase with the customary ankers of rum, lead, gunpowder, and wampum. The same year the Elizabethtown people sold the tract South of the Rahway River to a company from Massachusetts, settling the town of Woodbridge. These too later found it expedient to make further Indian payment to secure peaceful control of the Western part of their tract. Indian purchase quieted the natives; the significant title lay in the confirmation and grant of the first large tract by Gov. Nicolls, acting for the Duke of York, the King's Concessionary.

Meanwhile the Duke had already himself conveyed away the territory between the Hudson and the Delaware to Lords Berkeley and George Carteret, to be called henceforth New Jersey, after Carteret's native isle. In 1665, Captain Philip Carteret came out as Governor, and finding an accomplished grant, Indian sale, and settlement, without questioning its validity, he proceeded to purchase for himself Associate rights. The Lords divided their ownership into twenty-four "proprieties," which were soon subdivided and were transferred like stock. Hence there was a double claim to ownership, - the source of century long friction and legal strife, extinguished at last only by the Revolution, the long land quarrel having had much to do with arousing a spirit of antagonism and alienation in this middle colony. The Proprietary Government very soon demanded that those already settled should obtain patents for their lands from them, pay a trifling but significant annual quit-rent as fee-farmers, and so relinquish all claim to further land-partition, and hereafter purchase of the Proprietors. Woodbridge submitted (1669), and Newark with reluctance (1675); Elizabeth stubornly resisted, took out patents only under threats of confiscation (1676) and never relinquished her claims to the undivided lands of the original purchase. There was dispute as to how far on the Bay Elizabeth's purchase really extended, this affecting the reach of her inland claim; dispute also as to the position and direction of the Elizabeth-Newark partition line. The tidal creek, called by the Indians Weequahick, extending Westward to the upland and there issuing from the Cove, formed a natural boundary; and ever since Newark's settlement has been Bound Creek.*

The Newark people in their Indian deed described the South bound of their purchase as Bound Creek "to the head of the Cove," thence West to the foot of the mountain, the point aimed at being the mountain end, a course nearer Northwest. The description covered more than the Elizabeth people were willing to concede; in fact, they had already apportioned some land above such a line. Accordingly we find commissioners appointed from each town, who amicably fixed upon a "little round hill" nearer the Northern end of the Cove, in line with the general course of Bound Creek in the meadows, to be forever the pillar of partition, the line to run thence Northwest to the mountain. (May 20th, 1668). This "Divident Hill," consecrated by prayer, we are told is easily identified today; and on a strict Northwest line from it is now a road, Lyons Ave., long ago opened on the "line," which is mentioned as a boundary of the lands on either side in patents of 1676. The position of the hill in relation to the Cove is clearly described also in the affidavit of an aged man in 1741 (Et. Bill). This determination of the line was duly entered in the town Records (Nk. Rec. p. 10). Oral tradition stated that there was an understanding that the Elizabeth people should assist those of Newark in acquiring the Neck between the Passaic and Hackinsack Rivers as a species of compensation. This project failing, Newark pressed her original claim (1675), and from that time down to 1754 there are notices of no less than seven attempts to settle the boundary. As late as the land partition of 1699, Elizabeth disposed of land adjacent to the old line at the mountain. Newark finally secured from the government in her town Charter of 1713 the coveted line, starting from "an oak tree in Joseph Lyon's field, above the head of the Cove." This point, later mistakenly associated with "Divident Hill," is recognized in the creation of Union Township out of Elizabeth in 1808. When Union County was set off from Essex in 1857, Essex retained a tract East of the Cove which was originally no part of Newark; while to the Westward the old town line of tradition was rehabilitated. The points assumed, however, whether from mistaken data or as representing some early compromise, produced a zig-zag. An effort by Essex County twenty years ago to rectify the frontier failed, the courts confirming the defacto line of 1857. See Map.

The Lyon tracts lay largely in and near this zone of dispute. Most of the lands of Henry Lyon and his sons can be identified. Patient research could locate nearly all. The obstacles are the loss of Elizabeth's first town book in 1719, the disappearance of Liber A of Essex deeds, and the fact that many early deeds were left unrecorded.

Henry Lyon's Newark house lot was between Washington and High Streets, North of Kinney; in Elizabeth (1673-1700) his lot was on the Newark road near the "North End," and in that section he had several small farm tracts. Ebenezeer had lands there, as well as some toward Rahway. Capt. David Lyon, 1745-1802, lived at the North End. John, Joseph, and Nathaniel in 1683 were living in Lyons Farms. In Elizabeth's bold partition of lands in 1699-1700, Henry, with his sons Benjamin, Ebenezer, Joseph, and Nathaniel, all appear as Elizabethtown Associates and receive 100 acres each: Henry, on the old line, West of Irvington; Benjamin on site of Fanwood; Ebenezer, center of Westfield; Joseph, a mile West of him; Nathaniel, a mile Southeast of Netherwood. Besides the plantations indicated on the map, the Lyons had lands on Clinton Place and beyond several tracts in the "Swamp," a mile or two Northwest. The patents from the Proprietors, now the earliest record, are for the first tracts of later date than the real acquisition.

Lyons Farms was long famous for its apples. An orchard is mentioned in Henry Lyon's will (1702). Down to 1850 the crops were abundant and the several mills found ready market for cider and vinegar. Latterly on the original Henry Lyon tract the Wards have had notable success with pear culture.

Before the days of machine-made footwear, the making of shoes was carried on by bodies of journeymen in small places. At Lyons Farms, among others, Benjamin Lyon and his brother Abraham had large shops for shoe manufacture. In certain gardens today, are to be found the remains of the scrap heaps, not wholly decayed after a century.

Land at QRSVU is traced from Benjamin2 Lyon (No. 8) (possibly), to Benjamin3 (No. 40), to Benjamin^{4} (No. 94), by will in 1758 to Benjamin5 (No. 382). Later it passed to Ichabod Grumman, whose wife Bethia is thought to have been a daughter of Ebenezer^{2} Lyon (No. 9). At the death of Ichabod Grumman, Jr., in 1794, the tract was repurchased by Benjamin^{5} Lyon, who sold parts: Q, David5 Lyon (No. 306); R, Amos^{5} (No. 311); SV, the homestead of Bemjamin^{6}. LP was of Aaron Grumman, wife Abigail^{5} Lyon (No. 317).

B1 and B2 were early Bond Tracts; M, an original Meeker Tract. In 1742 X and Y belonged to Joseph3 (No. 32) and Benjamin3 (No. 40) Lyon; W, To NathanielThompson, and D2 to Thomas and Daniel Thompson, whose mother was a daughter of Nathaniel^{2} Lyon (No.6); M2, M3, was of Daniel Meeker (1742). Sayres (intermarried with Lyons) also had lands in that region; and there were Browns and Chandlers west of the old road. Z1, Z2, land of Moses^{4} Lyon (No. 100). TTT, turf pits. Evergreen Cemetery now covers M2, Z2 and most of D2.

Wagon and carriage making has been steadily carried on in a modest way, a century ago by the Thompsons (Lyon descent), and since by the Williamsons (mother a Lyon).

In the days of stage coach travel, one of the chief lines, New York to Philadelphia (about 1780) oddly had its headquarters off the main road on a Lyon farm (6) then occupied by the proprietor, Icahbod Grumman, Jr. There are traditions of the fifty horses kept there, of his coaches (springless wagons) named the Swift Sure and the Speed Well, and an old stage book is preserved. The starting point was at first Elizabeth, reached from New York by ferry to the point; later the route was from Paulus Hook (Jersey City) via Newark.

The earliest school at Lyons Farms was one taught by Mrs. Hannah (Bruen) Grumman on the same old place (6). In 1784 Joseph Lyon deeded to trustees the Southeast corner of the Henry Lyon plantation (2) for a school. Here was built - from one great boulder, tradition has it - the Stone School House; an interesting relic with its worn door step, its pine desks rudely carved and stained only by the umber of human contact, still standing beside its loftier modern successor.

"Three-story larnin's pop'lar now; I guess
We thriv ez wal on jes' two stories less."

The "Old Red Schoolhouse" on another Lyon tract (at P) in a niche by the roadside, was more recent, itself displaced in 1873 by Hillside Hall on another site.

In church life the people of Lyons Farms were connected with the old church at Elizabeth, at first independent and later Presbyterian; and in the graveyard surrounding it, most of the early generations rest. Henry Lyon, in a list of 1694, is seen to have made the largest single contribution to the minister's support, and his grandson, Joseph, was long an honored elder, followed by his son Joseph.

In 1769 a Baptist Society was formed at the Farms. Among its twelve founders the first name is Ezekiel Crane (grandson of Joseph Lyon) with his wife Abigail (daughter of Nath'l Baldwin); the second name Ichabod Grumman, the sole deacon up to 1785, whose deceased wife had been Bethia, nee Lyon); Joseph Meeker, and Mary Meeker. The first building on the present site was begun in 1792.

The churchyard has not a few graves, dating some of them before 1800. Rev. Peter Bryant, an Englishman, was one of the notable early pastors (1792-1807). His admirably kept church records furnish valuable historical material.

The Presbyterian Church at the Farms was dedicated in 1849. The long pastorate of Rev. George C. Pollock, 1864-1882, is remembered with special affection.

Evergreen Cemetery, incorporated in 1853, and since enlarged to about 100 acres, occupies largely Lyon lands (Benjamin3 and Moses^4, Northeast and Southeast); a well kept and beautiful city of the dead.

Lyons Farms was made a post office in 1854; Alexander McKirgan was the first Postmaster. His wife was Julia Lyon (Zopher5).

Lyons Farms has some Revolutionary traditions: of a surprise of British officers in the old Meeker house (5); of men who saw service, and of some - as Tappan5 Lyon - who died in the prison ship pest hole. Ichabod Grumman, Jr., was an enlisted express Rider. A clear tradition has come down that he brought from Philadelphia North, the first news of Cornwallis' surrender, in mad gallop "riding one horse all the way." The visit of Lafayette fifteen years later (1825) was long remembered, his passing down the old highway escorted by the light horse, among them several Lyons Farms men. Old Lyons Farms long had its Militia and its training days. A number served in the War of 1812; among them Moses Thompson and S. R. Winans. Men now living can recall how no Fourth of July picnic was complete without Col. William Brown on his prancing horse, in full uniform aglitter with brass. In the Civil War a dozen men enlisted, among them Wm. Lyon and Wm. Winans (whose mother was Mary Lyon, daughter of David5, Samuel^4).

Lyons Farms, for a small place, has had a creditable number of college bred and professional men: beginning with Joseph Lyon, who graduated at Princeton in 1763, afterward reading theology; three ministers - one, Rev. Lewis Bond (1795-1885) for thirty years a pastor at Plainfield, New Jersey; more recently, four physicians, Dr. Joseph Ward, J. E. Winans, J. D. Johnson, Wm. Ward; several college trained teachers, as S. R. Winans, Jr., Professor of Greek at Princeton, Wm. E. Pollison,, H. L. Winans, Masters in important schools. William and Joseph Grumman were expert surveyors - the later an inventor of improvements in surveyors' chains, and City Surveyor of Brooklyn when he enlisted in the Civil War to fall in battle. Chancellor O. S. Halsted lived his later life in Lyons Farms. The village seems to have produced no lawyers. It did have, however, representatives of the old time ideal type of country Justice; who wrote the deeds and wills, settled the estates, was referee and arbitrator, served his neighbors in countless minor offices, trusted and honored. Such was Squire David Lyon (1760-1845); and such his friend and successor, Squire Samuel R. Winans, who died in 1887 in his 91st year. He was twice in the Legislature, held many office, and settled some forty estates. Governor Franklin C. Murphy's paternal grandmother was a daughter of Benjamin5 Lyon, born in Lyons Farms at (6). Rev. James Lyon should probably be credited to Lyons Farms: graduated at Princeton in 1759; poet, musician and notable preacher; he died in 1794, at Machias, Me.

Lyons Farms has a few interesteing relics of the past: old boundaries unshifted since the 17th century surveys, old house sites and old wells, like that at (6), deep and cavernous, with a huge native stone for a cap, belonging to the earliest period. A Chandler house preserved as a relic (7) is over a centruy old; while the old Meeker house (5), still used, is something rate. It shows three parts, one having the extended roof slope on the North and low stone wall, forming the ancient cool, above-ground, store-room; its original cedar shingle siding is weathered thin and feathery; an excellent type, among few remaining, of the houses built at the first settlement, before 1700.

Old Lyons Farms is passing. The main line of the Lehigh Railrood bisects the village, and electric tram-cars shuttle through its ancient highway. Newark's city limits now come down to the County line. When ere long Elizabeth's city bounds are extended North a lttle, the village will be swallowed up, and the historic name, which has persisted so long against cheap modern substitutes proposed, will be of the past. Here will be an attractive residence quarter for those whose business is in the great metropolis. The place has had simple annals, a clean record, and has generated worthy sons. It has always had mosquitoes, but tolerated no saloons. Newark in developing her magnificent part system has converted the old Cove marsh into a lake and is bringing out the natural beauties of the rugged hills and glens at the Cove head, once Lyon land.

Possibly some prospered son of the name may some day here place a memorial to Henry Lyon, the pioneer and patriarch of a far-spread and not unworthy race.

AN ANCIENT LYON SEAL

There is reproduced below the signature of the will of Samuel Winans, Borough of Elizabeth, Essex Co., New Jersey, dated June 13, 1744, interesting to readers of the Lyon Memorial because of the accompanying seal. The impression is in red wax, beautifully sharp, enlarged somewhat in the reproduction. Without question it is an ancient Lyon seal. Samuel Winans was a brother-in-law of Ebenezer^{2} Lyon of Lyons Farms. Benjamin Bounel, who seems to have permanently borrowed this seal, was one of the witnesses of Samuel Winan's will. He wrote wills and used the Lyon crest several times. The early scrivener struck on his own seal, or any other, till after the second generation, when paper seals came in. This lion rampant may well have been taken from the earliest recorded Lyon arms, those which Baron John exhibited at the tournament at Duncastle 1314. "Monsr. John de Lyonnes arms d'argent un lyon rampant de goules."

HENRY LYON

of Newark N. J.

Family History compiled by Sidney Elizabeth Lyon

HENRY LYON, one of the Lyons of Glen Lyon in Perthshire, Scotland, came to the Colonies with his two brothers, Thomas and Richard Lyon, in 1648. These three Scotch soldiers in Cromwell's army were on guard before the Banqueting House at Whitehall, Jan. 31, 1648, and witnessed the execution of King Charles I. Immediately after the regicide, they fled to America. Henry Lyon went to Milford, Conn., where he is first on record, Feb. 24,1649, when he was admitted to Milford Church. He married in May, 1652, Elizabeth, daughter of William Bateman, of Fairfield, Conn., and was granted a home lot there. May 28, 1654, he was dismissed from Fairfield to Milford Church. In 1666 he came to Newark, N. J., as one of its founders with the Milford Colonists.

At Newark he was the first Treasurer and first Keeper of the Ordinary. In 1673-4 he removed to Elizabethtown, where he was a large land owner and a merchant of extensive interests. Nov. 5, 1675, he was a Member of the General Assembly. August 11, 1681 he was appointed Justice of the Peace, in the Colonial period equivalent to Judge of the Supreme Court. February 4, 1681, he was Judge of the Small Causes; February 28, 1681, a Member of the Governor's Council; December 1682, Commissioner; November 26, 1684, Representative in the Council of the Governor, etc., etc. Among his lands was 100 acres of upland since known as Lyons Farms. he married a second wife, Mary _______ , about 1689-90. Returned to Newark, 1696, and died there in 1703.

2. II. 1. THOMAS2 LYON (Henry1) was born in Fairfield, Conn. about 1652-3. When he took the oath at Elizabethtown in 1672, he was twenty years of age. On Oct. 30, 1666, he signed the "fundamental agreement" with the men of the Branford Colony, and received home lot No. 23, in the land division of Newark. In 1688-9 he had a deed from Henry Lyon of Elizabethtown for "house lot where Thomas Lyon now lives, and upland." He married Elizabeth Ward. His death occurred in the fall of 1694, and he died intestate. On Nov. 21, 1694, an inventory was made of the estate of Thomas Lyon, of Essex County, deceased (personal estate, 43 pounds, 3s. 9d.) and on Jan. 29, 1694-5, Elizabeth Lyon, widow of Thomas, took out letters of administration. She died April 2, 1717. Her will was dated April 2, 1717 and probated March 31, 1729. It mentions children: Thomas, Isaac, Penelope wife of Thomas Thompson, Elizabeth and Annas; home lot of five acres on the highway adjoining Zopher Beach; six acres of meadow between William Camp, Mathew Camfield, Joseph Johnson, George Day and Nathan Foster. 3. II. 1. MARY2 LYON (WARD) (Henry1) was born in Fairfield, Conn. about 1654-5, and died before 1684. She was the first wife of John Ward, son of Lieut. John Ward, born at Fairfield, April 10, 1649. John Ward, Jr., came to Newark, N.J. from Branford with his father in 1666. His second wife was Abigail, daughter of Samuel and Elizabeth

(Wakeman) Kitchell, born Aug. 10, 1661, at New Haven. By his second Marriage John Ward had three children: 1. Jonathan; 2. David, born 1686, died Dec. 14, 1768; 3. Mary. By his first marriage he had a son, John, to whom was bequeathed twenty shillings in the will of his grandfather, Henry Lyon. In 1696, Henry Lyon deeded to this same John Ward, "son of his deceased daughter," six acres of valuable land at Lyons Farms. This home lot Lemuel Ward, greatgrandson of Henry Lyon, afterward deeded to Benjamin Coe. The will of John Ward of Newark, New Jersey, dated May 2, 1695, probated September 20, 1695, mentions wife Abigail (2nd wife); eldest son John, who received "the land where I live," etc., etc., sons Jonathan and David, to receive each "one half of my lands at Newark when 21 years of age, and daughter Mary, to receive two-thirds of movable estate when 18 years of age. 8. II. 1. BENJAMIN^{2} LYON, Esq. (Henry^{1}) was born about 1668 in Elizabeth township, New Jersey, after his parents had become prominently identified with this place. His name is given in a list, 1694 of subscribers to the support of the Rev. John Harriman of the First Presbyterian Church of Elizabeth. In the re-survey and allotment of the township, which from the first was the leading one in New Jersey, Benjamin Lyon was chosen assistant "to lay out, divide and equally assize all the lands and meadows within the whole bound and purchase of Elizabethtown, to every one interested therein, by right of purchase under the Hon. Richard Nicolls, their several respective parts, and of the whole"*

"They entered upon their work December 26, 1699, and completed it March 5, 1700. The ground surveyed comprised 17,000 acres. Benjamin Lyon was chosen 1708-9 by the Borough of Elizabeth as a member of the Assembly, was appointed 1711-12 a Justice of the Peace*; served 1717 on County Committee of Highways. "These appointments embracing a period of about ten years, serve to show who were of the second generation chosen to office, and were looked upon as men of activity and influence by their townsmen. In almost every instance they were the sons or grandsons of the old planters whose names were still represented in the town"

*On March 16, 1805 the widow of Benjamin Lyon (No. 284) mortgaged her place of 16 3/4 acres to Moses Baker for $250, "beginning at corner of land that Benjamin Lyon purchase of Benjamin Lyon, deceased." The eastwardly bounders were Jonathan Meeker, Hampton Harrison, Stephen Foster, Joseph Lyon, Moses Thompson, Samuel Lyon, David Edwards and Robert Brown. The witnesses were James Lyon and Charles Lyon. Cancelled Oct. 5, 1826. On Aug. 3, 1816, Sally C., James, Joseph and John Lyon quitclaimed to Abraham C. Lyon 14 acres of land. A part of the tract had been laid off for Charles. The bounders on the southeast were Ezekiel Ogden, Elihu Bond and others. The deed was signed by Sally C., James and Joseph. John did not sign. Benjamin Lyon was the one witness. (Recorded June 15, 1819). John quitclaimed three acres, March 10, 1821, to Jonathan and Samuel Winans. On April 6, 1819, Abraham C. and wife Hannah mortgaged 14 acres to Moses Baker for $250. Cancelled Oct. 5, 1826.

Charles Lyon died after Dec. 21, 1814 the date of his mother's will (proved July 3, 1815), and before Aug. 3, 1816, when his land-strip, already set off, as a bound is "of Charles Lyon, deceased." It is likely that he died in the summer of 1816.

303. V. 99. SAMUEL^5 LYON, JR. (Samuel^4, Benjamin^3, Benjamin Esq.^{2}, Henry^1) was born Sept. 1753, and died Dec. 3, 1776. Samuel and his brother Tappan were soldiers in the American Revolution. They were captured by the British and died in the horrible Sugar House prison in New York. The following letter written by this Samuel who was a witness of the public demonstration in New York City at the time of the declaration of American Independence is of historic interest. The beginning of the letter is torn off:

".........immediately in that I wrote for some things to be left at Daniel Sayres' for John Stewart to fetch over on Friday, but I do not know whether

He will come before Saturday. The things I wrote for was a thick jaccoot, woosted stocking and woolen ones, a knife, fork and spoon, and the reasons for my wanting them are in some measure removed, yet I want them still and if we shall go any where to encamp (as I expect we shall) I should want them as much as ever. If you receive this or the other letter in time, I should be glad if you would send the things to Sayre's as it is uncertain wether I shall have another opportunity to get them. Our sick are all removed except two, who, I believe, will be sent home. You desired I should write how I get washing done. My washing is done very well at the following prices, vist.; for a shirt 6d., jaccoot or breeches 6d., stocking 2d. per pair; sock 1d., handkerchief 1d. It costs me for washing 1/9 per week, and board, if I get it at the tavern as some do, is 20 s. p'r week and however I have not learned to be so extravigant, & God grant I never may.

Soon after our arrival today, Independence was proclaimed in this City by the Inhabitants at the City Hall, when the King's coat of arms engraved in a stone about five feet square was tumbled from the top of the hall and broken to pieces on the pavement, upon which a large crowd of people gave three cheers. Then they gathered the pieces and placed them on a fire prepared for the purpose & gave three cheers more and after which they soon dispersed. They likewise resolved that all the pictures of the King's coat of arms in all the Churches should be taken out and burned.

Friday morning, 6 o'clock. Jonathan Pierson this morning obtained liberty of the General to go home so that if you send the things to his house he can fetch them over, and if you will send me a small cheese it will not be amiss, as there is neither butter nor cheese to be got here unless for very extravigant prices. I have been to Holt's and the year is up for news and they want the money. If you will send the money over I will pay him. My love to all Relations and inquiring Friends. Mr. Pierson is just going, no more at present but remain,

Your loving brother,
Sam'll Lyon, Jun.

*625. IV. Phebe.

By her second marriage she had five or six sons (Purcell).

314. V. 100. JAMES5 LYON (Moses4, Benjamin3, Benjamin Esq.2, Henry1) was born at Lyons Farms N.J., Aug. 31, 1755; died at Woodburn, near Cincinnati, O., Sept. 20, 1841, "full of years." As New Jersey was the battle ground of the American revolution, and the Lyons were of democratic principles, James Lyon inevitably took up arms against King George. A certificate of service shows that he "served as an artificer, Capt. Jeremiah Bruen's Company, Col. Jonathan Baldwin's artillery artificers Regiment, Continental army; enlisted July 7, 1777, for three years, age 23, residence Elizabeth, N.J.;

discharged at Morristown, N.J., July 7, 1780; expiration of term of service during the Revolutionary war." James Lyon made an application for pension on Aug. 20, 1832, at which time he was 77 years of age and residing in Hamilton Co., Ohio. A pension was allowed "for three years actual service as an artificer in the New Jersey State Troops. A part of the time he served under Captain Bruen and Colonel Baldwin" (Bureau of Pensions, Washington, D.C.)

Two years after he left the army, James Lyon married, April 21, 1782, Elizabeth Williams of Elizabethtown, N.J. She was born May 18, 1759, a daughter of Jonathan Williams and Joanna Williams* his wife.

Tradition says that Joanna Williams was a very beautiful woman, and a woman of autocratical disposition. They lived for a time in New York City, in Maiden Lane, and some of their children were born there. In 1791 James Lyon emigrated with his family to Hamilton County, Ohio and settled on Walnut Hills, in what is now a part of Cincinnati. Here he bought 1,000 acres of land of the Symmes' Purchase, at 37 1/2 cents an acre, and here he lived for the last fifty years of his life.

322. V. 100. RICHARD^{5} LYON (Moses^{4}, Benjamin^{3}, Benjamin Esq.^{2}, Henry^{1}) was born at Lyons Farms, near Elizabethtown, N.J., about 1766, the youngest child of Moses and Mary (Harris) Lyon. He died in New York City, Dec. 1821, intestate, on the 24th of that month; letters of administration on his estate were granted to his son, Richard Lyon. Letters were also granted in Essex County, N.J., Dec., 1822. Richard Lyon married first Sarah Hendricks, who died Jan. 1, 1810, and was buried in the churchyard of the First Presbyterian Church at Elizabethtown. She was daughter of John Hendricks who came to Elizabethtown as early as May 1721 from Piscataway, where David and Jabez Hendricks, brothers, and Leonard Hendricks were numbered among the original settlers. The first of the name in New Jersey was a purchaser in 1667 of a large tract of the east side of Raritan River, which comprised the towns of Piscataway and Elizabeth. John Hendricks is found among the officers and men belonging to the Militia of Elizabethtown who entered on board the different shallops as volunteers in order to take the ship "Blue Mountain Valley," Jan. 22, 1776, under command of Col. Elias Dayton. John Hendricks was a member of the Common Council of Elizabeth, Nov. 28, 1789, and a subscriber to the support of Rev. David Austin, May 7, 1804.

At the time of the opening of the Northwest territory, Richard Lyon, with his wife and their three children, Abby, Sarah and Richard, emigrated from New Jersey and settled at Osage, Ill, a town planted by New Jersey men, among them several of the Lyons. Here in 1798, he lost his oldest child. This may have occasioned his return to Elizabethtown, where the remains of his first born were interred in the churchyard of the First Presbyterian Church, with her kindred. On Feb. 13, 1811, Richard Lyon married a second wife, Effie Van Houten, of Bergen, N.J.

"November, 1818.

"Mr. Jos. Congar -
Respected Sir:

I have called agreeably to your wishes on my arrival in New York, this afternoon on Mr. Andrew Morris, and the lowest price he will sell 15 boxes of dipt candles was 17 s., and soap 11 s. for a considerable quantity. He would sell at a discount of 1-1/2 per cent. Mr. Robert Steel offered me the same price, 17 s. and 11 s. and no less. William Colegate asked me 17 s. for one box of 20, and for soap, 10 s. They all asked one price for candles. On my remarking to them they had advanced in their price, they simply observed that they were made of the best of American tallow and could not be offered for less. I think you may venture to ask the same advance in price as they have.

Compliments to the family.
Respt'ly yr. ob. st.

626. VI. 314. JONATHAN WILLIAMS^6 LYON (James^5, Moses^4, Benjamin^3, Benjamin Esq.^{2}, Henry^1) was born in New York City March 17, 1784, and died at his home on Plum St., Cincinnati, O., Dec. 20, 1871. His last recollection of the city of his nativity was seeing General George Washington disembark from an eight-oared barge at Water Street when he came to be inaugurated first President of the United States. Then came the long journey across the mountains, then down the Ohio River from Pittsburg to Fort Washington to the strenuous life of the great Northwest. Indians with hostile intent were just beyond the settlement and an armed guard, man or woman, stood in the corners of the worm-fences while the fields were tilled. The little stream in Glen Lyon on the Jonathan Lyon estate, Cincinnati, got the sanguinary title of "Bloody Run" from a fight between settlers and the Indians that happened there. Among other reminiscences that he liked to dwell upon was his first visit to Jeffersonville, Indiana, when he floated down the river on a keel boat to be the guest of his kinsman, Major Hunter, who was in command of Old Fort Finney.

Jonathan Lyon married at North Bend, O., Feb. 17, 1806, Melinda Gard Lee, who was born in Morristown, N.J., Oct. 8, 1786, and died in Cincinnati, O., July 27, 1875. She was a daughter of Peter Perrine Lee (soldier in Revolutionary war), born at Woodbridge, Courtland Manor, Westchester Co., New York, March 10, 1756, and died at North Bend, O., Sept. 22, 1848; and Ruth Huntington Gard, his wife, born at Morristown, N.J., Feb. 15, 1764, and died at North Bend, Jan. 15, 1819; grand-daughter of Thomas Lee, (soldier Revolutionary war), born at Hempstead, Long Island, July 1, 1727; died at Morristown Jan. 7, 1805, and Dinah Perrine, his wife, born in Staten Island, 1731; died at Morristown 1791; great-grand-daughter of Thomas Lee, (soldier Revolutionary war), born at Hempstead, Long Island, July 1, 1727; died at Morristown Jan. 7, 1805, and Dinah Perrine, his wife, born in Staten Island, 1731; died at Morristown 1791; great-grand-daughter of Joseph Lee of Hempstead, and Abigail Price, his wife, Joseph Lee was the son of Thomas Lee and Mary Marvin his wife, of Hempstead, who came to the Colonies in 1675 from near Nottingham, England (traditionally a son of Robert Lee, son of John Lee, third Earl of Litchfield).

Ruth Huntington Gard, mother of Melinda (Lee) Lyon, was a daughter of Captian Gershom Gard (La Garde) (soldier in Revolutionary war), of Morristown, b. 1738; died at North Bend, O., 1818, who came to North Bend, with his family and the family of his son-in-law, Peter Lee, in 1791; grand-daughter of Jeremiah Gard of Morristown, born 1717, died 1783, and Elizabeth Gard, his wife, born 1716, died 1776. (She was a French woman and known as Madame La Garde); great-grand-daughter of Joseph Gard, of Stonington, Conn.; bapt. Oct. 3, 1707 (an adult), and Mary Gard, his wife, bapt. at Stonington, Aug. 1, 1691. He was the son of John Garde, merchant of Boston, and Mary Fithery, his wife (from Devon, Eng.), who was son and heir-at-law of Roger Garde (La Garde) who came to America with Sir Georges, and was first Recorder and town clerk of Accomenticus (York) Maine.

The grand-mother of Melinda (Lee) Lyon, Phebe Huntington, was born in Newark, 1738, and died in North Bend, daughter of Simon^4 Huntington of Morristown, born at Newark 1696, died 1770, and Thankful Huntington, his wife, born 1708, died 1774, Morristown. He was a son of Samuel3 Huntington, born 1667, Newark, died 1708, and Sarah Sargeant, his wife, born 1677, died 1757 (she married second Col. John Cooper) great-grand-daughter of Jonathan2 Sargeant, born 1640; bapt. at New Haven 1651; son of Jonathan^1 Sargeant at New Haven 1639, took the oath 1644, died at branford, Conn. 1652. His wife died 1651. Samuel3 Huntington was a son of Thomas2

Huntington, from Norwich, England 1633, born about 1629, and died at Newark, N.J. 1689, freeman of Conn. 1657, from Branford to Newark as one of its founders 1666, member of the General Court 1688; married first a daughter of Mr. William Swaine; married second, Hannah, daughter of Mr. Jasper Crane (she married second, John Ward); son of Simon[1] Huntington (descendant of Simon, Earl of Huntington), who died on the passage to the Colonies 1633, and Margaret Baret, his wife, daughter of Christopher Baret, Mayor of Norwich, Eng. 1634. She was a member of Rev. John Eliot's Church at Roxbury, and was the fore-mother of Samuel Huntington, the "Signer." Her second husband was Thomas Stoughton of Dorchester, Mass. Mr. Jasper Crane, father of Hannah (Crane) Huntington, was born in England 1610, a younger son of Sir William Crane, who was Knighted for his honesty. He was in Boston 1630, but returned to England for his family and sailed from London April 26, 1639, in the "Arbella," the first ship to enter the harbor at New Haven. He was one of the founders of that town, and signed the fundamental agreement 1639; was freeman of Conn. 1644, one of the Committee of Safety 1665, deputy to the General Court and Assistant 1663-4, Representative of the United Colonies 1665; Representative from Newark to the General Assembly 1671. His was the fifth seat in the meeting-house at New Haven. He was the Captain of the Branford Colonists that settled at Newark 1666. His will is dated 1678. His wife, Alice Crane, died before that date.

Dinah Perrine, grand-mother of Melinda (Lee) Lyon was a daughter of Captain Peter3 Perrine, of "The Troop," Staten Is. Militia, 1701, died Nov. 13, 1756, and Mary Perrine, his wife, born 1700, and died Aug. 8, 1756; son of Daniel2 Perrine, born 1672, Staten Is. and died there (married 1699 at the Reformed Dutch Church ____________); son of Daniel[1] Perrine French Huguenot (of the family of Count Perrine), who sailed from the Isle of Jersey, ship "Philip" April 1665. He was married Feb. 12, 1666, by James Bollen, Justice of the Peace to Marie Thorel (French Huguenot) and the license, signed by Governor Philip Cartaret, is said to be the first issued at Elizabethtown, New Jersey. 1056. VII. 626. SIDNEY SMITH^7 LYON (Jonathan W.^{6}, James^5, Moses^4, Benjamin^3, Benjamin Esq.^{2}, Henry^1) was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 4, 1808. On St. John's Day the Associated Press made the following announcement: "Louisville, June 24, 1872; Major Sidney S. Lyon, formerly State Geologist of Kentucky, one of the most eminent of his profession, died of paralysis at his residence in Jeffersonville, Ind., at 2:30 P.M."

A short sketch of his life will be edited in part from what the Press had to say of him. "The home of Major Lyon, on the Falls of the Ohio, afforded him peculiar advantages for the prosecution of his favorite study. He devoted much time to the examination of Crinoidea, a branch of Paleontology that he made a speciality, and his collection of crinoids is considered equal to any in the world, with the exception perhaps of that of Prof. Wyville Thompson, of Belfast, Ireland, many of whose specimens are duplicates of those in the Lyon cabinet. Major Lyon contributed many aticles and drawings of the new genera and specimens of crinoids found on the Falls here, to the Philadelphia Academy of Science. The larger portion of the Kentucky Geological Survey was also from his pen. The report of the Smithsonian Institute for 1870, contains a contribution from Major Lyon upon the ancient Mounds in Lyon County of this state (Kentucky).

When the hostilities commenced between the North and the South, the United States Government secured the services of Major Lyon, and he was attached to the command of Gen. George W. Morgan, 9th Division of the Army of Ohio, as Chief of the Engineering Corps, and by his skill and his knowledge of the topography of Kentucky he rendered most efficient service in the first campaign of the war. On April 1st, 1862, he was commissioned Captain in the 4th Kentucky Cavalry, and in August 1863, was promoted to the rank of Major. However, he never saw his Regiment, being on detached duty, first with Brig. Gen. George W. Morgan; afterward with Major Gen. George L. Hartstuff; Major Gen. A. E. Burnside; Gen. Manson and Gen. Foster, as acting Topographical Engineer, through Kentucky, at Cumberland Gap, through Tennessee, at the Siege of Vicksburg, at Port Arkansas, etc., etc., building fortifications, and constructing military roads.

At Cumberland Gap he received injuries from which he never recovered and which eventually caused his death. It was the night of July 21, 1862, during an attack made by the Union forces under the command of Col. Carter upon a Flag of Truce in passing from Cumberland Gap to Tezwell, Tenn. By this fatal blunder many of the prisoners to be exchanged were killed, and several of the escort were wounded, among them Sidney S. Lyon. After some days of suffering he returned to duty and continued building the fortifications tha he destroyed on the night of September 17, 1862.

When General Morgan's forces were surrounded, the enemy having cut off all communications with the rear preventing reinforcements and supplies from reaching his garrison, at a Council of War, Capt. Signey S. Lyon of Gen. Morgan's staff, was consulted as to the possibility of making a retreat toward Lexington if the Gap was vacated. he rejected this plan, which meant annihilation, but had another to suggest, and promised to save the army depending on his knowledge of the topography of Kentucky to achieve an almost impossible feat. It was difficult to conduct a great body of men through a rough, wild country, where roads would have to be cut through impenetrable undergrowth; and there would be no victualling by the way. He further stated that they would have to cross "Big Devil River" and "Little Devil River" and "Hell for Sartain Creek", small, turbulent streams that a sudden freshet turned into dangers unfordable waters.

But his Chapter of American History is best told through the personal recollections of Col. James Keigwin* in

The Escape of Morgan's Army

"Shut up like rats in a trap for thirty days until rations grew short, and hope of escape became less and less; shut up by Kirby, Smith and John Morgan in Cumberland Gap while Buell and Bragg were racing toward Louisville; that was the condition of Gen. George W. Morgan and the 12,000 officers and men under him in September 1862. They could not fight their way out for the Confederates had treble the men on either side the mountain, ready to pounce upon the devoted little Union Army if it ventured out of the fastnesses of the Gap. Yet, come forth it must, sooner or later, for food was becoming scarcer and scarcer, and it was simply a question of starvation, surrender, or fight to the death. Gen. Morgan and the Generals with him, Carter, Baird and Speers, looked at their position from all sides. To get out of the trap and get away, the army would have to come out by the way of Baboursville and Lexington, or to sneak over almost impassible paths through the mountains, and emerge upon the Ohio in Eastern Kentucky. By the first plan capture was certain; by the second, capture or starvation was possible, but the army might be saved. To remain in the Gap was to be caught without a stroke for liberty. Finally it was decided to march, or rather scramble, through the mountains. Then followed one of the most marvelous races to save an army which has ever been recorded in history. As soon as Morgan reached the decision of flight, the trunnions were cut to pieces, and the extra ammunition was thrown down an enormous well which provided the army with water. In fact, what the men could not carry, and did not absolutely need, was destroyed. The two Hoosier regiments, the Forty-ninth under Col. James Keigwin, and the Thirty-third under Col. Coburn, were ordered to push ahead to Cumberland Ford, taking the cannon with them. "And for God's sake, Colonels, get to the Ford before morning" was the instruction from the General. They made the distance, but the men almost duplicated Napoleon's feat of crossing the Alps. Horses were useless, and the entire force had to tug at the ropes and get under the wheels to pull or lift the ordance over the path.

Meanwhile Morgan waited to hear from his cavalry, which reconnoitered Stevenson's Division of the Confederates on the Tennesse side. And when they came in they brought the news that Stevenson had evidently discovered their intention and was moving. Then Morgan started. One man only remained behind. It was Captain Sidney S. Lyon, of Jeffersonville, one of Indiana's most gifted engineers. As the Federal army moved away, he sat down upon a rock and waited. Beside him lay a black, snake-like rope, the end running into the steep side of the mountain. It was a fuse. He had mined the mountain and filled the hollow with all the powder the fleeing army could spare, and presently, when it was safe out of danger, he would light the fuse ______ and then

THE EXPLOSION OF THE MINE

The tramp of the marching died away; the commissary stores were burning and still he sat, as the night fell over the heights and the darkness filled the ravines. The solitary watcher in the deserted camp listened intently. Were the Confederates coming? He heard the faint hoof-beats, the rumble of a great force of men coming from the Tennessee side. It was time to fire the fuse. There was the sparkle of a match, the splutter of powder, and a man fleeing down the mountain toward Kentucky for his life _____ then a death-like silence in the rocky wilderness. .... Far away toward the Ford the Federals were seeking escape, and every now and then looking back toward the mountain height from which they had descended. On the other side, with clink of spurs and sabre, the Confederates were pressing forward, if possible to intercept the hurrying column......... Then there was a last splutter of the snake-like rope. It had crept into the mountain side like a serpent with a fiery head. A moment's silence. The man fleeing for his life looked back. The mountain opened. Flames shot up into the star-lit darkness; for miles and miles they lighted up the night; for miles and miles rumbled and crashed and thundered the voice of an awful explosion, shaking and rocking the solid earth. Then silence again, deep and dark. The Gap was blockaded by the opening of the mine, and the Federals gained a respite until the Confederates could find some means of getting guns and cavalry over the ruins. "Six miles away", said Col. Keigwin, "the earth trembled with the shock of the explosions."

"The retreat through the mountains of Eastern Kentucky was a long and arduous one, the troops subsisting mostly on green corn during the entire march of two hundred and fifty miles, occupying seventeen days and nights of almost constant marching and fighting."*

"The people from the Union hearing nothing from the apparently doomed army, gave it up for lost. But it toiled away toward the North, the men dragging the cannons and wagons, and bearing the sick and wounded, and during brief rests, grating half ripe corn to make bread to be hastily and greedily swallowed. When the column emerged from the roughest part of the mountains, it found itself harassed in front, rear and on the flanks by John Morgan's cavalry, which tried to retard it until Kirby Smith and Humphrey Marshall could arrive and crush it."

General Morgan's order to Topographical Engineer Lyon were "to totally obliterate and blockade the roads." "To you," he said, "I entrust this important duty". Munday's Cavalry and the Third Kentucky Infantry constituted the advance guard. Heavy fatigue parties were constantly employed in front, making and repairing roads which were again blockaded by Capt. Lyon when the rear guard passed over. Trees were felled to close all avenues of approach, and bridges were destroyed. The country was cleared of what little provender there had been by the famished soldiers. By day and by night the march went on till Oct. 4, 1862, when at last the exhausted army reached Greenup in the extreme east of Kentucky, and below them flowed the waters of the Ohio. The men shouted for joy, for there was the Ford, and beyond the free North. The army was saved.*

"The American nation owes him (Major Sidney S. Lyon) a debt which it has never fully paid, for it was his ingenuity, originality and daring which saved a Union Army from either destruction or capture, and possibly prevented the capture of Louisville by Bragg, by compelling the Confederate Armies to watch Cumberland Gap, and then to pursue the escaping Union Army of Gen. George W. Morgan."

The man who planned and executed the retreat of the Twelve Thousand (called generally "the Retreat of the Ten Thousand") three months previous to the evacuation of Cumberland Gap and the retreat to the Ohio River, had suffered the injuries of a broken arm, a contused leg, and hurts about the breast and head. The Geological Survey of Kentucky had made him familiar with the country to be traversed. He alone could have brought the 7th Army Corps from the mortal peril into safety.

*Col. James Keigwin's Memoirs.

In the seige of Vicksburg, the expedition against Arkansas Post in Burnside's Expedition to Cumberland Gap, etc., etc., etc., Major Lyon served his country with splendid heroism and a remarkable skill in military affairs. But his laborious occupation, much exposure, and the effects of his injuries, had broken his health.

It will be found in "War of the Rebellion -- Official Records" that "It is a matter of regret that the age and failing health of this officer impair to a certain extent his usefulness as a topographer, for which he has a wonderful talent." on Oct. 21, 1864, it became necessary on account of physical disability, for Major Sidney S. Lyon, Asst. Engineer, 23rd Army Corps, to tender his resignation and return to civil life. At the close of the war, in hope of healing a shattered constitution, he accepted an offer to go to Nevada to locate mines. When this fact became public, the Government at Washington sent him a quantity of books and maps, requesting as a favor, that his proposed work might be put on the records of the United States Survy. Atlas sheet S-* of the Geographical Survey, west of the 100th meridian, shows that part of the continent, then virtually unknown, that was brought into knowledge by this expert topographer and geologist, who was a member of nearly all of the Scientific Societies of America.

This resume has left unnoticed the early years of Sidney Smith Lyon. As a child he had shown an extraordinary aptitude for drawing. In 1836 the spirit of art, long dormant, was wakened to full activity by the companionship of Morgan, Beard, Crouch and the Frankenstines. The most distingushed men of Kentucky were subjects for his pencil, and such pictures as the "Entombment" and the "Paralytic" exhibit his genius. Who taught the unschooled coterie of early Western artists drawing, color and technique? Experiment, mutual suggestion, and the progress of sustained endeavor was their Munich and their Paris. But unless ancestral transmission directs the trend of future men, a special Providence is the destiny of special lives.

The "Octagon"

In 1829 Sidney S. Lyon became a citizen of Louisville, Ky., and married there Nov. 8, 1831, Honora Vincent Lyons, who was born in the City of Cork, Jan. 6, 1816, a daughter of John Lyon, Esq., and Mary Jackson, his wife, a young girl of rare beauty and culture, and a kinswoman of that giant of the English Parliament, O'Connell, the great Irish agitator. Her father came to Louisville after the "Declaration of Peace" to engage in business--something that his Old World position would not permit at home. After the arrival of his family in 1826, his house at the corner of Third and Market Streets became noted for its hospitality, and for the grace and intellectuality of its mistress. When she reached womanhood, Honora Lyons was a reigning belle. Charm was one of her gifts and attracted all who came near her -- a gift that she retained all her long life through, just as she retained her beauty, which had only become the beauty of age, and her social qualities. As a wife, as a mother, as a friend, there was none like her, and she pleased her Master, for she loved her neighbor as herself. In 1847 she came to Jeffersonville, Ind., and she had lived for fifty years at her home "The Octagon", when, on Feb. 22, 1900, she ceased to make happiness for others. Then it was said of her, "She was one of the most cultured and lovable women in the three Falls Cities, and to her last days took a lively interest in the affairs of the world, well abreast of its literary and political movements, a noble christian woman, whose life was full of the fragrance of good deeds. Death came to her, not as the King of Dread, bu as a great white-winged Angel from the presence of God who bears the Palm of Peace."

REVEREND JAMES LYON
of Machias, Maine

2172. (187a). V. 66. REV. JAMES5 LYON (Zopher4, Capt. Henry3, Samuel2, Henry1) was born in Newark, N.J., July 1, 1735. He was a graduate of Princeton College, B. A. 1759; A. M. 1762. On the occasion of taking his Master's degree he made an address which was commented on very favorably in the public press. He was licensed to preach in 1762 by the Presbytery of New Brunswick and ordained by the same body in 1764. He preached several years in Nova Scotia, in Onslow (1764) and other place, but he became discouraged and determined to return to New Jersey. Just at this time, in 1771, the people in the new settlement at Machias, Me., were in search of a minister. They engaged James Lyon at a salary of eighty pounds a year, to take charge of the new parish, preaching on alternate Sabbaths at the West Falls and the East Falls settlements. Thus began the relationship maintained with mutual profit and staisfaction until terminated by his death June 12, 1794.

During the Revolutionary war he was a leader in the movement to achieve independence. In 1775 he submitted to General Washingtin for the patriots of Maine, plans for the conquest of Nova Scotia. His name appears on the roster of a detachment raised in December, 1776 to operate against the British at Cumberland, service 25 days. Again in 1777 he has a record of service of three months at Machias, for defense. During these trying years he did not receive one dollar on account of salary, although eventually the whole amount due him as "back pay" was made up.

When the supply of salt was cutoff by the interruption of commerce during the war, he established a plant for extracting salt from the sea water, the little island on which it was located retaining to this day the name "Salt Island." He was a man of forceful personality, energetic in secular as well as in religious affairs. He was color blind and once purchase a piece of scarlet cloth for a coat supposing that it was black.

The church over which he presided was organized September 12, 1782. Meetings had been held at first in Stephen Jones' barn. In 1774 the first meeeting house had been built, by private subscriptions, at a cost of $220. The Machias town records contain a number of items like the following: "Aug. 10, 1784, a town meeting was held, at which it was voted that eighty-six pounds be assessed and raised for one year's salary of the Rev. James Lyon. Also it was voted that the Rev. James Lyon have the use of the public marsh lots three ensuing years."*

Rev. James Lyon as a young man showed some talent as a facile writer of verse. In the New American Magazine, published at Woodbridge, N.J., there appeared in September 1759, an original ode, "Louisburg Taken," signed Nassovian, written by him while yet in college. At the Commencement when he was graduated, Sept. 26, 1759, the concluding number on the program was an "Ode" of his composition, set to original music - either his own, or that of his friend Francis Hopkinson. In the light of subsequent history, the refrain of this composition is interesting:

"We sing great George upon the Throne.
And Amherst brave in arms,
Amherst brave in arms."

and again,

"Happy, happy, happy still,
Safe from all the alarms of ill
While George, the friend of man, adorns the throne
And Amherst shines in arms."

At the Commencement in May 1761, it is recorded that "there was performed an elegant Anthem, composed by James Lyon of New Jersey College." There was also given on that occasion "an Ode, sacred to the memory of our late gracious Sovereign, George II, written and set to music in a very grand and masterly taste by Francis Hopkinson, Esq., A.M." There has been recently published an "appreciation" of these two early cultivators of the art of musical expression, by O. G. Sonneck of Washington, D.C. James Lyon published several collections of sacred music, notably one first issed in 1762, entitled Urania. A new edition of this was advertised in the Pennsylvania Jounal in November 1767, as "a choice collection of psalm tunes, anthems and hymns, some of them entirely new." Price, ten shillings.

*It is stated that at one time he supplied the pulpit of Newtown, L.I., 1782-1785, but this does not seem probable. Another statement found in the New Jersey Archives (XX. p. 383) is that "he is said to have been of Irish birth." Both statements no doubt arose from confounding Rev. James Lyon of Machias with a Rev. James Lyon of about the same age who came from Ireland about 1747 and preached at Brookhaven, L.I. (d. 1786).

James Lyon married first, Feb. 18, 1768, Martha Holden, of Cape May, W.H.M. (born Dec. 24, 1749), who was the mother of his children. He married second, Nov. 24, 1793, only a few months before his death, Sarah Skillen (Boston Record). She was born 1744 and died Oct. 18, 1827 (G. R. Middleboro cemetery, Acushnet).

2173 V(?). ______. CAPTAIN DAVID LYON of "North End" Elizabethtown, 1745-1802, was no doubt a descendant of Henry Lyon, probably in the fifth generation. His parentage has not been ascertained, but he may be identified without question as the David Lyon, son of Samuel, who was Captain in Continental Army in the Revolutionary War.* He was buried in the Elizabethtown Presbyterian Churchyard, his tombstone bearing the inscription, "Capt. David Lyon, d. 1802, March 30, aged 57 years." In 1787 he gave to the village school of his neighborhood "a good size bell, which rang many generations to work in the long pine forms of the North End school." The old school house was destroyed by fire about 1864. The bell was removed to Dr. David Pierson's Academy across the road from David Lyon's residence, where it remained until this too was burned down, in 1878. It is now in the museum of the State House in Trenton. Around the bell is the inscription:

"A gift from Capn. David Lyon, 1789," and below this is cast:

"Made by David Ross at Eliz. town." Captain David Lyon and his wife Rhoda were members of the old Presbyterian Church at Elizabethtown. They were perhaps parents of David (the tombstone, broken off, says, "Brother David, aged 45") of Aaron, born 1769, died Sept. 5, 1854 (he lived on tract X, about at T O on Map of Lyons Farms), and of a nameless child who died June 17, 1788, all buried in the same churchyard.

*Official record from the office of the Adjutant General. State of New Jersey: It is certified that the records of this office show that David Lyon was commissioned Captain, First New York Regiment, New York Continental Line, June 28, 1775; commissioned Captain, Colonel Oliver Spencer's Regiment, Continental Army, January 1, 1777; joined regiment June 1, 1777; resigned April 10, 1778. Dated: Trenton, Nov. 9, 1906.

RHODE ISLAND LYONS

Probably of the Family of Henry

In the "Lyon Memorial, Massachusetts Families" there is given a record of the descendants of a certain John Lyon of Scituate, R.I., born probably about 1740, whose parentage had not been ascertained, but who was referred doubtfully to the family of William[7] Lyon of Roxbury. It was stated, however, that he might have been a descendant of Henry[1] Lyon. No new light has been shed upon the question of his ancestry, but additional facts have been ascertained about other Rhode Island Lyons who seem to have been of the same family, and these may be given place here in being perhaps not out of their natural connection. We have seen that one branch of the family of Henry established itself in Rhode Island, descendants of Lieutenant James Lyon (no. 26). James had a brother John who married but whose descendants have not been traced. It is quite possible that he also settled in Rhode Island, and it would have been very natural for him to name one of his sons John. Another son he might naturally have named for his uncle Thomas.

John Lyon of Scituate married, Oct. 27, 1763, in Cranston, R.I., Martha Burlingame, daughter of Daniel and Rose (Briggs) Burlingame. three years before, Thomas Lyon had married Huldah, a sister of Martha Burlingame. No records have been found as yet in Rhode Island of the descendants of this Thomas, whom we may assume to have been a brother of John, although such records no doubt exist. It is, however, almost certain that the sons of Thomas removea from Rhode Island to Chenango Co., N.Y., as did some of the sons of John. At all events, three brothers, Samuel, Alexander and "Major" Lyon, in 1791, settled at Lyon brook, Chenango Co., and their descendants state that they came either from Connecticut or Rhode Island. The circumstance that one of them bore the unusual name Alexander is of significance, since Cyrus Lyon, a son of John named his eldest son Alexander in 1797. That Cyrus and Alexander were cousins therefore, there can hardly be a doubt. Again the circumstance that a daughter of Samuel Lyon married a Burlingam - whether in Rhode Island or in New York state does not signify - points unmistakably to Rhode Island as the home of the emigrants.

Of the three brothers who came to Chenango Co. in 1791, two, Samuel and Alexander, are said to have been previously soldiers in the Revolutionary war, having served in a Connecticut regiment. Alexander was never married. The third brother "Major" Lyon is said to have been killed at Little York "in a fight with the British in 1812." The Lyon brothers bought land of Benjamin Hovey, Gov. Clinton's land agent, for one shilling an acre. They built a grist mill; also, it is said, "a lumber mill and a woolen mill." Samuel was the only one of them who raised a family. His wife's name has not been ascertained.

RICHARD LYON

(The family history compiled by Mrs. Louise Lyon Johnson, of Minneapolis, Minn., A. B. Lyons, M. D., of Detroit, Mich., and Dr. G. W. A. Lyon, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Richard Lyon settled in Fairfield, Conn., as early as May, 1649, the exact date of his arrival there not being now known. According to family tradition he was the youngest of three brothers, who came to New England probably about 1648 and located first in Fairfield County, Connecticut.* The earliest item relating to him is found in the Colonial Records of Connectictut (I. 183) where we read in the proceedings of a "perticular Courte" in Hartford, May 16, 1649 "Nehemiah Olmstead Pl^{t} contra Richard Lyon defend^{t} in an action of the case, to the damage of 12 pounds." The report is certainly tantalizingly brief, and leaves us quite in the dark as to the merits or the outcome of the controversy.

Richard Lyon had a house and lot recorded in the Land Records of Fairfield ("Fayrefeild") in January, 1653, and was made a freeman there in 1664 (Conn. Colonial Records I.432). In 1673 he had recorded five acres of land at Barlow's Plains, and 18 1/2 acres "on the Rocks." He was chosen

*The compilers of this family history regard it as very highly probable that Henry, Thomas and Richard Lyon were brothers. They do not accept as of historic value the tradition that these brothers came direct from Scotland, although they have no doubt that they were of the same Lyon family of which the Earls of Strathmore are a branch. The question is one of fact, to be settled only by research.

The names of settlers in "Fayrefeild" accepted to be made free Oct. 13, 1664 were "John Bur, Rob. Turny, Joseph Lockwood, Simon Crowch, John Knowles, Rob. Beecham, John Barlow Sr., John Barlow Junr., James Eunrts, Peter Cooly, Thomas Sherwood, Wm. Heyden, John Growman, Francis Bradley, John Holte, Steven Sherwood, Nath. Burr, Rich. Lyon, Mr. Wakeman, Thomas Bennit, Thomas Wilson, James Bean, John Odill, Smll Morehouse, Thomas Morehouse, Mathew Sherwood Richard Hubbell." (Col. Rec. Conn. I. 433).

Commissioner for Fairfield, May 1669 (Conn. Col. Rec. II. 106). It is related that on the occasion of a witchcraft trial "the prisoner was sharply rebuked by Richard Lyon, one of the keepers, for bold language." From the abusive reply which is recorded one may gather that the rebuke was well deserved.

The will of Richard Lyon, dated April 12th, 1678, probated Oct. 17, 1678, is almost the only source of information about his family. It reads:--

"The Last Will and Testament of Richard Lyon of Fairfield weak in body, but perfect in mind and memory doe make this my last will and testament. Imprimis: I give my body to a comely buryall and my soul unto the hands of God from whom I received it and my temporal estate that God hath given me I dispose of as followeth. My will is that first after my decease my funeral charges and just debts shall be payd. I give and bequeath to my sonn Moses Lyon One-third part of my land in Pequaneck (Bridgeport) lying on the eastward side and to run the whole length of that land. Alsoe I give him the fifth part of my long lot to run the whole length to bound it the Southwest side. Alsoe I give him two acres of meadow below the new bridge as the way goeth into Sascoeneck. Also my two acres of land in the old field I doe give him, also a gun and a Razer and my biggest pewter platter. It is to be minded one hundred acres of the long lot is alrady given by deed of gift to him which is part of it above said where it lie and yf there be any room on the old field land when I doe decease it is to be as my esate but otherwise he is to possess it at my decease and the remayning part of the long lot that Moses is to have beside the hundred acres Moses is to possess at my decease. It is my will that Moses shall pay to my cosen Mary Fitch seven pounds within two years after my decease. I give to my sonne Richard Lyon the third part of my land in Pequaneck lying on the farther side next Benjamin Turney and to run the whole length. Alsoe I give him one hundred and fifty acres of my long lot next Moses' part running through the whole length, and fifty acres of it he is to possess at my decease. I give him two acres of meadow in Sascoeneck running the whole length of it lying on the side by that which was Mihil (Michael) Try's. I give unto my sonne William Lyon a third part of my land in Pequaneck alsoe I give him one-fifth part of my long lot to run the whole length, and to lye next Richard's land, and also I give him two acres of meadow in Sascoeneck lying next the beach, and what is left above these Two acres and six more of that piece of meadow yf any: William shall have it by his two acres. Alsoe I give him my long gunn and my back sword and my belt I give him; he to have his portion at nineteen years of age. I give unto my sons Samuel and Joseph Lyon my lot and house and barn I live on. Alsoe I give them that lot I had of Thomas Morhouse called his home lot the whole lot to lye on the northwest side; Joseph to have the Northwest. Alsoe I give them four acres of meadow in Sascoeneck beside Richard's and William's above said. Yf it fall short of four acres then they must take up with what is: all these several parcils with house and barn is equally to be divided between Samuel and Joseph. I give unto my daughter Hester Perry four pounds fully to her dispose and I give unto my son-in-law Nathaniel Perry his son Joseph Perry my grand-child three pounds, and unto my son-in-law Nathaniel Perry I give three pounds in carting and plowing as he have ocation. I give unto my wife Margaret Lyon whom I doe hereby make my Executrix of this my last will, I say I give her three score pounds out of my estate and the use of the house I now live in and the barn and the home lot and the rest of Samuel and Joseph's portion above mentioned to use and improve while she remayns a widow, or until the said Samuell and Joseph have attayned the age of twenty-one years when they are to have their portions. I give unto my daughters Betty Hanna and Abigail, when my wife hath payed her two score pound out of the moveables, the rest of the moveable estate I give them equally to be divided provided it exceeds not forty pounds which yf it doe the overplus is to be divided between my three youngest sons and my three youngest daughters equally. I will my three youngest daughters, Betty, Hanna and Abigail shall have their portions payd them at nineteen years of age unless they marry before that age yf they doe then to receive their portions. And yf either Samuel of Joseph dye before they come to age to receive their portions the other sonne to have the whole, he paying a third part of the value of the said portion equally unto William and the three youngest daughters, and yf any of my three youngest daughters dye before they come of age to receive their portions then the portion shall be divided eqully unto the survivors of the three youngest sons. And yf William dye before he come of age to receive his portion then Samuell and Joseph shall have his land. and they shall pay to my three youngest daughters a third part of the value of his land equally to be divided among them. And it is my will that yf the moveables fall short of my wife's three score pound and my daughters' forty pound a piece as above then my land in Sascoeneck lying between Goodman Cobbes and Thomas Shornington shall goe in to make it up to that. This is my last will I have hereunto set to my hand this 12 April, 1678.

Richard Lyon. his mark.

Amount of inventory returned by George Squires and William Hill Oct. 17, 1678, 632-2-0 pounds.

Children of Richard Lyon*, not certain that they were all by his wife Margaret,* although nothing is known to the contrary; not recorded in order of age; all probably born in Fairfield, Conn.:

*2. I. Moses; m. Mary (Meeker) (Adams); d/o Robert Meeker; d. without issue 1696 or 1697.

*3. II. Richard Jr.; m. Mary; d. Redding, Jan. 1740.

*Margaret's inventory was taken 23 Mar. 1705 by Richard Lyon.

July 5, 1699, John Edmunds purchased property at Fairfield, formerly belonging to Richard Lyon from Richard Lyon, William Lyon, Samuel Lyon, Joshua Jennings, Samuel Smith, William Roberson and Esther Grumman; Nov. 13, 1699, Joshua Jennings purchased property at Fairfield of Richard Lyon, Samuel Lyon, William Roberson, Samuel Smith and John Downs in behalf of Esther Grumman, deceased.

(Fairfield T.R.); m. 2nd 1695, Wm. Roberson; died March 6, 1698 (T. R.).

9. VIII. Hannah; b. ca 1661 (after 1659); m. Joshua Jennings ("Brother-in-law of Moses," in settlement of his estate).

*10. IX. Abigail; b. after 1659; probably the youngest child; m. Jan. 9, 1696, Samuel Smith (Fairfield T. R.); died March 6, 1698 (T. R.).

2. II. 1. MOSES2 LYON (Richard1) was born in Fairfield, Conn., about 1650. His wife's name was Mary Meeker, dau. Robert. She was wid. Samuel Adams and m/3 to John Thorp. (See footnote on previous page.)

He died early in 1698, inventory of his estate

NOTE: There lived in Norwalk in the last decade of the Seventeenth Century an Andrew Lyon whose antecedents have not been ascertained. No such name occurs among the children of either of the three "brothers," Richard, Thomas and Henry. One may conjecture that he was related to the other Fairfield County families, but it is mere conjecture. He was grantee in a deed of land on Mill Brook, grantor, Samuel Benedict, of Danbury, deed dated Feb. 13, 1693. He had daughtesr: 1. Mary; b. July 1, 1691, and 2. Jane; b. Oct. 11, 1707. Inventory of his estate dated May 20, 1712; estate administered Oct. 6, 1714. His widow Mary married (second wife) Aug. 17,1712, Joseph Kellogg. They had two sons, David; b. Sept. 28, 1715, and Benjamiin, born Sept. 26, 1716. (Joseph Kellogg's first wife was Sarah Plum daughter of John Plum, of Milford, They were married Nov. 25, 1702 and had five children: 1. Elizabeth, b. oct. 5, 1703; 2. Sarah, b. April 5, 1706; 3. Joseph, b. Sept. 26, 1707; 4. Rachel, b. July 15, 1710; 5. Hanna, b. Aug. 1, 1712. Sarah (Plum) Kellog died Aug. 17, 1712..) Mary Kellogg was appointed administratrix of the estate of Andrew Lyon deceased, in Oct. 1714 (Col. Rec. Conn. V. 16). It is reasonable to suppose that Andrew Lyon had descendants, and very likely that some of the unconnected names given in succeeding pages as probably of the family of Richard belong rather to his hypothetical family. Mention may be made in particular of an Andrew Lyon who in 1790 was one of the first pew owners in the first Episcopal Church in Trumbull near Bridgeport, and not far from Norwalk. Andrew Lyon (No. 160) of Norwalk 1793 seems to have been his descendant.

being returned March 2, 1698. He died intestate and without issue, and his estate was divided April 11, 1699, between his "widow Mary, his brothers Richard, Samuel and William (Joseph was no longer living), his brothers-in-law Joshua Jennings, William Roberson and Samuel Smith, and his sister Esther Grumman."

3. II. 1. RICHARD2 LYON (Richard1) was born in Farfield, Conn., about 1653. He married Mary ______. From his brother's will we learn that his land adjoined that of Mihill Try.* He lived in Fairfield, but late in life went to Redding, where he died in January 1740, ae. 87. His wife was a charter member of the Congregational Church organized in Redding in 1729. He united with the same Church in 1733. He was therefore probably not the Richard Lyon spoken of by Rev. Dr. Burhams in the Churchman's Magazine (1832) as the first churchman in Redding, since that Richard was said to be "from Ireland" and to have died as early as 1735. Nathan Lyon was also a Churchman; is it possible that there were two Nathans as well as two Richards? The writer (A. B. L.) inclines to the belief that the Irish Richard is a myth, although open to conviction on evidence.

Children of Richard and Mary (____) Lyon, born in Fairfield:

*11. I. Samuel; b. Dec. 27, 1688 (T. R.); bapt. with Sarah and Ebenezer, April 5, 1696.

15. V. Hannah; b. May 14, 1701 (T. R.); bapt. June 16, 1701 (CH. R).

*16. VI. Nathan; b. Nov. 28, 1703 (T. R.) (Feb. 13, 1703, Hist. Fairfield); bapt. Feb. 13, 1704 (Ch. R.); d. Redding, Nov. 21, 1757.

17. VII. Jonathan; b. May 1, 1708 (Hist. Fairfield); bapt. June 1, 1708 (Ch. R.)

4. II. 1. WILLIAM2 LYON (Richard1) was born in Fairfield, Conn. about 1660. His wife's name was Phebe, -- maiden name not on record. His will, dated Nov. 4, 1699, makes his wife Phebe Executrix and bequeaths to his wife land; to son Nathaniel dwelling house and barn and his biggest pewter platter; to son William seven acres of land, a gun and a sword; to son Moses, land and a chest; written on the same sheet is the will of widow Phebe Lyon, dated March 21, 1701, which deeds lands to her son Benjamin Lyon, whose name does not appear in her husband's will. Amount of inventory, returned Dec. 3, 1700, 233 pounds 10--0.

*Mihil Try left a legacy of 10 shillings to Richard Lyon Sr. in 1676 (Will is on file at Ffld. Ct.)

Children of William and Phebe Lyon (born in Fairfield):

*18. I. Nathaniel; bapt. Sept. 9, 1694; m. Hannah Jackson; d. 1718; m. 2nd Matthew Jennings.

*19. II. William; bapt. Feb. 16, 1695; d. 1745; m. Elizabeth Dickerson, dau. Thomas.

20. III. Moses; bapt. May 8, 1698; m. Rachel Jackson 1720; d. 20 April 1745.

*21. IV. Benjamin; bapt. Sept. 8, 1700; removed to Newtown, Conn.; m. 1725, Elizabeth Platt, dau. John.

5. II. 1. SAMUEL^{2} LYON (Richard^{1}) was born in Fairfield, Conn., about 1670, and died there in 1732. "Sergeant Samuel Lyon renewed the Covenant June 8, 1712." his wife, Susanna Jackson, dau. of John, bapt. Oct. 19, 1718 (?). Samuel's death is recorded without date in the Church Record. His will, dated July 17,1732, makes his sons, John and Samuel, executors, and mentions his wife, Susan (Susanna) and the eight children.

Children of Samuel and Susanna (Jackson) Lyon, born in Fairfield (Greenfield Parish):

*22. I. Samuel; bapt. with Margary, John and James. March 18, 1705 (March 12, 1704, Hist. Fairfield); m. Mary Davis.

*23. II. Margery (Margaret); m. Fairfield, Aug. 9, 1724, John Meeker (T. R.)

*24. III. John; m. Hannah Kimberly dau. Nathaniel; d. 1734.

*25. IV. James; b. March 21, 1704 (Fairfield T. R.); m. Abigail Rowland, 14, Dec. 1732.

*26. V. Abigail; bapt. May 12, 1705; m. Daniel Morehouse; d. Fairfield; Sept. 1757 (T. R.).

*27. VI. Ephraim; bapt. Sept. 27, 1708 (1709); m. Eunice Thorp; d. before 1751.

28. VII. Anna (Ann); bapt. Aug. 6 (or 10), 1710.

30. IX. Jeremiah ("Jemimah" in Hist. Fairfield); bapt. April 1, 1713.

6. II. 1. JOSEPH2) LYON (Richard1) was born in Fairfield, Conn., about 1673, and died in that place March 16, 1698. In the History of Fairfield he is said to have settled at Pequonnock, (Greenfield). In 1695, according to Fairfield Co. Probate record, Joseph Lyon, husband of Mary Jackson, daughter of Joseph Jackson, acknowledges the receipt of his wife's legacy from his father-in-law, Joseph Seely, who married the administratrix of said Jackson's estate. His widow married John Bayley before Nov. 1700. Inventory of his estate presented March 11, 1698, shows a total value of 280 pounds -- 13 -- 2. Joseph and his brother Moses must have died bout the same time. His minor children were (1700) under the guardianship of their uncle, Samuel Lyon, who, together with his relict, Mary Bayley, was administrator of his estate.

Children of Joseph and Mary (Jackson) Lyon:

31. I. Joseph; bapt. July 28, 1695; perhaps the Joseph Lyon who was a member of the Greenfield Congregational Church in 1726; d. Cohansey N.J. by 1729.
*32. II. David; bapt. June 27, 1697; m. Elizabeth ________; d. 1722.

8. II. 1. ELIZABETH2 LYON (BANKS) (ROBERSON) (Richard1) was born after 1659, in Fairfield, Conn. she married first, Jan. 29, 1679, Benjamin, son of John Banks*. He died in 1692, (will dated March 21; inventory of estate, July 2). She married second, about 1695, William Roberson.

Children of Benjamin and Elizabeth (Lyon) Banks:

33. I. Benjamin; b. 1679 (in 1692 ae. 13).
34. II. Elizabeth; b. 1683 (in 1692, ae. 9).
35. III. Abigail; b. 1688 (in 1692, ae. 4).

*John Banks settled first in Windsor, Conn., where he was town clerk. He came later to Fairfield, Conn., and represented that place in the General Court, 1651-61. In 1670 he was one of the proprietors of Rye, N. Y., and was Representative from Rye and Fairfield, as late as Oct. 1684. He died the following year. He was twice married; first to a daughter of Charles Tainter, of Wethersfield, Conn., and second to Mary, daughter of Thomas Fitch, and widow of Thomas Sherwood. His oldest son, John, married Abigail, daughter of Thomas Lyon, of Rye, while his youngest son, Benjamin married Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Lyon, of Fairfield.

50. IV. 14. LIEUT. DANIEL^4 LYON (Daniel^3, Richard^2, Richard^1) was born in Fairfield, Conn., Aug. 1, 1719. He settled in Redding and married first "Annah" Lane who died soon after the birth of her only son, Jacob. He married second

Ruth (Knapp) Wheeler, widow of Seth Wheeler, and daughter of Moses Knapp. In Redding Land Records he is called in 1769 (I.8) Daniel Lyon, Jr., (although this may possibly refer to his son Daniel); in 1772 (I.12) he is called Liet. Daniel Lyon. In these records we find five sons named; Jabez (II. 18, 467), Gershom (III. 152) Daniel, "his third child" (I.232), Jonathan (III. 429), and Seth (IV. 51). In a deed of land sold to him, Jacob Lyon, of New Ashford, Mass., calls him "my honored father." Redding Land Records mention the names, Mabel, Sarah, Mary and Huldah in such a connection that it may be inferred that they were daughters of Daniel.

From the Colonial Records of Connecticut we learn that Daniel Lyon was appointed May 9, 1754, Ensign of Eastern train band, parish of Redding (Vol. X, 263). March 17, 1756 he was appointed second Lieutenant in the 7th Co., Capt. David Lacy, (X. 473). In May, 1762 he was appointed Lietenant of train band, East Division of Redding, in the 4th Regiment, his cousin Henry Lyon (No. 63) being appointed at the same time Ensign (XII. 9). In Oct. 1768, he was appointed Lieutenant of the 16th Company, 11th Regiment (XIII. 98). In Oct. 1769 he was appointed Deputy (i.e. representative) for Redding (XIII. 235). He appears to have served in the Revolutionary war with the rank of Sergeant. The date of his death and place of his burial have not been ascertained.

121. IV. 27. EPHRAIM^4 LYON (Ephraim^3, Samuel^2, Richard^1) was born in Fairfield, Conn.; bapt. June 15, 1740. He married according to Redding Land Records, Ann Adams. He took an active part in the Revolutionary War. He was one of the Committee of Safety appointed in Fairfield, 29 Dec. 1774 (Hist. Fairfield Co.). In May 1774 he was appointed Lieutenant in a company of militia in the western part of North Fairfield, belonging to the 4th Regiment (Col. Rec. Conn. XIV. 266). He was among those called out for active service in March 1777, "operating at Fairfield and Stratford," and again at the alarm at New Haven in July, 1779.* Died Easton Ct. 20 Feb 1797 in 53 yr. (G.S.)

Children of Ephraim and Ann (Adams) Lyon:
I. Lockwood.
II. Ephraim.
III. Susannah.
IV. Lois.
V. Samuel.
VI. Anna.
VII. Zalman.

*It is the belief of Miss Sidney E. Lyon that this Ephraim was the Ephraim Lyon who settled in Ashford in eastern Connecticut and married Esther Bennett and was the grandfather of that gallant officer, General Nathaniel Lyon. An account of the descendants of Ephraim Lyon of Ashford will be found in the "Lyon Memorial Massachusetts Families." It will be seen there that there is some uncertainty about the ancestry of Ephraim of Ashford but to the writer (A.B.L.)

RELATED LYON NAMES of uncertain parentage, all probably descended from Richard1, and mostly of the fifth generation:

*236. Zachariah; (Nathaniel, Nathaniel, William, Richard) married Oct. 7, 1764, Ruth Lane (Weston T.R.); m/2 Mary Strong.

*237. Eunice4; (Ephraim3, Samuel2, Richard1) m. Feb. 24, 1764, John S. Andrews (Weston T.R.).

*238. Thomas; (Gershom, Daniel, Richard, Richard); married May 10, 1772, Deborah Meeker (Weston T.R.).

239. Joseph; married No. __ 1770, Sararh Bulkley (E. C. M. I. 74). Joseph and Sarah, his wife, sold land in Fairfield, April 23, 1796. It is not likely that this was the Joseph who was of Redding, 1777. (Conn. Hist. Soc.)

240. Elnathan; married Nov. 23, 1763, Jane Knapp (E. C. M.).

240a. Aaron, of Windsor; He m. _____ and had: 1. Rhoda, b. June 18, 1769; 2. Aaron, b. Nov. 12, 1774; 3. Esther, b. Aug. 23, 1796.

241. Susanna; married in Easton Nov. 24, 1772, Augustus Hill (E. C. M. V. 60).

242. Martha; of Westpoint; married April 12, 1768, John Allen (E. C. M., III, 156).

243. Martha5; (David4, David3, Joseph2, Richard1) See No. 188), m. 31 Jan 1770, Ebenezer Gorham (Weston T.R.)

244. Hannah5, (Henry4, Nathan3, Richard2, Richard1) m. April 23, 1775, Andrew L. Hill, "in presence of Simeon Munger and Lois Munger", (Redding T.R.); children: 1. Hannah b. Jan. 7, 1776; 2. Clarry (Clara). b. Aug. 24, 1788; 3. Daniel; b. Sept. 1, 1793; 4. Fanny; b. Sept. 18, 1795.

245. Lois5 (Henry4, Nathan3, Richard2, Richard1) mother Rebecca; born in 1755; m. Nov. 1775, Simeon Munger, (Redding T.R.); d. Easton, Oct. 14, 1825. Children: 1. Sarah; b. Aug. 4, 1776; 2. Susanna; b. Oct. 6, 1779 (Redding T.R.).

246. Anna; dau. Peter (Nathan, Richard, Richard) m. May 1773; Abel Hill, of Easton, (E.C.M., V. 60).

*(Cont. from p. 313) it seems almost certain that he belonged to one of the Lyon families of Windham Co., descended from William Lyon of Roxbury. It is very doubtful whether he was a son of Moses Lyon, of Woodstock and Brimfield. More likely he may have been son of Seth Lyon (Thomas3, Thomas2, William1) of Ashford who had no recorded children born between 1734 and 1741. At all events the Lyon families of Windham County claim General Lyon as their kin.

247. Daniel; (Gershom, Daniel, Richard, Richard) of Easton; married Feb. 1774, Phebe Seeley (E.C.M. v. 60).

*248. Zalmon5; (Peter^{4}, Nathan3, Richard^{2}, Richard^{1}) "grandson of Nathan Lyon Sr." (Redding Land Records II. 374); son of Peter; m. Charity ____ .

*249. Lemuel5 (Henry^{4}, Nathan3, Richard^{2}, Richard^{1}) son of Henry and Rebecca; b. about 1763; m. Huldah Sanford, (Redding T.R.)

*250. Eli; b. 1770; d. June 19, 1811, ae. 41 (G.R. Redding Ridge Epis. Ch. Cem.). Son of Henry and Rebecca.

*251. Philo; b. 1764; d. April 12, 1813 (G. R. Redding Ridge Epis. Ch. Cem.). Son of Henry and Rebecca.

252. Sarah; dau. Asahel (Peter, Nathan) m. April 22, 1792, Eli Sanford (Redding T.R.). Children: 1. Laura; b. Oct. 10, 1792; 2. Polly; b. March 8, 1797 (Redding T.R.).

253. Mary; m. March 3, 1793, Nathaniel Whitlock (Redding T.R.).

254. Eunice; m. Nov. 26, 1789, Peter Buckley. (E.C.M.).

255. Dolle (Dollie); of Redding; m. Sept. 9, 1794, Eli, son of Paul and Mary (______) Bartram (Redding T.R.); he was born March 30, 1767; about 1804, removed to Delaware County.

256. Betsey; m. in Wilton, March 11, 1779, Mathew Hanford (E.C.M.).

257. Sarah; married in Easton, July 1776, Benjamin Turney (E.C.M.).

258. Timothy, of Weston (mentioned in Land Records, 1780).

259. Ebenezer, of Weston (mentioned in Land Records, 1780).

260. Nathaniel (Lyons); of Stratford; possibly No. 67 or No. 76; wife Anna; daughter Rebecca Wilcoxson, b. Dec. 5, 1751 (Hist. Stratford and Bridgeport); another Stratford record reads" ______ Lyon had James bapt. March 23, 1766."

*261. Isaac; (Gershom, Daniel, Richard, Richard) m. Aug. 10, 1778, Rachel Edwards (Weston T.R.).

*262. Lockwood5 (Ephraim^{4}, Ephraim3, Samuel^{2} Richard^{1}) b. Aug. 30, 1771 (Weston T.R.);

263. Cornelia; m. in Easton about 1790, Marcus Tyrrell.

264. Hannah; m. in Easton, Nov. 9, 1791, Joseph Atwell.

265. Ruth (probably grand daughter of Caleb Lyon, No. 43); m. May 1789, Ogden Meeker (E.C.M.).

266. Daniel; m. March 14, 1792, Mabel Barnes (E.C.M.).
267. Lois, (possibly daughter of Joseph, No. 98); b. David Banks, of Weston (E. C. M., V. 70).

130. VI. 43. HEZEKIAH^{4} LYON (James^{3}, Samuel^{2} Richard^{1}) was born in Fairfield, Conn., Oct. 21, 1739. He married in Greenfield, March 1, 1764, Hannah Meeker. Nothing has been ascertained about their descendants, some of whom may very likely be among the "Related Names", (Nos. 252-267, and 376-382.)

No Children.

(Note that the records of this Hezekiah may easily have become confused with those of Hezekiah No. 99).

137. V. 46. NEHEMIAH WEBB^{5} LYON (Stephen^{4}, Samuel^{3}, Richard^{2}, Richard^{1}) was born in Weston, Conn. Aug. 16, 1749 and died there in his one hundred and first year. He married 1st, Aug. 26, 1778, Sarah Treadwell (Weston T.R.). married 2nd Anna (Sanford) Lyon, Widow of Abraham. He was a revolutionary soldier, having enlisted in Najah Bennett's Company in 1781. He was recorded as a pensioner in Fairfield Co. in 1832, and in Weston in 1832, and remained on the pension roll until his death in 1860. His children nearly all lived to a good old age.

Children of Nehemiah Webb and Sarah (Treadwell) Lyon (Weston T.R.):

270. I. David; b. Jan. 29, 1779; d. 1875, ae. 96.
*271. II. Samuel; b. Aug. 27, 1780; m. Sally Adams, daughter of Ephraim Adams (D. A. R. Lineage Book); d. 1873, ae 93.
272. III. Huldah; b. Jan. 4, 1783.
273. IV. Clarissa; b. Aug. 11, 1785; m. William Powell (D.A.R. Lin. Book).

276. VI. Walker; b. May 23, 1790; d. 1871, ae. 81.

---

*Clarissa (Lyon) Powell had a daughter Julia, who married Hanson Bradley and had a daughter Mary Eliza Bradley (D.A.R.), who became the wife of Lewis Van Buren Hubbard (D.A.R. Lineage Book).

276. VII. Sarah; b. May 2, 1793.
*277. VIII. Hanford; b.July 27, 1795; d. Bridgeport, Conn. Dec. 21, 1879, ae. 84.

140. V. 50. JACOB5 LYON (Daniel4, Daniel3, Richard2, Richard1) was born in Redding conn. about 1740, and died probably in New Ashford, Mass., in April 1776*. His will was probated at Pittsfield, Mass. July 3, 1781. It mentions only "wife Hannah." On March 2, 1784, Asahel Gregory was appointed guardian of Seth Lyon, minor son of Jacob Lyon, late of New Ashford.

Jacob Lyon was one of the pioneer settlers in New Ashford, Mass.; he bought land (200 acres) north of Lanesboro, from Joseph Dwight's executors; deed dated April 25, 1770; sold 150 acres of this to Jabez Lyon of Redding, probably his half brother; deed dated Jan. 9, 1771; on same date Jabez deeds again 50 acres of this same land to Hannah, wife of Jacob Lyon.

Jacob Lyon was married March 31, 1767, at Redding, Conn., by Rev. Nathaniel Bartlett, to Hannah Wheeler, the only daughter of Seth and Ruth (Knapp) Wheeler.

*Jacob Lyon of New Ashford had a double in the person of Jacob Lyon of Gageboro, who died in the Revolutionary Army, April 15, 1776. This Jacob was born in Woodstock, Windham Co., Conn., Feb. 29, 1740, a descendant of William Lyon of Roxbury. He removed to Berkshire Co., Mass. in 1770, settling in Gageboro, now Winsor, only a short distance from Lanesboro. The parallel between this history and that of Jacob of Redding and New Ashford is remarkably close; for completeness, Jacob of New Ashford ought to have had a record of revolutionary service, as his kinsmen in Lanesboro had.

Thomas1 Wheeler and wife Ann, came to Concord, Mass., with several children in 1638; in 1644 he removed to Fairfield, Conn., where he was one of the proprietors of the township, and a prominent citizen. He died there in 1654. Will dated Jan. 16, 1653/4, probated Aug. 23, 1654.

Sergeant John2 Wheeler, second son of Thomas1 was probably born in England. He settled at Black Rock, where he owned a large tract of land. He was representative from Fairfield, Conn. in 1671, '72 and '77. Among his descendants was Vice President William A. Wheeler. The inventory of John Wheeler's estate was filed March 8, 1689-90. His widow left a will dated Feb'y 21, 1702/3, probated March 24, following.

She was born at Danbury, Conn. March 17, 1747, and died at Herrick, Susquehanna Co., kPa., Saturday, Dec. 16, 1837, and is buried in the Lyon burying ground there by the side of her son, Walter Lyon. She married again William Green, who had been a sailor in his youth, and had served in the Revolutionary War. They had three sons: John, William and Lazurus, and two daughters, Esther, who died young, and Mabel, who married William Holmes and emigrated to Michigan or Ohio. William Green died at Clifford, Pa., in 1810, also buried in the Lyon burying ground. Hannah married 3rd, about 1819, in Lima, N. Y., a Mr. Jerome, who died the following year.

Children of Jacob and Hannah (Wheeler) Lyon:
*279. I. Seth: b. Sept. 30, 1768; d. Aug. 4 1849.
*280. II. Walter; b. Redding, Conn., Oct. 4, 1770; d. Herrick Pa., Nov. 23, 1837.
281. III. Hannah; bapt. Great Barrington, Mass., March 3, 1773; died in infancy.
282. IV. Hannah; bapt. New Ashford, Mass., Aug. 21, 1775; m. (int. Nov. 1, 1795) Thaddeus Baxter, at New Ashford; they moved, tradition says to the Western Reserve. She died in 1832 or 1833.

142. V. 50. JABEZ5 LYON (Daniel4, Daniel3, Richard2, Richard1) was born, probably in Redding, Conn., about 1742, and died Oct. 20, 1777. He married in Redding, Aug. 18, 1768, Grace Osborn.

Children of Jabez and Grace (Osborn) Lyon (Redding T.R.):
*283. I. Stephen; b. May 9, 1769; m. Chloe Jackson.
284. II. Mary; b. Feb. 4, 1771; m. 3 Mar 1793, Nathan Whitlock.

(Cont. from p. 317) Joseph3 Wheeler, son of John, born in 1674, the seventh of thirteen children, married Dec. 7, 1705, Deborah Nichols, daughter of Ephraim Nichols of Fairfield. Will dated March 9, 1758; probated July 20, 1759. His widow and five children survived him.

Seth4 Wheeler, son of Joseph, was born at Fairfield, Conn., March 26, 1721. He married Ruth Knapp, daughter of Moses Knapp, Oct. 27, 1746, at Redding, Conn. He died in 1751, and his widow afterwards married Daniel Lyon (No. 50) of Redding, as his second wife.

151. V. 53. ABRAHAM^5 LYON (Gershom^4, Daniel^3 Richard^2, Richard^1) b. 1763, and died at Easton, Feb. 28, 1814; buried in Lyon Cemetery. He married April 19, 1785, Anna Sanford (Weston T.R.) She was born in Feb. 1761, and died Aug. 3, 1850, ae. 89 y., 6 m. (G.R. Lyon Cem.); She m/2 Nehemiah Webb Lyon.
Children of Abraham and Anna (Sanford) Lyon:
*294. I Levi; b. Weston, May 3, 1786 (T.R.); d. Sept. 1, 1838, ae. 52 y., 3 m. 29 d. (G.R. Lyon Cem. He m. Lucinda Beers.
295. II. Clarry (Clara); b. Weston, Dec. 2, 1788 (T.R.); m. David Grey.
296. III. Henry; b. Weston, June 21, 1791 (T.R.).

156. V. 55. TIMOTHY^4 LYON (Timothy^4, Daniel^3, Richard^2, Richard^1) was born perhaps in Lanesboro, Mass., where his father settled after leaving his home in Fairfield, Conn. No record is found of his marriage.

Children of Timothy and _____ (____) Lyon:
297. I. Timothy; bapt. Lanesboro, Nov. 17, 1771.
298. II. Hannah; bapt. Lanesboro, April 4, 1773.

Son of Nathan and Phebe (____) Lyon:
308. I. Eli. (Redding Land Records, II, 374). This could not have been Eli Lyon, No. 250 unless there is an error in the date given as that of his birth (1770, from G.R.), nor could it have been the one whose wife, Mary, d. Sept. 14, 1837. ae. 19 y. 10 m. (Redding Ridge Epis. Ch. Cem.). (See No. 250. also No. 359).

165. V. 60. DAVID^{5} LYON (Henry^{4}, Nathan^{3}, Richard^{2}, Richard^{1}) was born (perhaps in Redding) in 1773, and died at Redding Ridge, March 31, 1813; buried in Episcopal Church Cemetery there. He married Elizabeth (Betsey) Rogers. She was born in 1778, and died Feb. 2, 1846, ae. 67 years, 5 m. (G.R. Redding Ridge Epis. Ch. Cem.).

Children of David and Betsey (Rogers) Lyon:
309. I. Susan; b. Jan. 27, 1805; d. April 4, 1813, ae 8 y. 2 m. 7 d. (G.R..).
310. II. Henry R.; b. Sept. 29, 1811; d. June 25, 1813, ae. 1 y. 8 m. 26 d. (G.R.).

Regiment; service 24 days. He was called out on alarms repeatedly, serving in various companies, viz., to Manchester, July 9, 1777; at Claverack forty days, in October and November, 1779; twice on alarms in October 1780.

201. V. 91. THOMAS5 LYON (John4, John3, Samuel2, Richard1) was born in Fairfield, Conn., Oct. 9, 1749, and died in Avon, N.Y., March 4, 1835. He settled at New Ashford, Berkshire Co., Mass., about 1770, and lived there until 1801, when he went to join his son-in-law, Seth Lyon, in Lima, N.Y. In 1812 he moved to Avon, Livingstone Co., N.Y., where he spent the remaining years of his life. The following items are found in the New Ashford Record: July 12, 1776, Thomas Lyon, et al. appointed to "take notis of all Breaches of the peace Either of God or man, and make information to the Commety of Safety." March 22, 1779, Thomas Lyon was nominated assessor; Sept. 24, 1781, chosen constable; March 24, 1783, chosen selectman, assessor and highway surveyor; March 15, 1784, "Lieut. Lyon" chosen on a "Gran jury". He was a soldier in the Revolution. He enlisted in 1776 at New Ashford, and served at Ticonderoga; afterwards fought at Bennington under General Stark, Aug. 16, 1777, and was at the surrender of Burgoyne, Oct. 17, 1777. This he recites in an application for a pension Aug. 11, 1832. The pension was granted but he was then advanced in years and did not live long to benefit by it. He married May 10, 1769, Thankful Russica (E.C.M. VI. 65). She was born in 1752, and died at Lima, N.Y. in August, 1809. She was of a Huguenot family of De Russica, which came over from france to escape religious persecutions. Thomas Lyon married a second wife whose maiden name was Green. There were no children by this marriage. His widow married _____ Jerome.

Children of Thomas and Thankful (Russica) Lyon:

204. V. 91. DOCTOR JOHN^5 LYON (John^4, John^3, Samuel^2, Richard^1) was born in Fairfield, Conn. (according to one record in Danbury, Conn.), April 19, 1756, and died before Dec. 1799. He went with his brother to Massachuseetts, making his home in Lanesboro. In his father's will in 1793, he is said to be "of New Milford, Pa." He served, as his brothers Jabez and Kimberley did, in the Revolutionary war. He was a private in Capt. Asa Barnes' Company, Col. Benjamin Ruggles Woodbridge's Regiment; enlisted May 25, 1775; service two months and eight days. In 1777 he joined the Company of Capt. David Wheeler. According to the report of the Bureau of Pensions, dated April 29, 1905, he was in the Battle of Bunker Hill. He was probably twice married, but no record has been found of the first marriage. According to the aforesaid Report of the Bureau of Pensions, he married Jan. 1, 1786, at Lanesboro, Mass., Sarah Lockwood, who, as his widow, applied for a pension Aug. 19, 1843, being then 73 years of age, and living in Moriah, Essex Co., N.Y. According to the same Report, John Lyon died at Moriah, N.Y., Feb. 7, 1817. This does not agree with the statement above, which is believed to be correct. No record has been found of the descendants of Doctor John Lyon.

205. V. 91. KIMBERLY5 LYON (John^{4}, John3, Samuel^{2}, Richard^{1}) was born, probably in Fairfield, Conn., date not ascertaiend. He was living in Lanesboro, Mass. during the Revolutionary war, in which he took an active part. He enlisted July 22, 1779 as private in Capt. Samuel Clark's Company and served 1 month and 12 days at New Haven, Conn. His name appears in a list of men raised for six months service in July 1780, and he served again in Oct. 1781 in Timothy Read's Company; marched from Lanesboro to Stillwater; service 10 days.

214. V. 99. LEVI5 LYON (Hezekiah^{4}, James3, Samuel^{2}, Richard^{1}) was born about 1765. 280. VI. 140. WALTER6 LYON (Jacob5, Daniel4, Daniel3, Richard2, Richard1) was born, probably at Redding, Conn., Oct. 4, 1770 and died at Herrick, Pa., Thursday, Nov. 23, 1837. He was married at Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 1791, to Mary Bishop, daughter of William and Mary (Keech) Bishop. She was born at Smithfield, R.I., April 19, 1771, and died at Herrick, Pa., in 1854.

In the history of Susquehanna Co., Pennsylvania, by Miss Emily Blackman, the following may be found: "Walter Lyon came from New Ashford, Mass., in 1792 with his wife and one child, on a rudely fashioned sled; a yoke of steers and an ax. His step-father, William Green, drove a heifer and carried a pair of steelyards, all their worldly effects. Walter Lyon bought of John Clifford 400 acres of land, on which he afterwards built in 1814 the large house in which he lived and died. Joining this tract he bought 100 acres of William Pyntell, a land holder, who died in 1811 in Philadelphia. He paid for all this land by lumbering on the Deleware. He also had 200 acres additional. He had five sons to each of whom he gave a fine farm." In early times Wlater Lyon was obliged to take his grain to Great Bend to be ground, carrying it on his back to and fro, a distance of nearly thirty miles. Once when the water was low he waited three weeks for his grist and hired out to husk corn. In the meantime his family had only potatoes and milk to live upon;, and were in great fear for his safety, as his route lay through forests then traversed by bears, panthers and wolves, and broken only by a few clearings. He was an active man in town and county affairs, being Justice of the Peace, a Major in the 76th Regiment, Pennsylvania Militia and a County Commissioner, besides being often entrusted with other public business. He went on foot to attend court at Wilkesbarre before the organization of Susquehanna County.

406. VII. 280. HANNAH7 LYON (LEWIS) (Walter^{6}, Jacob^{5}, Daniel^{4}, Daniel^{3}, Richard^{2}, Richard^{1}) was born in Massachusetts, May 24, 1792, and died at Big Isaac, W. Va., June 7, 1869. She married April 12, 1808, David Lewis, born Sept. 1775, and died Nov. 10, 1854. They lived at what is now known as Uniondale, but then called Frost Hollow, and sometimes Goose Point on account off Hannah's geese. Lewis Lake was named for her husband. The writer well remembers hearing "Aunt Hannah Lewis" tell of when she was a little girl in the pioneer days. Once she started to get a pail of water from the spring under the big beech tree (on the farm now owned by Walter S. Lyon, great-grandson of Walter, No. 280). Hannah was carrying one of her little brothers on her back and leading another, the water pail in the other hand. It was all woods there then and only the path to the spring. Hannah saw an old bear and two cubs in her bath, but she did not run and scream, but shook her water pail at the bear and said (shoo!). The cubs ran into the woods, and after a few growls the old bear followed them. Hannah then went on after the water.

Daughter of David and Hannah (Lyon) Lewis:

He came with his paretns while yet a school boy, to Plymouth, Mich. After teaching School, and helping to construct and manage a railroad he became interested in experimental horticulture, and this became his life work. His first experiments were made at Monroe, Mich., but later he located in the fruit belt of Western Michigan, and there, on a ten acre tract of sandy land, he carried on for more than a quarter of a centruy his studies in pomology, becoming one of the highest authorities in America in this specialty. In 1892 the State of Michigan rented and made a sub-station of Mr. Lyon's plot, and the citizens of South Haven bought and donated to the state five acres adjoining7it. Mr. Lyon was able thus to pursue his studies to better advantage, the State providing for the publication of his valuable annual reports He had under observation more than 1500 varieties of fruits, and his reports as to the vigor, productiveness, hardiness, etc, of each, are invaluable to the fruit grower. Mr. Lyon was employed also by the United States Department of Agriculture to make a complete list of the names and synonyms of every variety of fruit cultivated in America - a work for which his wide practical knowledge of the subject preeminently fitted him.

He gave promise when young of being a man of note. His memory was remarkable. His mother says that when he was three years of age he could repeat the Ten Comandments and many other portions of Scripture. He had read the Bible through before he was eight years old, and so thoroughly had he studied it that if a text was read to him he could tell the Book in the Bible where it was found and in most instances, the chapter. He was considered when a young man, the finest historian in Northeastern Pennsylvania, and he ws an orator of remarkable magnetic influence and eloquence. Failure of health, brought on by over-study was the cause of his giving up the practice of the law when nearly ready to be admitted to the bar. He was Justice of the Peace for several terms. He married, Oct. 15, 1876, Emeline (Burdick) Burns, widow of Homer Burns. He died March 26, 1885.

593. VIII. 415. JAMES WALTER^{8} LYON (Walter^{7}, Walter^{6}, Jacob^{5}, Daniel^{4}, Daniel^{3}, Richard^{2}, Richard^{1}) was born at Herrick, Susquehanna Co., Pa., April 24, 1848. As a young man he entered the employ of a large publishing house, becoming a member of the firm at the age of twenty-four. In 1872 he opened a branch at Guelph in Canada, and that place has ever since been his home. In 1873 he sold out his interests in the United States, and secured full control of the business in Canada, which he pushed with characteristic energy and with most gratifying success. He became soon the largest individual publisher in Canada. In 1884, according to official reports, forty per cent of the total manufactured goods exported from Toronto, where his publishing plant was located, were his publications. He established branches of his business in Australia, South Africa, South America and in the East and the West Indies, and has sent out to these countries as his agents more than five hundred men from Ontario.

In 1892 he opened a wholesale furniture business in Buffalo, N.Y., wich within two years thereafter, disposed of the output of eight large factories. Mr. Lyon has always had unbounded faith in Canada. In the early eighties he employed Prof. Macoun, Dominion Government Botanist and explorer of the Northwest, to write a book on that country, which he published, and which by disseminating authentic information about this hitherto almost unknown region, has done much to develop its business possiblities. Mr. Lyon himself made large investtments in lands in Winnipeg, Port Arthur, Fort William and the farming regions of Manitoba, worth today many hundred times the original purchase price. The large fortune he has acquired is the legitimate reward of untiring energy, directed by rare business sagacity, with no suggestion of the taint of unfair dealing or sharp practices. Mr. Lyon has now practically retired from active business, and aside from looking after his real estate investments, devotes his time largely to municipal and other public matters. He is President of the Guelph Radial Railway Company, Director of the Guelph Junction Railway, Vice-President of the Board of Trade, Director of the Home Life Insurance Company of Toronto, etc. He is also an Alderman of the City of Guelph.

He married, Dec. 4, 1873, Lucy Boult, born July 30, 1852, daughter of Stephen* and Sarah (Jeffries) Boult of Guelph, Ont.

Children of James Walter and Lucy (Boult) Lyon:

NATHANIEL LYON
Of Warren, Conn.

NATHANIEL LYON*, whose home in Connecticut was for some years in Warren, Litchfield Co. would seem to have been most probably a descendant of Richard Lyon or Fairfield, presumably in the fourth generation. He may have been Nathaniel^4 (No. 67) (Nathaniel^3, William^2, Richard^1) born Fairfield, Dec. 28, 1710; d. Stratford, Ct. 1773; w. Elizabeth; or Nathaniel^4 (No. 76) (Benjamin^3, William^2, Richard^1) bapt. Fairfield, Aug. 8, 1726, or he may have been a son of the former of these.

One of these two was probably the Nathaniel Lyon of Stratford, who had a daughter Rebecca Wilcoxson, born Dec. 5, 1751, his wife's name was Anna (Hist. Stratford and Bridgeport). It is not impossible that Nathaniel came from one of the Windham Co. families among which we find the names Ebenezer, Nathaniel, and Spencer, but, although there were migrations from Winham Co. to Western Massachusetts and Vermont as early as 1750, the name Merritt, so constantly recurring in this family points almost certainly to Fairfield rather than Windham County. Nathaniel Lyon married Sally Merriman, said to have been "born in Connecticut." They lived for a time in Warren, Conn., but finally removed to Lebanon, Madison Co. N.Y.

*To Nathaniel Lyon of Warren is assigned the arbitrary number 1500.

The fact that Ebenezer Lyon, son of Nathaniel, went to Wallingford, Vt. makes it very probable that Sally Merriman was of the Merriman family of Wallingford, Conn., whence the colony went which founded the Vermont settlement of the same name (1761): Capt. Nathaniel Merriman (1613-1993) was one of the original settlers in Wallingford, Conn. It may be noted that his son John married Hannah Lines of New Haven. Sarah Merriman, born Jan. 26 1742. Daughter of Samuel^3 (Samuel^2, Nathaniel^1) and Sarah Wilcher, may have been the Sally Merriman who married Nathaniel Lyon.

There were at least three other Sarahs, cousins of the one just mentioned, but ten to twenty years older, the name being apparently a favorite one in the family. There was in Wallingford, Conn. a family of Spencers, which may have something to do with the name of Nathaniel's oldest son.

Children of Nathaniel and Sally (Merriman) Lyon; the first three said to have been born in Warren, Conn.:

1501. I. Spencer.

*1502. II. Ebenezer; b. April 5, 1764; d. Nelson, N.Y.

1503. III. Nathan.

1504. IV. Lovina (Louisa); m. Jacob Smith.

1505. V. Ira; b. April 16, 1801*.

1506. VI. Nathaniel.

1507. VII. Daniel; lived and died (ae. 92) "a few years ago" in Lebanon, N.Y; m. ___________; two sons, 1. Merritt J.; 2. Morris.

1508. VIII. Minerva; m. _______ Bliss.

1502. V. 1500. EBENEZER5 LYON (NATHANIEL4) was born in Warren, Litchfield Co., Connecticut, April 5, 1764. He married in Wallingford, Vt., about 1784, Chloe Jackson, born in Wallingford, Jan. 21, 1766. They lived in Wallingford until about 1796, when they moved to Nelson, Madison Co., N.Y. He died April 4, 1829. She died Feb. 6, 1849. He was a Justice of the Peace in Nelson in 1808 (Hist. Madison Co.).

Children of Ebenezer and Chloe (Jackson) Lyon, the first five born in Wallingford, Vt., the rest in Nelson, N.Y:

*1509. I. Mehetable; b. 1785; d. Jan. 31, 1829.

1510. II. Ebenezer; b. 1787; drowned while rafting logs on the Black River, Jan. (?) 20, 1810.

1511. III. Abraham Jackson; b. Nov. 27, 1789; d. Rushford, N.Y., April 15, 1863.

*One may suspect from this date that in this record two families have been confounded. Nathaniel indeed may have been twice married, but it is perhaps equally possible that some of the above were his grand children. It is said that Nathan, Nathaniel and Ira settled in Ohio.

The name "Merritt" suggests immediately some connection with Greenwich, Conn. or Rye, N.Y., and the same name occurs again among descendants of Ebenezer.

It is stated in Hammond's History of Madison Co., that Jabez Lyon of Nelson was commissioned Lieutenant of Militia in 1807. From this it would appear that Ebenezer was not the only Lyon who came to Madison County; it is probable that Jabez and Ebenezer were related.

1512. IV. Asahel; b. Nov. 28, 1791; d. Lewiston, N.Y., July 1, 1863; one son and 2 or 3 daughters.

1513. V. Martin; b. 1793; d. Nov. 7, 1799.

*1514. VI. Olivia; b. July 29, 1795; m. Jesse Brooks; d. 1842.

1515. VII. Lydia; b. 1797; d. Aug. 20, 1809 (starved to death from injury to throat caused by drinking pearl ash water).

*1516. VIII. Eliphus; b. Jan 1, 1799;; d. Nelson, N.Y., March 11, 1866.

1517. IX. Sarah (Sally); b. May 22, 1900; d Nov. 5, 1867; m. George Smith, who d. in 1838, leaving 6 or 8 children, of whom two, Mary (unm.) and Charles, lived; Mary in Cuba, N.Y.

*1518. X. John; b. Feb. 4, 1902; d. July 2, 1886.

*1519. XI. Merritt; . March 31, 1804; d. Bloomington, Ill., Dec. 19, 1837.

1520. XII. Emeline; b. June 15, 1806.

1521. XIII. Caroline; twin sister of Emeline; m. _ Barber; d. June, 1878.

1522. XIV. Mary; b. June 28, 1809; d. 1858; m. Joseph Case; moved to Illinois about 1835; 3 children.

1509. VI. 1502. MEHETABLE^6 LYON (COVELL) (Ebenezer^5, Nathaniel^4) was born in Wallingford, Vt. in 1785, and died in Nelson, N.Y. Jan. 21, 1829. She was married, about 1806, to William Covell of Nelson. He was killed by being thrown from a horse about 1815.

Children of William and Mehetable (Lyon) Covell, born in Nelson, N.Y.:

1523. I. Merritt; b. Jan. 30, 1808; d. in Bloomington, Ill.

1524. II. Ortugal; b. March 6, 1809; d. in Bloomington, Ill.P

He married Mary Polly Pratt of New Bedford, Mass. (or of Hartford, Conn.), and went as a pioneer into the wilds of Alleghany County. They lived there at first in a log cabin, with blankets hung up in place of doors. Often the deer, fleeing from wolves, would rush into the cabin seeking protection from the friendly occupants. Mrs. Lyon lived, in those years (about the time of the war of 1812) in constant fear of savage Indians. Mr. Lyon became finally county judge in Alleghany Co.

Children of Abraham J. and Mary (Pratt) Lyon, born in Rushford, N.Y.:

*1526. I. Ebenezer Pratt (Eben); b. in 1812; d. Rushford, N.Y., 1879.

WILLIAM LYON
of New Haven, Conn.

The ancestry of William Lyon of Boston and New Haven (circ. 1695-1743) has not yet been ascertained, but he was almost certainly not of either of the Fairfield families. It is likely that he belonged to one of the Dorchester families, or possibly even may have been a grandson of William of Roxbury. Boston records give us the fact of his marriage, Dec. 9, 1714, to Experience Hayward (Howard, and note the birth of three children: 1. William, born April 10, 1716; 2. Mary, born Dec. 16, 1717; 3. Experience, born March 8, 1719. We find him some years later, probably about 1730-35, the purchaser of a part of the old homestead of Samuel Gilbert of New Haven (d. 1721). He was a tailor, and it is stated that he was the first Lyon to come to New Haven. The children who came with him to New Haven were William and Experience. After the death of the first William, the old house was occupied for a time by the widow and her two children. In 1747 it was sold to Silence Hayward, evidently a sister of Experience. In 1754 it was purchased by John Brainerd who had become the husband of Experience Lyon. John Brainerd, born at Haddam, Conn., Feb. 28, 1722, son of Hon. Hezekiah and Dorothy (Mason) Brainerd, was a younger brother of David Brainerd, the devoted missionary to the Indians. John was a graduate of Yale College 1746. After the death of David (1747) John succeeded him, laboring with equal zeal and success, albeit under great discouragements, in the same field in New Jersey. He afterwards preached in Newark, and elsewhere in New Jersey, settling finally in Deerfield, where he died March 18, 1781. Experience (Lyon) Brainerd had died many years before (1757), and shortly afterwards two of their three children. The third, Mary Brainerd, married Dr. ___ Ross of New Jersey. John Brainerd married a second wife, a widow, Mrs. Experience Price, who survived him and died in 1793. They had no children.

William Lyon, son of William and Experience Hayward Lyon, married, April 24, 1747, Lois Mansfield and was father of Col. William Lyon, born March 6, 1748; d. Oct. 12, 1830 (G.R. New Haven Cemetery), who took a prominent part in the Revolutionary history of New Haven, and later became president of the New Haven Bank.

HON. LUCIUS LYON of Michigan

Without attempting to settle the question of the ancestry of this eminent man*, we offer here a brief sketch of his life. he was born in Shelburne, Vt. Feb. 20, 1800; son of Asa Lyon a farmer but a man highly esteemed in the community in which he lived. (Note that Rev. Asa Lyon of South Hero, Vermont, married a Shelburne lady and was a contemporary of this Asa). His mother was Sarah Atwater, daughter of Ambrose Atwater of Wallingford, Conn. Lucius studied engineering and land surveying in Burlington, vt. At the age of twenty two he went to Detroit, Mich., and was appointed by the U.S. Surveyor General one of his deputies for the district northwest of the Ohio. he was elected delegate from the Territory of Michigan to U.S. Congress and served as long as Michigan remained a territory. He was a member of the convention called to form a constitution for the new State. He was particularly active in the convention in securing the adoption of those provisions by which public lands were set apart to secure a permanent endowment for the educational institutions of the State. He was elected by the first State Legislature Senator in Congress and served in that capacity until 1839 when he removed his residence to Grand Rapids and devoted himself to developing the natural resources of that part of the state. Subsequently he was appointed by President Polk U.S. Surveyor General for the States of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, his office to be located in Detroit as a condition of acceptance. He was always actively interested in public affairs, and was one of the first Board of Regents appointed by Governor Mason in 1837. In his earlier days he was one of those interested in the Detroit Hydraulic Company which held a franchise for supplying the city with water. The plant of the company was purchased by the City in 1836. In Grand Rapids, Lyon Street was named in his honor. Lucius Lyon remained a bachelor, sharing his home in his later years with a maiden sister. He died in Detroit, Sept. 24, 1851.

*Jonathan Lyon, probably No. 141, came to Shelburne, Vt. in 1788, from Redding, Conn., with sons Robert and William and three daughters. Jonathan died in the spring of 1791. Asa may possibly have been his son. It is perhaps more likely that he was No. 154, a cousing of Jonathan. We know that brothers of both Jonathan and Asa settled in Berkshire Co., Mass. The Rev. Asa Lyon from Woodstock, Conn., who settled in South Hero, Vt., 1795, was of an entirely different family, and is mentioned in this connection merely to say that he could not have been the father of Lucius. Lucius Lyon was the oldest son in a family of seven children. It is stated that his ancestral line in Connecticut runs back to the earliest days of the New Haven Colony. For a detailed account of his life, see Mich. Pioneer Collections, Vol. XIII.

LYON PIONEERS IN MICHIGAN

The name Lyon appears first in Michigan, so far as known to the writer, about 1780, when there was at the military post at Michili Mackinac a Benjamin Lyon, of whose antecedents, however, nothing has been ascertained. He seems not to have become a permanent resident in Michigan.

In 1822 Lucius Lyon came to the territory from Vermont, as has already been stated. He was almost certainly of the family of Richard Lyon of Fairfield. Four years later Timothy Lyon of the same family (No. 321 of the foregoing record) came to Plymouth, Mich., from New York State. Next, about 1830, Samuel Lyon, a descendant of Thomas Lyon of Rye, came from New York to Ann Arbor. Some of his descendants still live in Michigan, at Scio, St. John's and elsewhere.

Some descendants of William Lyon of Roxbury have settled in Michigan - none at any very early date. Among them may be mentioned particularly Emerson Lyon (No. 764) who settled in Jackson, and Royal C. Lyon (No. 1009) who came to Bengal 1853. The family of Henry Lyon was represented by Isaac Lyon (No. 727 in the record), at one time prominently engaged in the lumber industry of the state. From New York State, of unknown ancestry, came Clorinda Lyon, died Summit, Jackson Co., Nov. 20, 1899, ae. 87 y., and (about 1856) three sons and a married daughter of Daniel Lyon of Walworth, Wayne Co. (See Lyon memorial, Mass. Families, p. 313.) Of Horatio Lyon, who died at Eagle, Clinton Co., Aug. 21, 1887, ae 82, having lived at Eagle more than 40 years, nothing is known to the writer.

J. B. Lyon, an old resident of Flint, Mich., who died about 1905 was of a Vermont family whose origin has not been traced, descended perhaps from Richard. The family removed about 1790-1800 to New York State, settling mostly in Ontario Co. There was six brothers; 1. Simeon, settled at Naples, N.Y., and died there; 2. Alanson, also died in Naples; 3. Justus, died at Clymer, Cataraugus Co., N.Y.; 4. Jonathan, removed finally to Illinois, and died there; 5. Joshua, came to Naples about 1800 and died there; 6. Oliver, died in Richmond, Ontario Co., N.Y. There were also several sisters who came to New York State. The parents names, not ascertained, died also in Naples, N.Y. The youngest son of Joshua, J. B. Lyon, born Nov. 1819, came as a pioneer to Michigan and settled in Flint.

There remain for more extended notice three prominent names belonging to a Lyon family of Shelburne Vt., from which place also Hon. Lucius Lyon came. These were of the family of Richard Lyon of Fairfield, yet the evidence is inconclusive. We know that in 1788, a Jonathan Lyon with sons Robert and William, also four daughters, came to Shelburne from Redding Conn. This was no doubt No. 141 of the foregoing record.

Another Lyon, Timothy, came to Shelburne as early as 1795. He was born September 9, 1771, Weston Ct., son Gershom Jr.*

TIMOTHY LYON^6, (Gershom^5, Gershom^4, Daniel^3, Richard^2, Richard^1) married Mary Hawley. Among his children were: 1. Truman Hawley, born Shelburne, Feb. 24, 1801 and 2. Edward, born Shelburne, June 12, 1805. Truman Hawley Lyon came to Lyons, Michigan 1836. He kept a hotel in that place, became a Justice of the Peace and held other local offices. He was superintendent or light houses on Lake Michigan, and let contracts for their construction. In 1840 he went to Grand Rapids, where he kept a hotel and was a merchant and for many years post-master. He was State Senator 1853. Died Sept. 14, 1872.

*Gershom of Shelburne, Vt. in a quit claim deed to broth Isaac mentions father Gershom of Weston, Ct. deceased.

His wife, whose maiden name was Lucinda Farnham, survived him, and a few years ago was still living, ae. 91. Judge Truman H. Lyon had seven sons and one daughter.

EDWARD LYON, son of Timothy and Mary (Hawley) Lyon, in his early years was engaged in the steam boat business on Lake Champlain*. He went to Cleveland about 1833 and kept the best hotel in that city for several years. In 1836 he came to Detroit and thence to Ionia County, Mich., where he founded the town of Lyons. In 1840 he returned to detroit and bought the National Hotel, where afterwards stood the Russell House, and now its successor, the Pontchartrain. This he kept six years, after which he assumed the management of the Michigan Exchange, and for forty years maintained there the reputation he had won of realizing the ideal host.

JAMES D. LYON, Eldest son of Judge Truman H. Lyon was born in Livingston Co., N.Y., Jan. 15, 1825. He came to Michigan in 1836. He was deputy Post-master in Grand Rapids 1861-1865; Constable 1852, Assessor 1856, City Treasurer 1869, City Marshall 1872. In 1848 he established a book and stationery business in Grand Rapids. A brother, C. D. Lyon, is of the firm Eaton, Lyon & Co. Another brother, Farnham Lyon, keeps the Bancroft House in Saginaw.

TRUMAN HAWLEY LYON, JR. another son of Judge Truman H. Lyon, was born at Parishville, St. Lawrence Co., N.Y., Feb. 24, 1826. In 1836 the family moved to Michigan. He was in Detroit 1847-1850, with his uncle, in Michigan Exchange Hotel; returned to Grand Rapids and was in drug business there 1859-1861; in 1870 became proprietor of Sweet's Hotel. He married first, Nov. 1851, at Grand Rapids, Miss Delia Morton, daughter of Russell Morton. They had two children. He married second Miss Eliza Blair of Grand Rapids, sister of James Blair, Esq., and by her had one daughter.

*Dan Lyon, of Burlington, was for nearly twenty years (1825-1844) Captain of one or another of five passenger steamers that ran on Lake Champlain, between Burlington and Plattsburgh, and won the admiration of travellers of that day. It is likely that he was of the same family as Edward.

SAMUEL S. LYON, son of John S. Lyon (Page 251). From an obituary notice, the following items are gleaned. He was born in Parsippany, N.H. in 1805. He settled in Boonton about 1865, engaging there in mercantile business. He was at one time mayor of the town. In 1888 he was elected to the New Jersey Assembly, and served as reading clerk in the house. He was appointed by President McKinley, about 1898, U.S. Counsul to Kobe, Japan, and was serving his second term in that capacity when he was stricken with paralysis March 29, 1904. He married first __ Righter, of Parsippany and second Mary Eugenie Estler, of Boonton. Five children survived him; J. Righter Lyon and Miss Gussie Lyon by his first wife and Raymond (b. 1897), Lew Eugene (b. 1900) and Arlton (b. 1892) by his second wife.

PETER LYON JR., No. 162, pp. 268-279. According to his grandson, Marvin B. Lyon, (see page 440a) Peter had: 1. David Silliman, born March 18; 1802; 2. Sherwood; 3. Morris; 4. Andrew; 5. Sener, m. Lucius French; perhaps other children. David S. Lyon married Iva Chase, of _______ Tompkins Co., N.Y.; lived last in Sparta, O.; died May 2, 1889, at Traverse City, Mich., at home of his son Edwin. Children of David S. and Iva (Chase) Lyon: Marvin B., born Tompkins, Co., N.Y., Nov. 24, 1830; 2. Cornelia, born June 8, 1832; died in summer of 1857; 3. Edwin L., born July 7, 1837; died Oct. 30, 1906, in traverse City, Mich.; 4. Daniel E., born March 21, 1841, res. (1907) Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

Marvin B. Lyon resides in Bloomfield, Morrow Co., O., where he has been post master forty-five years, and has held important public offices. He married Jan. 1, 1852, at Hilliar twp., Knox. Co., O., Selina Chadwick. Their children were: 1. Orlin M., born Dec. 24, 1852; married Hena Gray (a son, Clarence A., married Maggie Kees); 2. Ernest W., born Feb. 26, 1856; died Feb. 27, 1893; m. Dec. 1880, Ida B. Lloyd; a son Ellmer O., was born Jan. 7, 1889.

REV PHILIP LYON, who was settled at one time in Napoli, Chautauqua Co., N.Y., is believed by his grandson, Ernest Neal Lyon, to have been of the family of Richard, of Fairfield. The belief seems to have no definite foundation, since it postulates also kinship with both General Nathaniel Lyon of Ashford, and Mary Lyon, whose grandfather was of Sturbridge, Mass. Philip Lyon is said to have been born in Northampton, Mass. This together with the fact that the name Philip* occurs among descendants in Massachusetts of William Lyon of Roxbury, inclines one to look rather to Woodstock than to Fairfield for the ancestors of this Baptist minister. The question cannot, however, be settled by any evidence in hand. All that has been ascertained is that Philip married a Northampton girl, Susan Curtis, and that they had a son, Adoniram Judson Lyon, born in Napoli, Chatauqua Co., N.Y.

ADONIRAM JUDSON LYON (Philip) was graduated from Madison (now Colgate) University, and from Hamilton Theological Seminary and became a Baptist minister. He was pastor in Deleware and in Lancaster, Ohio, and in Greenfield, Mass., and resides (1905) in Huntington, O. He married at Fabius, N.Y., June 24, 1868, Mary E. Wheaton, daughter of Elmer and Ann E. (Stevens) Wheaton of Fabius.

Children of Adoniram J. and Mary E. (Wheaton) Lyon:

I. Frederick W.; b. Delaware, O., July 3, 1870; d. Greenfield, Mass., Jan. 14, 1875.

II. Ernest Neal; b. Greenfield, Mass., Oct. 26, 1873.

III. Grace V.; b. Rockport, Mass., Feb. 9, 1876.

*Lyon Memorial, Massachusets Families, p.48.

If Marvin B. Lyon was son of David Silliman Lyon then the information he gives about David's marriage and children is probably correct. However, David Silliman Lyon b. 18 Mar. 1802 at Weston, Ct. was the son of Andrew^{6} Lyon (Zechariah^{5}, Nathaniel^{4}, Nathaniel^{3}, William^{2}, Richard^{1}) by his 2nd wife mary (Silliman) (Sherwood) Lyon. Peter and Sener were Andrew's children by his 1st wife Sarah (Sherwood). Sherwood Lyon, b. 1898, was also by 2nd wife Mary. Adnrew's 3rd wife had Morris, Mary Anne, Andrew B. and Zalmon. Weston, Ct. land records show that Andrew^{6} and wife Sarah lived in Redding, Ct. until at least 1794. He was probably the Freeman listed there in 1790,. His probate, 1826, lists all of his above named children, giving Sener as wife of Lucius French and states Peter is deceased.

There was another Andrew Lyon in Weston who married Mary Summers. He was living next door to Zechariah^{5} Lyon, and is not positively identified. He was called Andrew Jr. while the other was Andrew 2nd either because he was younger, or more probably because he was named for his mother's brother Andrew Lane.

That this is the same David Silliman Lyon is proven by a land record in Weston Ct 1827 which reads: David S. Lyon of the Town of Weston, Ct formerly of the Town of Hector, County of Tomkins, State of N.Y. sold to Sherwood Lyon land inherited from father.

In another deed at Weston Ct., 1838, David S. Lyon then of Knox Co. Ohio sold to Andrew B. Lyon...

The will of Sherwood Lyon, 1876, at Weston Ct. lists David S. Lyon as living Bloomfield, Morrow Co., Ohio.

A Weston Ct. deed, 1827, states that Lucius French and Sener French husband and wife of Bloomfield Knox Co., Ohio, QC for their share of the estate of Andrew Lyon.

It would appear that David S. Lyon went to Hector as a young man, 18-20, married there and remained a few years. He than returned to Weston Ct. (by 1827) and then joined the families of his older 1/2 brother and sister, Peter and Sener, in Ohio.

THE FAMILY OF SALOME (LYON) FARNSWORTH

Salome Lyon was born 9 May 1801, in New York we presume, Unadilla. She married ca 1822 Frederick Farnsworth. By 1836, she had gone west to Illinois, as there, in that year, a daughter was born. From there they went on to Wisconsin, settling in Geneva Lake, Walworth County. By 1846, Frederck had died, as she is listed as the Widow F. Farnsworth, in the territorial census for that year. She did own land. But came the Gold Strike in California, and she was left at home, most of her children seeking the rich ores. But, by 1864, her son, Fred, Jr. came back to get his mother and take her to the rest of the family in the Petrolia area of northern California. There she lived with her oldest daughter, Lucy, and her family, until she passed away, 6 mar 1871, and was buried in the local cemetery. The winds of time have burned some of the wooden markers, and not all graves are to be seen and identified at this time. Prairie fires do take their toll. Frederick and Salome (Lyon) Farnsworth numbered six in their brood of loving children.

1. Lucy Ann, b , married Lucian Wright, who was a stone cutter. They were married in Geneva, Wisconsin.
2. Esther, b , married Marquis/Marcus Baldwin, who had a harness shop in Eureka, california. They married in Geneva, Wisconsin.
3. Julia married in Geneva, but was divorced. She also went to California.
4. Frederick, Jr. Married and had a family. He married Minerva (___) . They later moved to Washington or Oregon.
5. Marilla, married and stayed in Wisconsin. She married first, Austin Bell. Married second ________ Woodward.
6. Rosina, married Asa Butler. They went west also.
7. Adelia, married a Stephens and went to Canada. She was born 1836, in Illinois.

His story: He was born in North Java, NY. He graduated from Attica High School. After graduation, he taught a few terms in local rural schools. Later, he worked in the office of the Perry Knitting Mills. After his marriage to Grace Stanton, daughter of Charles and Mary (Rathbun), of Castile, he went to greenville, Penn. to work in the offices of the Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad. From this employment, he retired in 1953, and removed to Florida. He authored several short stories and, also interested in drama, took roles in several religious productions, some of which he wrote.

A man of many talents, he had an interest in lapidary work, and for many years, he taught classes in this, appeared on TV, showing and explaining the process.

Not the least of his interests was that of his ancestry, which caused him, through his reseach, to found the LYON(S) FAMILIES ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN, in 1949. He was its first president, holding office until 1964. The LYON ASSOCIATION can look back with pride, on their organization and its founder Howard C. Lyon.

In 1817 Walker LYON and a few others arrived in Bloomfield area.

WALKER LYON and family came all the way from Connecticut, in one wagon drawn by two yoke of oxen with a horse, ridden by one of the party, on the lead. They were forty days on the road, and when their destination, was reached, freezing cold weather had set in. It was too cold to mix mortor, so the chinks in their hastily erected cabin were filled with moss gathered from far and near in the woods. One of the first settlers brought with him an ash board, which was honored with the central place in the only door of his cabin.

To whom it may concern,

I have not sent in Lyon genealogy prior to this. I wasn't sure you wanted female lines, when the name Lyon disappears. My husband has a curious descent from Henry Lyon (1619-1703), as both of his great-grandparents were descendants.

Please use another page for additional family members when necessary. NAMES, PLACES AND DATES Are extremely important in tracing family lines. Sometimes a single clue may solve a question of many years. As a family association, we do our best to help all with a similar name, to trace their family heritage. Often our ancestors misspelled names due to phonetic spellings. Hence: LION, LYON, LINE, LYONS, LINES, LINNS, LYNNS, LINES, LYNES, LYAN, LYNG, and Van der LINE. Also LYND and LINDE. All with a common beginning.

MARCH 15, 19[illegible]

Dear Mr. Lyon;

My daddy, Olen Lyon (the 2nd President of the Lyon's Families Assoc. of America) says my great-great grandfather Ezekiel Lyon b. 1785 (written on 2nd marriage licence 12-15-1858 at Mountain City, Tenn. to Debby Presnell Von Cannon) in Hampshire Co., Va. was the son of John Lyon and was named after John's brother Ezekiel Lyon. John Lyon and brother Ezekiel Lyon from Hampshire Co, Va. bought 100 acres each in Washington Co., Tenn. on 8-11-1788.

My great-grandfather Henry Clay Lyon was born 5-10-1852 in Johnston Co, Tenn. Enclosed you will find a picture of him, which was on tin. Also enclosed are pictures of all his children as they were as young adults and some of his grandchildren. Also enclosed is a picture of the Sidney Lyon's residence in July 1916 near Knight, Wyo. on the Union Pacific Railroad right before he left sheep herding in the West to return to Randolph County, N.C. to be a mailman in rural Randolph County out of the Ulah post office.

Enclosed is $25.00 for the Volume # (book) which will contain my genelogy. Please let me know in advance

Sincerely,
Wyle Larry Lyon

Please use another page for additional family members when necessary. NAMES, PLACES AND DATES are extremely important in tracing family lines. Sometimes a single clue may solve a question of many years. As a family association, we do our best to help all with a similar name, to trace their family heritage. Often our ancestors misspelled names due to phonetic spellings. Hence: LION, LYON, LINE, LYONS, LINES, LIONS, LYNNS, LINNS, LYNES, LYAN, LYNG, and Van der LINE. Also LYND and LYNDE. All with a common beginning.

Line # 1 RICHARD LYON OF FAIRFIELD CONNECTICUT

1. Richard Lyon
Was in Fairfield Ct. by May 1649. He was made a Freeman 1664. His will was dated 12 April 1678 and his inventory was dated 17 Oct. 1678. He married Margaret whose inventory was dated 23 March 1705.

2. Richard Lyon
Born ca 1653 probably in Fairfield, Ct. He died at Redding, Ct. Jan. 1740 age 87. He married Mary. The Lyon Memorial suggests that she was the daughter of Mihil Frye who left Richard Lyon ten shillings. They misread the name of Milhil TRY whose only child was Sarah who married John Grumman. Their son John Grumman Jr. married as his second wife Esther, widow of Nathaniel Perry and daughter of Richard Lyon. Mihil's will left ten shillings to Richard Lyon, Sr. (The old fashioned "S" may have been read as "J".)

3. Daniel Lyon
Born 3 Oct. 1697 at Ffld. Ct. he married at Ffld. Sarah Jennings, dau. Samuel and Sarah (Grumman) Jennings, born 9 Feb. 1699/1700 at Ffld. They were married 7 Aug. 1718 and were living in Redding, Ct. in 1768 when they conveyed to Ephraim Seeley.

4. Gershom Lyon
Born Ffld. Ct. 10 July 1725, died 3 May 1801 at Weston, Ct. (The part of Weston that became Easton in 1845) He married at Westport, Ct. Mary Bulkley. She was probably the daughter of Thomas and Abigail Bulkley of Westport. She was born 1720, married 25 April 1745 and died 10 May 1801. Gershom and Mary are buried in the Lyon Cem. Sport Hill Rd. Easton, Ct. (called Rockhouse in Lyon Memorial). Gershom is listed as a Patriot in the D. A. R.

5. Daniel Lyon
Born 1752, he died 28 Jan 1815, Weston, Ct. M/1 Phebe Seeley who divorced him. No known children. M/2 Huldah, widow of Ezekiel Hawley (Bulkley Gen., Jacobus) and daughter of Henry and Rebecca (Sanford) Lyon of Redding, born 1 Aug. 1752, died 2 May 1833, Weston, Ct. D. L. Jacobus in his Families of Old Fairfield suggests that Huldah may have married Ezekiel Hawley of North Salem, New York. That Ezekiel did not die until 1786. One Ezekiel Hawley enlisted in the Rev. at Bridgeport, Ct. 1776. Daniel and Huldah are buried in Lyon Cem. Easton, Ct.

3. Nathan Lyon (Richard, Richard) born 28 November 1703 at Fairfield Ct. Died at Redding Ct. 21 November 1757 buried Episc. Church Cemetary, Redding married Abigail* widow Robert Meeker.

4. Henry Lyon
born ca 1730 died Redding Ct. 24 Dec 1773 43 yrs (g s) buried Episc. Cemetary Redding. married Rebecca dau Lemuel and Rebecca (Squire) Sanford born 29 Oct 1732 died 7 Mar 1775 43 yrs (g s) buried Episc. Church Cemetary Redding. The wills of Henry 1773, Rebecca 1775 and Lemuel Sanford 1778 all name the children of Henry and Rebecca.

5. Huldah Lyon
born 1 August 1752 m/1 Dec. 1770 Ezekiel Hawley Jr. who died. m/2 her second cousin Daniel Lyon

* Some years ago I recieved a letter stating that Abigail was a Mallory of New Haven. It was undocumented so I never used the information. Recent research shows that Peter Mallory of Stratford, Ct. son of Peter Mallory of New Haven had a daughter Abigail born 5 Aug. 1701(Jacobus: Families of New Haven) She is not accounted for in the records. Nathan and Abigail Lyon named a son Peter. In 1762 David, son of Nathan and Abigail Lyon was Administrator of the will of Ebenezer Mallory of Fairfield. If Abigail was a Mallory then Ebenezer was her cousin.

On this page I hope to clarify the material I am sending to you.

First is the deed I have mentioned in which Gershom Lyon of Shelburne, Vermont states "My honored Father Gershom Lyon, late of said Weston, deceased" etc. We feel that this deed does prove the connection of the Shelburne, Vermont Lyons with the Lyons of Fairfield, Connecticut.

Next are copies made from the Bible of Asa Lyon, dated 1816. We are not sure who made the entries. The Bible came down through the hands of George Lyon, last son of Asa, going next to Henry, a son of George, and then into the hands of Frank Lyon, a son of Henry. It is now in the possession of Frank Lyon's daughter, Ellen Marie Barnhard who lives in N. Muskegon, Michigan.
In 1916 Frank Lyon made copies of all the information in the Bible of Asa and, since the copies we made from the Bible are not of good quality, I am sending copies from the hand copied work of Frank. These are quite good and will assist in reading those from the Bible.

Another group of copies is next. These are made directly from the Bible of Lucius Lyon, son of Asa and Sarah (Atwater) Lyon. An inscription on the cover of this Bible states that Lucius received it as a gift in 1850 from the clerks in his office. Lucius died in 1851 and from that time until 1916 George W. Thayer had possession of the Bible and I believe that most of the entries were made by him. I have seen handwriting that was known to be his and I believe that in the Bible to be his handwriting.
This is the Lucius Lyon who was prominent in early Michigan history and was one of the first Senators from Michigan in United States Congress.
In the Michigan Pioneer Collection, Volume 13, pages 325 to 333, is an excellent sketch of Lucious Lyon. Also many of his letters, both private and business, sent and received, can be found in volume 27 of the same collection.

I am also sending copies of pages 13, 14, 15 and 21 of my records. On pages 13, 14 and 15 are records of the Lyons starting with Gershom, Sr. Page 21 is included because it shows Pamelia Lyon, who was eldest daughter of Asa Lyon and married Nathaniel Thayer. Their granddaughter married Henry Lyon, son of George Lyon, half-brother of Pamelia.

Dear Juanita,

In the May-June issue of the Genealogical Helper I saw the notice of the Lyon(s) Family Assc. of America's reunion at Salt Lake City on August 11.

I did not know before there was a Lyon Association and I am interested to know more about it, and about your records, etc., for I have been searching for my grandfather, Greenwood Eaton Lyon, for several years.

I am enclosing a short pedigree chart and copy of the related family groups (on the back of it) for you to look over to see if you think it is possible I might find information through the Lyon Family Association.

My grandfather was born in Maine--that I know for sure from two other records (1) Marriage record of December 21, 1868 in Trenton, New Jersey. He was 32 years at the time, and was a WIDOWER, when he married my grandmother Mary Ann Laing 23 years old. Both were residing in Liville, N. J. (a suburb of Trenton) although the family of Mary Ann were in Lambertville, New Jersey.

(2) The census of 1870 shows Greenwood, my grandmother and my father then 10 months old living together as a family in Lambertville. Greenwood was a mechanic and machinest presumably in the paper mill, as that is where the Laings were employed also.

About 1872 or 1873 my grandfather and grandmother separated and I have never found any record of my grandfather since. I never lived near my grandmother so never heard any details. Greenwood Eaton was no doubt a descendant of ELIAB LYON, son of Peter Lyon, 3rd, who was born 2 July 1735 in Walpole, Mass. and his third wife SARAH HALL. Eliab and family moved to Maine in 1787 (11 children - 8 sons and 3 daughters) and settled in the area known now as Readfield.

I have been through the records of all 8 sons of Eliab and find the only placemy grandfather could have descended from is Co nelius, born 1773 in Walpole, Mass but who lived in Readfield, then Belmont and later in Alexander and up Mattawamkeag area. Cornelius had a son Greenwood, born 1814 and died 1908, who in turn had a son Greenwood born 1843--7 years after my grandfather was born (1835-6).

It appears only one other Lyon named a child Greenwood Eaton and that was Eliab's grandson Samuel of Readfield. That Greenwood was born in 1831 five years before my grandfather and this Greenwood married Sarah Achorn and both lived to an old age and died in Buffalo, New Yokk.

I will not bore you with more details, but I thought you might tell me if any of these names sound familiar. I shall be very interested to hear from you.

Sincerely,

(Mrs. Perley M.) Theresa Lyon Burnham

Please use another page for additional family members when necessary. NAMES, PLACES AND DATES are extremely important in tracing family lines. Sometimes a single clue may solve a question of many years. As a family association, we do our best to help all with a similar name, to trace their family heritage. Often our ancestors misspelled names due to phonetic spellings. Hence: LION, LYON, LINE, LINES, LINNS, LYNNS, LIENS, LYAN, LYNG and VAN DER LINE, LYND AND LYNDE. All with a common beginning.

Please use another page for additional family members when necessary. NAMES, PLACES AND DATES are extremely important in tracing family lines. Sometimes a single clue may solve a question of many years. As a family association, we do our best to help all with a similar name, to trace their family heritage. Often our ancestors misspelled names due to phonetic spellings. Hence: LION, LYON, LINE, LYONS, LINES, LIONS, LYNNS, LINNS, LYNNS, LYAN, LYNN, and Van der LINE. Also LYND and LYNDE. All with a common beginning.

Mr. Charles Lyon President
Lyon(s) Families Assoc. of America
937 E. 7th Street
Salt Lake City, Utah 84102

Dear Mr. Lyon:

In reply to your letter dated September 21, 1982 to my husband who is not a member or does not have any Lyon(s) relatives other than through his marriage to me. My maiden name was Lyons. I am the one who is the member not he.

I have traced my fathers family to Wm Lyon(s) a Pvt who served in the Revolutionary War in Virginia. I am hoping the Lyon Memorial Vol II will contain a clue that will enable me to get a step further back in my Lyons family history.

I am Nina Lee (Lyons) Hughes daughter of Arthur John Lyons & Nancy Beatrice Carter
Son of Charles Payton Lyons (Sr) & Sarah A House

Son of Ephraim Lyons (Jr) & Barshaba Phillips
* Son of Ephraim Lyons (Sr) & Mary "Polly" Snider
b. (Prob. Rockbridge Co) Va.
Son of Wm Lyons and Mary (?)
This William Lyons was killed during the Revolutionary War. According to the History of Rockbridge Co. Virginia by Oren F. Morton he left a widow & 5 sons

Wm b c. 1776
John b c. 1778
Peter b c 1781 > Twins
Paul b c. 1781
* Ephraim b c 1783

Ephraim & Paul listed above died in Hancock Co. Kentucky (my father's birthplace) Both having married in Botetourt Co. Virginia.

When Hancock Co Ky was formed in 1829 County lines separated the families somewhat. I have John, Paul & Ephraim's will & have done extensive research on their families to the present for a book I intend to publish soon on this branch.

I also have a Wm Lyon in Breckinridge Co Ky that may be related but is not the Wm b. 1776. (He died 1848 & his age is too young to be Wm b 1776

I have located 66 pages of records where Virginia paid a pension to Mary (_?_) Lyons widow of Pvt Wm Lyons killed in the Revolutionary War. Mentioned over & over in the file are the 5 sons. I have records of the boys being bound out & the papers traced seem to indicate their dates of birth (including probably month of birth) is a little off from the History of Rockbridge Co Va by Morton. Never in all the 66 pages of pension records paid to Mary Lyons, by the State of Virginia, were any girls mentioned. Yet the last pension payment made indicates she died in Botetourt Co. in November 1807. There is a will for her in Botetourt County dated Oct 31, 1807 & proven in Dec court 1807 leaving everything to a daughter Peggy. The will was witnessed by Ephraim Lyons (my gr gr grandfather) & Mrs. Sally Lyons (Paul's wife was named Sarah "Sally" (Newton) Lyons). Also a Helm.

There is a marriage in Botetourt County for Peggy Lyons to a John Hayslip. I have been unable to locate them on the 1810 census. For awhile I thought Peggy Lyons was the 2nd wife of John Hayslip. However the John Hayslip who married a Peggy Lockhart has been located in Pennsylvania later & contact with descendants show she (Peggy Lockhart) was alive & living with John Hayslip well past the marriage of John Hayslip to Peggy Lyon. Possibly these 2 different John Hayslip's were 1st cousins.

There is a strong Possibility that Wm & Mary (?) Lyon(s) also had a daughter Nancy who married in Botetourt County a John Matthews. I have been unable to locate John & Nancy
(Lyons) Matthews on the 1810 Census
A Paul Lyons was surety & "father
Wm" was listed as "deceased".

There was a Paul Lyons on the Tax list in Botetourt County too old to be the son of Wm &
Mary (?) Lyons. I feel however the Lyon(s) in Botetourt around 1780 - 1810 were related to "my"
William Lyon(s),

I have proven this direct line back to Wm Lyons soldier of the Revolutionary War for the Daughters of the American Revolution. This was a line never proven for them before I proved it with legal papers each generation.

I am hoping the Vol II will be of help to me. I have never seen the 1st printing of Vol II even, but understand it has more of Virginia in it than Vol I etc.

I have a lot of Lyon(s) research notes. It is my hope to someday prove the parentage of Wm & his wife Mary. For a while she returned to Hampshire Co. after her husband's death (now part of W. Virginia). Whether this was her family home or his I do not know. I was disappointed that in the 66 pages of the pension file in Virginia Archives did not show or state what proof she presented in Court in Rockbridge Co. Va. to get her first pension. It just stated she produced "evidence in Court" that she was the widow of W^m Lyons who "fell at the Battle of Guilford." among the file were petitions & papers signed by "P. Henry" & other early famous Virginians.

If I can be of any further help with my branch of the family in Vol II I would be glad to assist.

Yours truly

Nina Lee (Lyons) Hughes

Gershom Sr. deeds 17 acres and 3/4 of land to his son Gershom, March 20, 1773. In land records at Weston Conn., liber 7, page 432 is a deed from Gershom Lyon of Shelburne, Chittendon Co., Vermont to his brother Isaac in which he quit-claims all right and title which he has in the real estate of "my Honored Father Gershom Lyon, late of Weston ". The rest of the information for the Lyon family is from gravestone inscriptions at Spears Road Cemetery at Shelburne Vermont and from the bible of Asa Lyon, son of Gershom, dated 1816.

Gershom married Sarah, last name unknown, about 1770.

Children of Gershom and Sarah Lyon were:

Timothy, born Sept. 9, 1771 at Weston Conn., died at Shelburne, Vermont March 9, 1813.
Asa, born June 14, 1773 at Weston Conn., died Sept. 22, 1850 in Vermont.

Gershom Lyon Jr. died Jan. 20, 1828 at Shelburne, age 77 years and Sarah died May 5, 1828 at Shelburne, age 75 years. Gershom, Sarah, Timothy and Asa are all buried in the Spears Road Cemetery at Shelburne, Vermont.

Timothy Lyon, son of Gershom and Sarah Lyon, married Mary Hawley, daughter of James and Amy (Fairchild) Hawley, born March 11, 1777 at Tinmouth Vermont. They had eight children.

Asa Lyon, son of Gershom and Sarah, born June 14, 1773 at Weston Conn. married first, Sarah Atwater, daughter of Ambrose and Sarah (Tryon) Atwater, born Feb. 11, 1777 at Cheshire Conn. They were married May 12, 1799.

Asa and Sarah had eight children.

Lucius, born Feb 20, 1800, never married, prominent in early Michigan government, died Sept. 25, 1851, buried in Elmwood Cemetery in Detroit Michigan.
Pamelia, born Nov. 14, 1801, married Nathaniel Thayer Dec. 3, 1823, died Jan. 10, 1857, buried in Elmwood Cemetery in Detroit Michigan.
Merab, born Oct. 29, 1803, died Aug. 9, 1837, Portage N.Y.
Orson, born July 26, 1805.
Lucretia, born Oct. 20, 1807, never married, kept house for Lucius in Michigan, died Dec. 16, 1893, buried in Elmwood Cemetery in Detroit Michigan.
Althea, born Sept. 9, 1809, died March 9, 1817, Shelburne.
Esther, born Sept. 7, 1811, died July 19, 1889, Grand Rapids Michigan.
Sarah, born Sept. 25, 1813, died Feb. 20, 1814, Shelburne.

Sarah, wife of Asa, died Sept. 28, 1813, three days after her daughter Sarah was born. They are both buried in the Spears Road Cemetery.

Asa Lyon married 2nd March 27, 1814 to Mary (Hawley) Lyon, widow of his brother Timothy. They had one child. Mary died July 17, 1836.

George Homer, born Nov. 15, 1817 at Shelburne, Vermont.

Asa Lyon married 3rd, May 18, 1837 to Mary (Atwater) Smith, widow of Peter B. Smith and sister of his first wife, Sarah Atwater.

George Homer Lyon, son of Asa and Mary (Hawley) Lyon, was born Nov. 15, 1817 at Shelburne Vermont. He married Phoebe Maria Russell April 21, 1840. She was a daughter of Elihu and Matilda (Cook) Russell born Oct. 31 1821 at Shelburne Vermont.

They had four children.

Homer Russell Lyon, and Horace Hawley Lyon, twins, born Aug. 23, 1842 at Shelburne Vermont.

Henry Edward Lyon, born March 6, 1852 at Massena, New York.

Ellen Matilda Lyon, born Nov. 4, 1857 in Gaines Township, Genesee Co. Michigan.

George and Phoebe lived for a time in or near Shelburne where the twins were born in 1842. By 1852 they were in Massena New York where Henry was born. In 1856 they were in Gaines Township, Genesee Co. Michigan and George was road commissioner and inspector of schools. George had acquired 240 acres of land. In 1857 he sold a part of his land and in 1861 he sold, possibly the remainder. During the time they were in Michigan Phoebe became ill, probably tuberculosis, and possibly for this reason they returned to Massena.New York. They were there by Oct. 1861 when the twins enlisted for service in the Union Army. They were mustered in at Potsdam New York.

Phoebe died Jan. 19, 1862 at Massena New York.

Homer died of measles while in the army at Potsdam N.Y. Feb. 13, 1862.

Horace was discharged during the summer of 1862 because of his health. He was in the army again by Sept. 1862 and served until June 3, 1864 when he was killed at the battle of Cold Harbor Virginia.

After Phoebe died Ellen lived with an aunt, her mother's sister, Luthera Russell until about 1867 when George returned to Michigan with what was left of his family. He acquired land on the south shore of Clam Lake where he lived the remainder of his life. He died there Dec. 11, 1891.

Henry Edward Lyon, son of George and Phoebe (Russell) Lyon was born in Massena New York March 6, 1852. He was in Gaines Township, Genesee Co. Michigan for a time between 1856 and 1861. He was probably in Massena New York in Jan. 1862 when his mother died there. He was either there or in Vermont or both until he returned to Michigan with his father in 1867. They were in Antrim Co. on the south shore of Clam Lake where his father had a farm. Henry spent the rest of his life there.

Cora Anna, born Oct. 18, 1880, married Parmer Henderson.
Fred R., born April 22, 1890.
Ruth Olive, born Oct. 10, 1893.

Henry Lyon died March 21, 1902. Anna married 2nd T. Alexander Turk, Dec. 15, 1904. She died May 24, 1917. Henry and Anna are buried in the Alden Cemetery. Anna's grave marker shows Anna Lyon.

Ellen attended college and received a medical degree and spent the rest of her life in China as a missionary. She died there July 21, 1919.

Cora Anna Lyon, daughter of Henry and Anna (Thayer) Lyon was born Oct. 18, 1880, in Helena Township, Antrim Co. Michigan. She married Parmer A. Henderson Nov. 16, 1901. To this union nine children were born, eight of whom are still living. They are shown in the Parmer A. Henderson family.

Cora (Lyon) Henderson died in the Pontiac General Hospital, in Oakland Co. Michigan, July 6, 1960 and is buried in the Flint Memorial Cemetery, Genesee Co. Michigan.

Nathaniel Thayer, eighth child of Caleb and Judith (Hayden) Thayer, born Jan. 10, 1795, married Oct. 14, 1821 Pamelia Lyon, daughter of Asa and Sarah (Atwater) Lyon, born Nov. 14, 1801. They settled in Burlington Vermont. There were three children.

Lucius Alexander, born Aug. 21, 1824.
Maria Louisa, born April 6, 1826 and died April 10, 1826.
George W., born Sept. 27, 1827.

Nathaniel Thayer died in 1850 at Poestenkill, Renssalear Co. New York.

Pamelia Thayer died Jan. 20, 1857, age 55, at Detroit Mich. She is buried in Elmwood Cemetery in Detroit.

Lucius Alexander Thayer, first child of Nathaniel and Pamelia (Lyon) Thayer, born Aug. 21, 1824 at Burlington Vermont, came to Michigan about 1838, probably influenced by his uncle, Lucius Lyon, who was prominent in early Michigan government. Lucius Lyon had an interest in salt works in the Grand Rapids area and Lucius Thayer was employed there for a time.

On Aug. 31, 1849 Lucius married Helen Marie Donelly, daughter of William and Cecilia Donelly. Helen was born April 19, 1832 in Troy New York. Lucius and Helen lived in Grand Rapids until 1859 and three children were born there. Lucius was then employed by the St. Mary Canal Co. locating land for them.

In 1859 they left Grand Rapids, traveling by small coaster along the east shore of Lake Michigan. They arrived at Megesee (now Elk Rapids) May 5, 1859 and proceeded to land near We-que-ge-mog (now Kewadin. Records show the location to be T29N, RSW on section 6. It appears they lived there until about 1862. One or two children were born there. They then moved across Torch Lake to section 4 near Clam River. Three children were born there making in all eight. Their first child, George, apparently died young in Grand Rapids since records do not show he went to Antrim Co. with the rest of the family.
The children are;

George, born 1850 at Grand Rapids.
Helen, born Dec. 11, 1854 at Grand Rapids.
Anna Lucretia, born April 24, 1857 at Grand Rapids.
Hattie L. born Nov. 11, 1859 at Megesee.
Abby E., born Sept. 21, 1862 at Megesee.
Frederick, born Sept. 24, 1865 in Helena Township.
Carrie V., born April 27 1868 in Helena Township.
Edward A., born Jan. 27, 1872 in Helena Township.

Lucius Thayer died Sept 3, 1876 and was buried in Elmwood Cemetery in Detroit Michigan.

JOHN LYONS

John Lyons of Freestone County, Texas was born in 1793 in the state of North Carolina. Documents note that he was in Georgia as early as 1800 with his family. During his residence in Georgia, he is located in Henry County and Thomas County.

It was in 1861 that the Lyons family traveled to Freestone County, Texas to begin a new life in a sparsely inhabited area called "Gourd Neck". In present times, the area is called Winkler-St Elmo Community. Here, John soon purchased a fertile piece of land to be called Lyons Prairie by the local folks. He and his son, John T. Lyons, established a general store which housed the St Elmo Post Office, first post office of the vicinity. Early historical records also state that it was on Lyons Prairie where the first attempt at establishing a school occurred. Residents simply combined their money and efforts to build a log house and hire a teacher for their children. In later years, the school was relocated in the church and named St Elmo School District.

John Lyons died in the St Elmo Community in 1878. Both he and his first wife are buried on Lyons Prairie. Estate papers indicate that he possessed substaintual wealth for those times. Of course, the wealth was divided among his children and soon disappeared. He is known to have married twice. The first marriage was to Sarilda Caroline Lewis in the year of 1812 in Georgia. She was born in 1793 and died in 1870 on Lyons Paririe in Freestone County. She was the daughter of the pioneer Lewis family of Georgia. Her grandfather, Peter Lewis, received a land grant in Henry County, Georg for serice during the American Revolutionary War. Parents of Sarilda Caroline were Thomas Lewis and Mary Duke of Butts County, Georgia. Four known children resulted from the marriage of John and Sarilda: Sarilda Ann, Mary (Mollie), Francis R., and John T.

He began his career on the Ohio River piloting coal boats which were floated down river from Pittsburg to New Orleans. With the coming of steamboats into the area, he got his license to pilot a steamer 2 June 1865.

In May 1861, George W. was appointed by Governor Oliver P. Morton as Capt. of the Volunteer Militia Co., called the Leavenworth Grays. During the Civil War he was active in the time of Hinds and Morgan's Raid as recorded in the History of Crawford County by H.H. Pleasant.

After the war he went into the mercantile business with his brother in law, but the river was a part of this operation as produce of the area was taken in as payment for the goods they sold due to the economic condition of the times. The goods were taken to southern markets on flat-boats.

He moved his family to Tell City, Ind. around 1872. Perry County, a History, by T. J. De La Hunt recounts that in 1872 a large brick factory was built by G. W. Lyon and a partner at the cost of $16,000m including machinery. It still stands today and is used as a furniture factory." It is still in use in 1980. He sold this factory and went back into the boat business by purchasing the R. S. Triplett a steamboat. This was used to bring cotton out of the St. Francis River. This business flourished and other boats were purchase. All of the business now being in the south he moved his family to Greenville, Ms. in 1884. He continued in the boat business with his sons until his death on 1 June 1901. He is buried in Cedar Cemetery, Leavenworth, Ind.

David Lyon was born in Connecticut around 1784. Family tradition says he was born in Fairfield County and that he went to Delaware County, New York, as a young boy "leading a cow through the wilderness." Fire in the Delaware County Court House in Delhi, New York destroyed most probate records and with it any early information concerning David. This much is known: David and his descendants, three generations in all, lived on Roses Brook, Town of Stamford, Delaware County, New York. On December 4, 1834 he witnessed a purchase of land by son, Erastus, Book H. p. 296, Mortgages. He is found in the Census of 1850 and subsequent ones until his death on February 9, 1876, age 93, as reported by the DELHI GAZETTE. His burial place is unknown.

David Lyon married in New York State a Mary Squire. She evidently died before 1850 because she is not listed in the 1850 Census or any other subsequent Census.

He went with his brothers and sisters from Ballston, N. Y. to Spafford, N. Y. for a time, presumably around 1820, but soon removed with his father to Edinburg, N. Y. Census records show him included in his father Samuel's family in 1820 and 1830, then as head of household in Edinburg 1840 through 1880, and as a farmer. Family records refer to John O. as living in Northville, N. Y., just across the county line in Fulton County; perhaps he moved there late in life. He died 15 Jul 1890 and was interred in Cold Brook Cemetery, where both wives were also buried. This cemetery was later flooded by the filling of the Sacandaga Reservoir, and all remains were reinterred in the Hudson River Regulating District (HRRD) Edinburg cemetery.

He left Edinburg between 1860 and 1865 (census records), apparently to go to Utica, N. Y. as a partner with his brother John and two Griffin brothers-in-law in a contracting and building business. He and John soon left, however, to work a small farm at Liverpool, N. Y. and do carpentry work also. Here he built his own house. At some point he worked for Joseph Griffin, his wife's father, building canal boats for the Erie Canal; this boatyard was in Forrestport, N. Y. Some time after 1874 he removed to Muscatine, Iowa for two years or so, then to Sheridan County, Kansas, where he and wife and two children lived for some two years in a sod house. He was in Woodbine, Iowa, where his brother Daniel had previously located, by 1883, when he purshased a town lot there. He established himself as a carpenter in Woodbine, living there until, late in life, he moved to Alma, Neb. to live with a daughter. He died there 3 Jan 1919. SAMUEL LYON, of Hartford, Conn., and Saratoga County, N. Y.

SAMUEL LYON was born in Rhode Island 23 Apr 1767. He married, date unknown, Eunice Treadwell born 19 Feb 1770 in Weston, Conn., daughter of David Treadwell (Benjamin^4, Edward^3, Samuel^2, Edward^1), bapt. 26 Jul 1732 and Mary Coggeshall (Benjamin^6, John^5, Joshua^4, John^3, John^2, John^1), born 3 May 1736 in Stratford, Fairfield County, Conn. The birth of his first son places him in Hartford, Conn. in 1791; the 1800 census places him in Halfmoon, the 1820 in Ballston, both Saratoga County, New York. In 1823 he moved with his family to Edinburg, Saratoga County, N. Y. to occupy a farm in "Palmers Purchase . . . in a patent granted to the sons and devisees of Philip Livingston deceased". He was still there in 1850, 83 years of age, living on a farm with a Sally Lyon, presumably a second wife, at which time he told the census-taker that he had been born in Rhode Island. In 1852 he sold part of his land to Daniel Lyon "of the Town of Otisco County of Onondaga, N. Y.", known to have been his son. Sally sold the rest of it in 1856, described as "land formerly owned by Samuel Lyon ... deceased". Records of the Abbott Cemetery, Edinburg, seem to indicate that Samuel died 4 Mar 1852, that Eunice had predeceased him 3 Jul 1835, and that Sally died 17 Apr 1855. Possibly the land sale was after Sally's death, but the deed seems to show her signature. This Samuel Lyon is still unplaced; the authors of the original LYON MEMORIAL, Vol. II, believed him to be a descendant of Richard^1 in the fifth generation; however, his birth in Rhode Island (not then known) makes it more probable that he was of the family of Richard's brother Henry of Newark, N. J. or of William Lyon of Roxbury, Mass., both of whom had descendants living in Rhode Island at the time of Samuel's birth (Richard did not, so far as is known). While a family tradition of Dutch ancestry was noted in Vol. II, there is no such tradition among present descendants and an extensive records search has disclosed no such evidence. (The above history has been developed from family records which were not available to the original Vol. II authors and from research.)

Children of Samuel and Eunice Treadwell Lyon:

* I. Levi C., b. 19 Feb 1790; m. (1) Anna Slocum (2) Mrs.--- Lord; d. 27 Sep 1869 at New Hudson, Michigan.

II. Sally, b. 16 Jul 1792; m. John Evans of Spafford, Onondaga County, N. Y. Resided in "Lot 22, Tully" (near Spafford Corners); there in 1830 with five children; moved "away".

* III. Polly, b. 21 Feb 1794; m. Uriah Roundy; d. prob. abt. 1850 in Iowa, prob. at Gallows Hill near Council Bluffs.

* IV. David, b. 22 Aug 1796; m. (1) Harriet Arnold (2) Sophimia Sprageer; d. after 1860.

* V. Daniel, b. 29 Dec 1798; m. (1) Dorcas Darrow (2) Christiana Robertson; d. 21 Feb 1893 at Otisco, N. Y.

VI. Betsey, b. 2 Apr 1801; m. Noah Hart of Detroit, Michigan, after living in Spafford for a time. Noah and Betsey Hart witnessed the wedding in Detroit of Cyrus Lyon of Spafford, son of David above, to Eliza J. Carr of Tully, N. Y., on 16 Mar 1864. In 1848, Noah was a trustee of the "First Methodist Episcopal Society of Detroit". Noah and Betsey are recorded in Detroit real estate transactions in 1837, 1839, 1840, and 1860.

Children of Samuel and Eunice Treadwell Lyon (con't):

VII. Samuel, b. 13 Aug 1805; lived in Spafford for a time, then removed to the Detroit area in Michigan, "the town of Lyon in that State being named after him" according to Collins, who apparently refers to Lyon Township, Oakland County, in which is now the town of South Lyon. The History of Oakland County, however, states that Lyon Township was named for the Hon. Lucius Lyon (see Lyon Pioneers in Michigan, LYON MEMORIAL Vol. II). There is no known record of a marriage or of children, but a wife, Lucinda C., who died 5 Nov 1846, is buried with him. He d. 11 Apr 1872, and is buried in New Hudson Cemetery, Lyon Township, Oakland County, Michigan.

* VIII. John, b. 25 Jul 1807; m. (1) Mehitable Perry (2) Tryfosa, widow of William (?) Horton; d. 15 Jul 1890.

IX. Huldah, b. 25 Apr 1810; living in father's household in 1830, according to the census of that year.

X. Lovina, b. 10 Sep 1813; the census of 1830 for Edinburgh shows one less member of Samuel's family than there should have been, with no female child under 20. Perhaps Lovina died young or married at a very early age.

LEVI C. LYON, b. 19 Feb 1790, in Hartford, Conn. according to his descendants family records; m. (1) Anna Slocum (Fitzgerald^7, Eleazer^6, John^5, Eliezer^4, Eliezer^3, Giles^2, Anthony^1), b. 1794 in Boston, Mass., d. 1851 in Detroit, Mich., and (2) Mrs. --- Lord, d. 1865. Both Levi C. and his first wife had moved from their respective birthplaces to Saratoga County by 1800 and were probably married there since their first child was born in the county in 1812. The Slocum family history says that the first child, Anson E., was born in Edinburgh and that the second, Elizabeth Ann, was born in Ballston; it seems more likely, however, that both were born in Ballston since there is no other mention of any of Samuel's family being in Edinburgh before 1823, when he moved there. Levi and his family removed about 1816 to Onondaga County, N. Y., first to Otisco and then to Spafford, neighboring small towns, where one additional child was born in each. But by 1825 they appear to have been back in Saratoga County, this time in Edinburgh. Three more children were born there, in 1825, 1826, and 1829. The New York census of 1830 places a Levi C. Lyon, with family consistent in age and sex, in Concord (Concord was originally part of Edinburgh, later became the Town of Day). In 1831, Levi and family removed to Detroit, Mich. In Aug 1836 Levi C. Lyon "of Wayne County" purchased 80 acres of land which he and wife Anna sold to Hiram Lyon "of Wayne County" (unplaced) in December of the same year. In 1837, Hiram Lyon "of Detroit" purchased a lot "between Chicago and Grand River Roads" from Levi C. and Anna. Levi purchased two more lots, in 1837 and 1838, and sold one in 1838. His son Anson was witness to one of the deeds in 1836. He is said to have later moved to New Hudson, where he d. 27 Sep 1869 and is buried in the New Hudson Cemetery, Lyon Township, Oakland County, Michigan. His brother Samuel lies in the same cemetery, but neither wife is with Levi.

Children of Levi C. and Anna Slocum Lyon:

1. Anson E., b. 24 Jun 1812 "in Edingburgh Township" per Slocum family history but more probably Ballston, N. Y.; moved with family to Otisco, N. Y., Spafford, N. Y., and Edinburgh, N. Y., then in 1831 to Detroit, Mich. where he m., in 1839, Miranda Sheldon, dau. of Frederick and Sarah --- Sheldon. Merchant. Children: (1) Edward, b. 25 Apr 1840 in Jackson, Mich.; d. 1886, Detroit, (2) George Washington, b. 18 Nov 1844 in Detroit; m. 1865, Mary Ann Deselia of Detroit who d. 25 Aug 1883; children: George Washington, Jr. b. 30 Aug 1866 and Harry Guy, b. 29 Dec 1881, (3) Adeline Eliza, b. 15 Jan 1846 in Detroit; m. in 1867, Capt. 2. Elizabeth Ann, b. 1815 in Ballston, N. Y.; d. 1834.

3. Sarah Matilda, b. 1817 in Otisco, N. Y.; m. 1839, Elias Headstrom, who d. 1855 in Detroit; nine children. Only one, Charles John, is recorded.

4. Salome, b. 1821 in Spafford, N. Y.; m. 1837, Jacob Condo in Detroit; d. 1849; four sons, three daughters.

5. Catharine, b. 1825 in Edinburgh, N. Y.; d. 1834.

6. Samuel, b. 1826 in Edinburgh, N. Y.; m. --- in Detroit; d. 1847 in Detroit; no children.

7. Emily Elizabeth, b. 1829 in Edinburgh, N. Y.

POLLY, b. 21 Feb 1794, probably either Hartford, Conn. or Saratoga County, N. Y.; m. Uriah Roundy, b. 10 Apr 1796, son of Uriah and Lucretia Needham Roundy, who later m. Rena Bristol in Iowa, and d. in Iowa in 1890. Removed, with her brothers and sisters, from Ballston, N. Y. to Spafford, N. Y. about 1816; married in Spafford 1817 or 1818, and most of her children born there. About 1833, Uriah and Polly joined the "Mormon Exodus", moving successively to Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, and Iowa. At Council Bluffs, Iowa, Uriah remained to become a founder of the Reorganized Church of LDS. He settled at a nearby place known as Gallows Hill. A brother, Shadrach, wen on to Utah to become a Bishop of the Church. Polly is believed to have died at Gallows Hill, and Uriah to have remarried there.

Children Of Polly Lyon Roundy and Uriah Roundy:

1. John, b. 6 Dec 1818; m. (1) Sarah Shearer (2) Frances J. Jones; was farmer, Moulton, Iowa; nine children.

2. Mary; m. Gilbert Miller; d. at 28 years.

DAVID T. LYON, b. 22 Aug 1796, probably either Hartford, Conn. or Saratoga County, N. Y.; m. (1) Harriet Arnold, dau. of Joseph and Lydia ---- Arnold, who was b. 1793 in Mass., d. 9 Jan 1862 (2) 14 May 1867 in Detroit, Mich., Sophimia Sprageer, b. 1801. Removed, with his brothers and sisters, from Ballston, N. Y. to Spafford, N. Y. about 1816. He was a shoemaker, said to have been the first in the area to set up a shop rather than traveling from one household to another. After the death of his first wife he moved to South Lyon, Mich. (a suburb of Detroit). It is not certain whether he died there or returned to New York, since the census of 1880 lists a David Lyon, age 80, as living in Onondaga Hills, N. Y.

HENRY LYON

of Newark, N. J.

Family history compiled by Sidney Elizabeth Lyon.

HENRY LYON, one of the Lyons of Glen Lyon in Perthshire, Scotland, came to the Colonies with his two brothers, Thomas and Richard Lyon, in 1648. These three Scotch soldiers in Cromwell's army were on guard before the Banqueting House at Whitehall, Jan. 31, 1648, and witnessed the execution of King Charles 1. Immediately after the regicide, they fled to America. Henry Lyon went to Milford, Conn., where he is first on record, Feb. 24, 1649, when he was admitted to Milford Church. He married in 1652, Elizabeth, daughter of William Bateman, of Fairfield, Conn., and was granted a home lot there. May 28, 1654, he was dismissed from Fairfield to Milford Church. In 1666 he came to Newark, as one of its founders, with the Milford Colonists.

At Newark he was the first Treasurer and first Keeper of the Ordinary. In 1673-4 he removed to Elizabethtown, where he was a large land owner and a merchant of extensive interests. Nov. 5, 1675, he was a Member of the General Assembly. August 11, 1681 he was appointed Justice of the Peace, in the Colonial period equivalent to Judge of the Supreme Court. February 4, 1861, he was Judge of the Small Causes; February 28, 1681, a Member of the Governor's Council; December, 1682, Commissioner; November 26, 1684, Representative in the Council of the Governor, etc. etc. Among his lands was 100 acres of upland, since known as Lyons Farms. He married a second wife, Mary ______, about 1689-90. Returned to Newark, 1696, and died there in 1703.

Children of Henry and Elizabeth (Bateman) Lyon:

*2. 1. Thomas; b. 1652-3. Fairfield, Conn. (X)

No record has been found of the descendants of Mary and Dorcas, who were minors in 1703.

2. 11.1 THOMAS^2 LYON (Henry^1) was born in Fairfield, Conn. about 1652-3. When he took the oath at Elizabethtown in 1673, he was twenty years of age. On Oct. 20, 1666, he signed the "fundamental agreement" with the men of the Branford Colony, and received home lot No. 23, in the land division of Newark. In 1688-9 he had a deed from Henry Lyon of Elizabethtown for "house lot where Thomas Lyon now lives, and upland." He married Elizabeth (Ward). His death occurred in the Fall of 1694, and he died intestate. On Nov. 21, 1694, an inventory was made of the estate of Thomas Lyon, of Essex County, deceased (personal estate, £ 32 3s. 9d.) and on Jan.29, 1694-5 Elizabeth Lyon, widow of Thomas, took out letters of administration. She died April 2, 1717. Her will was dated April 2, 1717 and probated March 31, 1729. It mentions children: Thomas, ISAAC, Penelope wife of Thomas Thompson, Elizabeth and Annas; home lot of five acres on the highway adjoining Zopher Beach; six acres of meadow between William Camp, Mathew Camfield, Joseph Johnson, George Day and Nathan Foster. Executors: John Cooper and daughters Elizabeth and Annas. Witnesses: Thomas, Warne, Thomas Gordon, Mary Warne, Jannet Gordon and Dan'l Grandin.

RICHARD LYON OF BRIGHTON, MICHIGAN

By Alyce Smith Kettering

Richard Lyon^6 (Richard^5, Moses^4, Benjamin^3, Benjamin, Esq.^{2}, Henry^1). Son of Richard and Sarah (Hendrick) Lyon, he was born about 21 September 1796 in New Jersey. He served in the War of 1812 with the New York Militia, enlisting in New York City in October 1814 and was discharged in December of the same year.

Richard married Martha B. Johnson, 25 April 1824 in New York City and resided at No. 10 Essex Street. Family tradition gives his occupation as a gold-beater. Martha was born 21 August 1806 in Maine, to Connecticut born parents, William and Rachel S. Johnson.

Richard Lyon dissatisfied with conditions in New York City and because of the cholera epidemic in 1832 decided to remove to Michigan Territory. Records show that he purchased government land in what is now Brighton township, Livingston county, Michigan for himself and some of his fellow gilders and artisans, in the years of 1834 and 1835.

Two years later the family left New York City going to Buffalo where they boarded a steamship for the three day and three night voyage to Detroit, Michigan. At Detroit Richard Lyon bought 2 farm wagons, 2 yoke of oxen, 3 cows and their calves and hired a man to help him clear the land. They arrived at their destination, a log cabin located in section 22 of upper Green Oak township, Livingston county, Michigan 19 June 1837.

After the settlers of the area had built themselves frame houses a school was built in section 22 on land given by Richard Lyon. It was known as the Lyons School and early religious services were held in it also. At the present time it is the Brighton Township Hall.

In the later years of his life Richard Lyon retired from the farm and resided in Brighton where he died 21 July 1876. His wife, Martha B. died 27 March 1895. They are buried in the Lyon lot, Saint Patrick Calvary Cemetery, Brighton, Michigan. His stone gives his age, "79 Yrs & 10 Ms". Richard and Martha B. Lyon had several children, but only the following are known:

7. (i) Martha^7, born about 1827 in New York, died about 1854 in Michigan, married Cyrenus Morgan about 1841. After her death, Cyrenus married again and had 4 children. Children of Martha and Cyrenus Morgan:
13. (i) Electa^8, born 1842 in Michigan, died 8 January 1917 at Brighton, Michigan. Buried in the Lyon lot, Saint Patrick Calvary Cemetery, Brighton, Michigan. After the death of her mother and the second marriage of her father, Electa made her home with the Lyon grandparents.
She never married.
14. (ii) Martha^8, born about 1845 in Michigan
15. (iii) Caroline^8, born about 1846, in Michigan
16. (iv) Elvira^8, born 1848 in Michigan, died 1926, married
Daniel O. Van Amburg
17. (v) Louis^8, born about 1849, died in S.D.
18. (vi) Cyrenus^8, born about 1852 in Michigan
8. (ii) Mary Jane^7, born about 1829 in New York, married (   ) Beach
9. (iii) Caroline^7, born about 1836 in New York
10. (iv) Richard Jackson^7, born 25 October 1837 in Brighton township,
Livingston county, Michigan, died 1 February 1917 at Brighton
Michigan. He is buried in the Lyon lot in the Saint Patrick

Calvary Cemetery, Brighton, Michigan. He never married. He taught school, mostly in the Brighton area and later had a business in the town for 40 years. He was an active participant in the Presbyterian church and community affairs during his life.

11. (v) William Conely ^{7}, born 7 July inBrighton township Livingston county, Michigan, died 3 March 1909 at Brighton, Michigan, married about 1870 to Abigail H. Buck, daughter of Jasper H. Buck. She was born August 1845 and died 20 September 1919 at Pontiac, Michigan. They are buried in the Lyon lot in Saint Patrick Calvary Cemetery, Brighton, Michigan. It is thought they had two children:

19. (i) Edith ^{8}, who married (___) Betchel

20. (ii) Judd ^{8}.

12. (vi) Elizabeth ^{7} (Richard ^{6}, Richard ^{5}, Moses ^{4}, Benjamin ^{3}, Benjamin, Esq. ^{2}, Henry ^{1}). She was the youngest child of Richard and Martha B. (Johnson) Lyon, born 10 August 1843 in Brighton township, Livingston county, Michigan. She married James Henry Smith upon his discharge from military service in the Civil War, 12 November 1967 at Brighton, Michigan, witnessed by her brothers, Richard Jackson and William Conely Lyon. James was the son of Isaac Howard Smith ^{3} (Isaac ^{2}, Kinner ^{1}) and Evalina Kneeland who had immigrated from the Lockport, New York area to Green Oak township, Livingston county, Michigan in 1852. James and Elizabeth resided near his parents in Green Oak township, operating a saw mill, grist mill and cider mill. Four sons and a daughter were born here. The young couple was active in their Presbyterian church and the community at Brighton.

By 1880 it was becoming apparent that opportunities for their sons would be limited. Word had reached James and Elizabeth of the vast, fertile prairies in Dakota Territory and the land that was available for homesteading. Perhaps it was the pioneering instinct inherited from their parents that helped them decide they would "go west".

In the spring of 1882 James went by train to Watertown, Dakota Territory, then the end of the railroad, and according to oral family history he traveled on foot some 70 miles across the virgin prairie to Tetonka township, Spink county where he staked his claim on the north west quarter of section 2 and built a house and barn. His claim was recorded 6 May 1882 at Watertown.

The next spring the eldest son, Bert now 14 years old, was sent to Northville, Dakota Territory in the immigrant car, to accompany the family's personal possessions, the thoroughbred Hambletonian team and a small supply of groceries and dry goods with which James planned to stock a small store. Elizabeth and the three younger boys went by train to Northville, then by team and wagon to the claim, 15 miles east. By 1 May 1883 the family was together in a new and strange land, with the exception of daughter, Dolly who died in 1880 and was buried in the Isaac Smith lot in Green Oak or Plains Cemetery, Livingston county, Michigan. Later a marker for Dolly was erected in the Smith lot in the Conde Cemetery, Conde, South Dakota.

The place where James and Elizabeth settled was called Rose and the postoffice by that name was moved into the Smith store in 1890. To the settlers of the area Rose was their community center. During the summers the Indians traveling between the reservations at Crow Creek and Sisseton would stop at the Smith store to buy sugar and salt. They were friendly and proudly showed their government pass. Traces of their trail on the virgin prairie where Rose used to be have just recently disappeared. In those early days the prairie was harsh and suppressing for the pioneers with devestating blizzards, like the one in 1888, floods from the creeks and rivers, hail, grasshoppers and drought. James and Elizabeth met these challenges and prospered. Time brought changes, Rose was bypassed when the railroad went through and the mail was sent to Conde, to go by rural route.

When the new town of Brentford was created by the railroad Rose became a part of that community. The land company, as a promotion, offered a lot in the town to the person guessing the number of beans in a jar. Elizabeth Smith, declared the winner, decreed the lot be used for the erection of a church. She had joined the Congregational Church when a small group held services in a schoolhouse near where the town was later built. The recording of the transfer of the lot was carefully concealed so that the lottery or Elizabeth Smith's name does not appear in the church or county records. Perhaps Elizabeth chose to have it this way.

Elizabeth Lyon Smith died 17 May 1909 at the home of her son, Bert in Conde, South Dakota and was buried in the Smith lot in the Conde Cemetery. The following tribute was taken from her obituary; "The patient way she endured the weary months of pain caused by cancer, showed forth to all her beautiful Christian character. Day by day she cited her blessings, thinking of others who suffered more than herself. Hers was to serve rather than be ministered unto. The Rev. T.P.Thomas of Brentford gave a very touching tribute to her life, taking as his text,"She hath done what she could'".

James also died in Conde following a stroke, 29 January 1923 and was buried beside Elizabeth. They had the following children:

21. (i) Bert Lyon ^{8}, born 6 January 1869, died 7 February 1945
m. 20 September 1892 Mary Justice
22. (ii) Howard Peter ^{8}, born 7 December 1874, died 6 February
1961, m.(1) 21 June 1905 Edna Bean
23. (iii) Sedgwick ^{8}, born 13 July 1876, died 29 August 1966
m. 14 October 1910 Ruth Emily Tunmore
24. (iv) Dolly^{8} b. 20 June 1879, died 20 March 1880
25. (v) Leroy ^{8}, born 4 May 1881, died 12 September 1917
m. 6 January 1915, Lillian Ondell
26. (vi) Paul Jones ^{8}, born 30 January 1884, died 13 March 1955,
m. 19 June 1912, Nell Hasson
27. (vii) Sherman Max ^{8}, born 25 June 1886, died 16 January 1953,
m. 6 January 1912, Blanche (Stanley) Ellis

21. Bert Lyon ^{8}, eldest son of James Henry and Elizabeth (Lyon) Smith was born 6 January 1869 near Brighton, Michigan, in Green Oak township. He was 14 years old when he came to Spink county, Dakota Territory. As a young man he was employed in the county offices of Spink county and banks in Redfield and Mellette. For a time after he was married he farmed before making banking his profession. He established the Conde Bank at Conde in 1899 and the First State Bank at Brentford in 1907. About 1928 he removed to Minneapolis, Minn. and to Ellendale, North Dakota in 1934 where he was working at the time of his death. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Presbyterian church. He married 20 September 1892 at Burdette, Hand county, South Dakota to Mary Justice. She was born 2 June 1866, Tomah, Monroe county, Wisconsin. Before her marriage she taught school and worked in the Spink county offices. She died 8 February 1948 while visiting in Tulsa, Oklahoma. They are buried in the Smith lot in the Conde Cemetery. Theyhad one child:

28. (i) Burt Justice ^{9}, born 5 March 1901 at Conde, South Dakota graduated from the Conde High School and was attending the University of Minnesota when he contacted influenza during the epidemic and died 30 November 1918. He is buried in the Smith lot in the Conde Cemetery with his parents.

22. Howard Peter Smith ^{8}, son of James Henry and Elizabeth (Lyon) Smith was born 7 December 1874 near Brighton, Michigan in Green Oak township. He was 9 years old when he came with his parents to the homestead claim in Spink county, Dakota Territory. After completing the 8th grade in the rural school he attended high school in the Redfield College at Redfield, Dakota Territory one winter. He wrote the teacher's examination and received a second grade certificate. He taught a country school for one term. He then went to work for the Jackson Hardware in Aberdeen, South Dakota, where he continued for 27 years, as a salesman, secretary and vice president. In 1929 he removed to Minneapolis, Minnesota where he became a partner in the Wells, Lamont, Smith Glove Company. About 10 years later he retired from the company. Two years after the family had removed to Minneapolis,Edna the wife and mother died,while on an outing to Bonanza Beach at Big Stone Lake where James Smith had owned some acreage, his refuge in his retirement years. It was then his brother Bert, and sister-in-law Mary, went to live with him and helped to make a home for daughter, Betty. This arrangement continued for 3 years. Howard never forgot his humble beginning and held extensive landed property in the area where he grew up. Howard married Edna Elizabeth Jane Bean 21 June 1905 at College Springs, Iowa. Edna was born 7 August 1879 at Clarinda, Iowa, the daughter of Erastus L. Bean. She taught in rural schools in Spink county before her marriage. She died 7 July 1931 at Bonanza Beach, Minnesota and is buried in Lakewood Cemetery, Minneapolis, Minnesota. Howard married second, 22 December 1944 at the home of his daughter, Betty, Wayzata, Minnesota to Mrs. Alice Randle. He died of cancer, 6 February 1961 at Rensselaer, Indiana and is buried in the Lakewood Cemetery beside Edna. Howard and Edna Smith had one child:

29. (i) Amelia Elizabeth (Betty) born 12 June 1918 at Aberdeen S.D., died 16 September 1974 Wayzata, Minn., m. 31 May 1941 Samuel Keller Pollock.

23. Sedgwick Smith ^{8}, son of James Henry and Elizabeth (Lyon) Smith was born 13 July 1876 near Brighton, Michigan but in Green Oak township, Livingston county. He came to Spink county, Dakota Territory, with his parents when he was 7 years old and experienced all the hardships as well as the good times the older pioneers did. He received his education through the 8th grade at the rural school 2 miles south of Rose. His first employment from home was with Nickolson, Dean and Gregg in Minneapolis, Minnesota. In 1905 he began to work for the Jackson Hardware in Aberdeen, South Dakota, as a salesman.

It was here that Sedgwick met his future wife, Ruth Tunmore, whom he married 4 October 1910 at Aberdeen, South Dakota. They continued to work at Jackson Hardware for a year, then moved to the farm Sedgwick had bought one and a half miles east of Rose but with a Conde address. In addition to farming Sedgwick operated a lumber yard and gas station on the farm. He became a prosperous farmer and land owner. Sedgwick died 29 August 1966 at Redfield, South Dakota and is buried in Riverside Cemetery, Aberdeen, South Dakota. Ruth Emily Tunmore was also from hardy pioneer parents, Thomas and Susan Emeline (Beighley) Tunmore, born 21 December 1878 at Northwood, Iowa. She came with her parents to the Northville area of Spink county, Dakota Territory in 1882. The trip was made by ox drawn covered wagon. They lived in a sod house on their claim, but the Tunmore family was forced to leave Dakota in 1890 due to drought and crop failure and return to Gordonsville, Minnesota. Two years later they returned to South Dakota, settling near Mellette. Ruth, when a young woman taught 2 terms in the country schools near Mellette, then attended Business College in Aberdeen, South Dakota. At the same time she was employed in the Jackson Hardware she was also a partner with her father in the Tunmore and Tunmore Coal Business, doing the secretarial work fortheir firm evenings. Sedgwick and Ruth lived on the farm 40 years before her death 26 August 1951 at Conde, South Dakota. She is buried in Riverside Cemetery, Aberdeen, South Dakota with Sedgwick. Children of Sedgwich and Ruth (Tunmore) Smith:

30. (i) Elizabeth Tunmore ^{9}, born 18 August 1912, Aberdeen, South Dakota, married 18 August 1939, Conde, South Dakota, Arvid Edmond Findenagel.
31. (ii) Lois Sedgwick ^{9}, born 2 September 1917, Conde South Dakota, married 14 September 1940, Evanston, Ill., to Everett Kingman Clark.

25. Leroy Smith ^{8}, son of James Henry and Elizabeth (Lyon) Smith was born 4 May 1881 near Brighton, Michigan, in GreenOak township. He wasn't quite 2 years old when he came to Dakota Territory with his parents. He attended the Cranefield School, the rural school for his district. As a young man he helped his parents in the post office and store and with the farming. For a time he operated a grain elevator at Wecota, South Dakota, then returned to the Rose area and bought a farm across the road from his brother, Sedgwick. Even though his life span was short he had become a prosperous farmer. He married 6 January 1915 at Conde, South Dakota to Lillian Charlotte Ondell. He died 12 September 1917 , rural Conde South Dakota and is buried in the Conde Cemetery at Conde, South Dakota. Lillian Charlotte Ondell was born 16 October 1887 at La Cross Wisconsin, the daughter of Martin and Hannah (Hanson) Ondell. She married second to Melvin H. Crabtree and had a daughter, Gloria Florence. Lillian died 30 January 1952, rural Brentford, South Dakota and is buried with Leroy in the Conde Cemetery. Leroy and Lillian (Ondell) Smith had no children.

26. Paul Jones Smith ^{8}, was one of two sons born to James Henry and Elizabeth (Lyon) Smith at Rose, Dakota Territory; 30 January 1884 being his birthdate. He too attended the Cranefield school and helped his father with the farming. In his early twenties he began to work for his brother, Bert in the Conde Bank and later had charge of the First State Bank at Brentford that Bert had established. After this bank was sold Paul removed his family to a farm a mile west of the old Rose site, but only two miles east of Brentford with Conde as the mailing address. Paul was a farmer the remainder of his life, and later owned his own farm, this being about two miles south of the old Rose post office and store. Paul was married 19 June 1912 at Elk Point, South Dakota to Nell Rosamond Hasson. She was born 9 June 1885 at Elk Point, Dakota Territory to Alonzo and Sarah (Cullens) Hasson. Before her marriage she had taught grade school in the school at Brentford. She died 5 July 1942 at Redfield, South Dakota. Paul died on the farm, 13 March 1955, Conde, South Dakota from a heart attack. Paul and Nell are buried in the Oakwood Cemetery, West Rondell township, Brown county, South Dakota. Four children were born to Paul and Nell (Hasson) Smith:

32. (i) Jean Esther^9, born 16 April 1913 Brentford, South Dakota, married 6 November 1938 at Portland, Oregon, Richard Taft.

33. (ii) Donald Paul^9, 29 September 1914, Brentford, South Dakota, died 20 December 1957 at Denver, Colorado. He was unmarried. Donald grew up in the Brentford community, graduating from the high school there. When he was about 9 years old he had surgery for double mastoiditis. His condition was compounded by infection which left him deprived of the use of his limbs for the remainder of his life. When a young man he worked as a mechanic and was considered one of the best. He was known for his cheerful, congenial personality. After the death of his father he went to Denver, to live with his sister, Margaret. It was at Denver, Colorado that he died 20 December, 1957. He is buried with his parents in Oakwood Cemetery, West Rondell township, Brown county, South Dakota.

34. (iii) Richard James ^{9}, born 31 January 1916, Brentford, South Dakota, died 22 November 1944, Conde, South Dakota, married 8 June 1938 , Aberdeen, South Dakota, to Doris Catherine Washnok.

27. Sherman Wax Smith ^{8}, youngest child of James Henry and Elizabeth (Lyon) Smith, was born 25 June 1886 on the homestead claim, at Rose, Dakota Territory. He lived his entire life within a mile of his birthplace content to follow the occupation of his father, a farmer. His education was limited. His schooling through the 6th grade was from the rural school near Rose. He was then needed to herd the large number of cattle and horses his father had acquired from discouraged and homesick friends and neighbors who were returning to their former homes and giving his father their stock as payment for their bill at the Smith Store. When he was older he helped farm his father's extensive land holdings. The old store, all that remained of the town of Rose, burned 24 November 1910. A house was then built across the road, to the north, where the Smith brothers, Roy, Paul and Sherman lived. Even though Paul worked in the bank in Brentford he returned home each night, for a time at least. In 1918 Sherman replaced the small house with a large, modern home. In the early 1920's He constructed roads in nearby townships with the large steam engine he owned and used to thresh grain each summer for his brothers and neighbors. Sherman came to own the homesteaded land, only to lose it during the great depression and drought of the 1930's and the closing of his brother's bank in Conde. He then bought an adjoining farm 3/4 of a mile east of the Rose site where he lived until his sudden death 16 January 1953, from a heart attack. Sherman married 6 January 1912 at Aberdeen, South Dakota to Blanche Grace (Stanley) Ellis. Blanche was the daughter of James Bond and Sarah Jane (Gray) Stanley, born 21 March 1884 in Brimfield township, near Elmwood, Illinois. She married 1st, 14 September 1902 at Elmwood, Illinois to Ansel Clyde Ellis and they made a home at Wichita, Kansas. Mr. Ellis died in 1909 but Blanche continued to live in Wichita, working as a stenographer until the spring of 1911 when she came to South Dakota, where her parents were living. They had removed from Illinois to Brentford when the town was just beginning in 1907 and built a hotel. After it burned in 1908 Mr. and Mrs. Stanley managed another hotel in the town until Mr. Stanley's health failed. Mrs. Stanley then began keeping house for the Smith brothers and Sherman and Blanche met. Blanche (Stanley) Smith died 6 June 1963 at Aberdeen South Dakota after being incapacitated nearly nine years from a crippling stroke. Sherman and Blanche Smith are buried in the Conde Cemetery, Conde, South Dakota.

Pg 5 Corrections of this item - From Mary
Smallman, to say her ancestor, John
Lyon, was a son of Matthew ~~wh~~
Henry Harvey Lyon descendants of Henry Lyon. She descends from his son Harvey. And because of this confusion in Henry Lyon, she worked [to straighten things out. She is also from a family who seemed not to make it into the history books, etc.
